FORMER GROVE MAN

Takes Enforced Sea Voyage

RELEASED AT PORT OF NEW YORK

Was Placed Aboard Ship Last April and Went Around the Horn

L. O. Roark, formerly manager of the Hotel Laughlin, Forest Grove, who disappeared last April turned up at New York, the other day, and told a story of being shanghaied at San Francisco. He says that he was strong armed in the Golden Gate city, April 7, in the evening, while passing through an alliey. A quilt was thrown over his head and a heavy blow was struck him on the back of the head. When he awakened the next morning he found himself complete line of Eastman Koda s in the hold of the vessel Callus. on deck. He had been relieved of his money and watch, and when he located the time he found he was five days out of

He was haled before the captain and there Roark learned that he was considered a stowaway. The second mate manifested a dislike to the young man which continued to the end of the voyage. After several days the captain began to believe Roark's story, and treated him in a more kindly manner.

Thirty-four days out from San Francisco, the Callus arrived at Balboa and began taking on a cargo of nitrate for Norway. Roark was abandoned to his own resources. For two days the young man wandered about the dock penniless, hungry and unable to speak the language of the country.

Roark was in dispair of ever returning to his own country when by chance he fell in with ing to C. N. His story is entirely credited by his friends in Portland and is published as authenic by New York newspapers.

Roark was for a time manager of the Laughlin Hotel at Forest Grove, and went to Portland after that hotel burned. In San Francisco he represented the Rev. A. D. Dahlstrom and Perkins Hotel of Portland, in wife, of St. Cloud, Minn., were addition to his other duties. His
