NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Washington County. Susie A. Long, Plaintiff, vs. Annie M. Rosebrook and A. J. Rosebrook, her husband, and Andrew G. Vaughan, Defendants.

By virtue of an execution, judgment, order, decree and order of sale issued out of the above entitled Court in the above entitled cause, to me directed and dated the 6th day of December, A. D. 1915, upon a judgment and decree rendered and entered in said Court on the 23rd day of November, 1915, in favor of Susie A. Long, plaintiff, and against Annie M. Rosebrook, and A. J. Rosebrook, her husband, and Andrew G. Vaughan, defendants for the sum of $80.10, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum from the 10th day of December, A. D. 1914, and the further sum of $40.00 attorney's fees, and the further sum of $3.00 costs and disbursements, and costs of and upon this writ, commanding me to make sale of the following described real property, to-wit: The south half of the South half of the Northwest quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty five in Township three North of Range five West, Williams Meridian, in Washington County, State of Oregon.

Now, therefore, by virtue of said execution, judgment order, decree and order of sale, and in compliance with the commands of said writ, I will on Monday, the 21st day of January 1916, at 10 A. M. at the South door of the County Court House in Hillsboro, Washington County, Oregon, sell at public auction (subject to redemption) to the highest bidder for cash in hand, all the right, title and interest which the within named defendants (or either of them) had on the 10th day of December, A. D. 1915, the date of the mortgage here a fore loaned, or since that date had in and to the above described real property or any part thereof, to satisfy said execution, judgment, order and decree, interest, costs and accruing costs.

Posthumous Influence. The relations between man and man cease not with life. The dead leave behind them their memory, their example and the effects of their actions. Their influence still abides with us; their names and character dwell in our thoughts and hearts, we live and commune with them in their writings; we enjoy the benefits of their labors; our institutions have been founded by them; we are surrounded by the works of the dead; our knowledge and our arts are the fruits of their toil; our minds have been formed by their instructions; we are most intimately connected with them by a thousand dependencies. Those whom we have loved in life are still objects of our deepest and holiest affections. Their power over us remains. - Andrews Norton.

How to Free the Place of Rats. "When I was a boy our farm was alive with rats," a contributor tells in Farm and Fireside. "We noticed the rats were eating the grain and drinking the water of a sitting hen in a corner of the barn. So when the hen hatched and was mowed we put strychnine in the water and the first night killed twenty-three rats and the second nineteen. "Besides this a good many more went away to die. The best way to get rid of rats is to make them accustomed to drink at one place and then poison the water."

A CURIOUS ANIMAL. The Sea Cow Gave Rise to the Legend of the Sirens. The dugong, or sea cow, is a peculiar animal. It resembles the familiar seal, but it has no hair on the body and is more nearly related to the porpoises and whales.

This animal is found on the shores of the Indian ocean, about fifteen degrees on each side of the equator, from East Africa to Australia, and also in the Red sea. It is a marine animal which never ascends the rivers, its food consisting chiefly of seaweed and the algae found in the water. Years ago it was reported to have been found in large herds of several hundred individuals and to have been so fearless as to allow itself to be touched with the hand of man. In recent years, however, it is met with only in twos and threes and has become very shy and wary. Its flesh has been regarded as a delicacy, and it is stated that the Malay kings claim as royal property all those taken within their domain. Its habit of raising its round head out of the water and its great affection for its young, which it carries under the fore fin, are thought to have given rise to the legend of the mermaid, in allusion to which the name siren was given to this order of mammals. It is recorded that it was with the skin of the dugong, or sea cow, that the Jews were directed to veil the tabernacle and not with "badger" skins, as translated in the authorized version of the Bible. - New York Post.

Pictorial Wash Lists. Pretty old inventions are our modern wash lists. The old German housewife had an odd way of keeping track of the garments she gave out to be washed. She had a picture of each article and wrote down the number of everything opposite to it with a piece of chalk, which was rubbed out when the article was returned, to be used again the next week. It was really a pictorial and perpetual wash list.

A merry Christmas—where, in all of the great nations of the world? In America, only. When Christian nations sleep on their guns on the anniversary of the great character which founded a great religion, it looks as though sanctification had gone to seed. Why should not the people of the United States be "merry" on this 1915 Christmas day. Now in the zenith of peace, let us be merry and thankful. We are to "prepare" ourselves so that some day, we too, can have some fathers and brothers in the trenches on Christmas.

EVANGELICAL. Sunday School at ten o'clock and in connection with this session the Christmas treat will be given to the Primary Department.
