SCIAM S GRANGE FAIR

The date set for the Scholls Grange Fair is October 15th and 16th. The committee in charge are planning for a big fair, with several unique attractions added to those of previous fairs. There will be a stock show and all lovers of good stock are kindly requested to begin thinking about which animals and how many they wish to exhibit. There will be the usual fine display of fruits, vegetables, grains, grasses, canned goods and fancy ree-dlework.

Entries for exhibit are open to each and every one in the com-

Strindborg and Magic.

Georges Brundes, writing in Vanity
Fair about August Strindborg, declarethat the famous Swedish writer's belief is magic was deep received and cites the following conversation in proof.
Strindborg once said to Strandes:

"You have an enemy. A newspaper enemy. I want to do nonsething for you. Let me till your enemy."

"You're very kind. But I should prefer not."

"But no one would know about it."
"Be all criminals think. Besides don't you feel it would be rather un just to kill a man on account of an unkind newspaper article?"

"Well, let's not kill him. We'll simply blind him."

"In that case you could easily de-prive me of my eyesight, too, if you me tears my picture into pieces will I fall to the ground in bleeding bits?"

This remark seemed to put him out, and he did not answer me.

Where Pigs Climb Trees.

Presumably the walrus and the carpenter never did nottle the discussion as to whether pigs had wings, and there are persons who seriously think it was a foolish theme for an argu-

And yet is it any stranger than the undisputed fact that in Morocco pigs climb trees in search of nuts not only pigs, but goats too? The puszle is not in the pigs and the goats, however. They are of the common variety that we see in the back lots in our own communities. It is the tree that is strange. It is called the argan nut tree and grows near Agadir. Usual-ity it shoots out from a steep hillside. The trunk is broad and flat and almost borisontal, and so are the main branch es, forming ampie and solid footbold for any animal which may be tempted by the olive shaped nuts growing with in easy reach of the main branches. Recovered Manuscripts.

The Magna Charta manuscript is not the only one that was found by accident. The "Diary of John Evelyn" was found by William Upcott among the waste paper in the lumber room at Wotton, while the tutor of the Marquis de Empilie when playing touch quis de Bouville when playing tennis found that the drum of his racket was "A Philadelphia man," he said, "was hurrying out Powelton aveaue one afternoon when all of a sudden an organ grinder's little monkey dropped dead. The poor grinder's grief was pittiful. The Philadelphian, touched, gave him a half dollar and hastened away. An hour inter, returning through Market street, he saw the same organ grinder, and just as he passed the monkey again dropped dead, and the grinder's grief was even more pittiful than before. The philadelphian gave a loud hugh. The grinder, recognizing him, also laughed, but made no motion to return the half

Great Age of Halley's Comet.
While Halley's comet has been identified as a member of our system for over 2,000 years, certain characteristics of its orbit lead us to believe that It has been with us at least too or a hundred times as long as that. According to all accounts, it was a magnificent object at the time of the Norman conquest in 1006. Its head was equal to the full moon in sim, and its tall increased to a wonderful
