SHERIFF'S OFFICE IS AFTER ARTHUR TURNER

C. W. Redmond Deputized to Make Arduous Trip to California

OVER MOUNTAIN TRAIL TO COAST

Goes in Via Grants Pass, Auto to Althouse and Then by Stage Coach

The sheriff's office, equipped with a warrant, authorized C. W. Redmond to go to Crescent City, Cal., Sunday, and bring back Arthur Turner, charged with taking equipment from the Helvetia sawmill. Redmond has one of the hard trips incident to official duties, and he went to Grants Pass by train, from there to Althouse by auto, and from there he goes into California by stage, over some of the nastiest mountain roads to be found in Oregon and Northern California. Crescent City is in the extreme Northwest part of California, right against the coast. It is the shipping point for redwood lumber, and it is said Redmond may go in by private team, or saddle horse, from Kirby or Althouse, but in any event he has an arduous trip.

Extradition papers were granted by the Governor of California the last of the week. Sheriff Reeves was unable to make the trip as he was compelled to be in court on a criminal case.

A Hillsboro LaFollette man Saturday received a wire from Wisconsin that Bob LaFollette had carried the Wisconsin delegation for the presidency. This was good news to him, as the first reports showed that he had lost the state. Senator LaFollette still has his own state, but that it will avail him little in the Chicago convention is admitted.

Hubert Bernards, of McMinnville, and son, Herman, Verboort, were in town Monday, on court business. Hubert wants to see the state road lined through Washington County, as against the Newberg route. There will be but one real thoroughfare on the West Side, and he would like to see it go the length of this county, on the Baseline-Beaverton road.
