

HUNDREDS FISHED COUNTY STREAMS SUNDAY

Some Reported Fair Catches, While Others Had Proverbial Luck

EAST DAIRY BEST FISHING GROUNDS

Trout as a Rule Larger Than in Former Years, Owing to Propagation

Hundreds fished the streams of the county Sunday, and the festive trout had a hard time eluding his pursuers. As many as a hundred autos came out from Portland, and they visited the upper Tualatin, East and West Dairy, the lower Tualatin and McKay Creek.

There were some good catches early in the morning, and late in the evening, but during the mid-day hours catches were small. The catches as a rule were fairly good sized, the big fellows apparently being more numerous than in the past. This is due to the fact that many fry have been deposited in streams during the past three years.

The water was at low stage Sunday, and getting lower every hour, with the result that the migration was mountainward. Up at Denny's, late in the evening, the big ones took the fly with gluttony, but the "bait" fishermen did not get very big catches.

The milk drain, south of town, furnished local sportsmen with some good catches the last of the week, but the locality has been worked overtime, and fishing is not at a premium there this week.

Some thief stole a horse and buggy from Paul Henschkel, of Mason Hill, above Helvetia, the middle of last week. The horse and vehicle were found in a Portland barn, the last of the week. The animal was easily located because of the brand, F. S. on left shoulder. A Yiddish junk dealer had bought the outfit, and had heard that it was stolen. He came back to the barn from where he had made the purchase of a man who said his name was Evans. The Yiddisher had given $50 for the rig, and when he learned it was stolen property he tried to head off payment at the bank. The thief had already cashed the check. The officers are watching for the fellow, and there is an idea that this is not his real name.

Carl Pfahl, J. N. Loudon and Fred Goetze, of beyond Bloomington, were county seat visitors Saturday.

Walter Mays, of Sherwood, was a city caller the last of the week, a guest of W. R. Montgomery.

T. W. Sain, of Gaston, was down to the city Friday, greeting county seat friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Meyers, of Centerville, were Argus callers the last of the week.

Walt Taylor was down to Linton last week, laying a boiler for a mill company.

Arnold VanDomelen and wife, of near Roy, were in town the last of the week.

F. H. Kearney, of the River Road, was a city caller the last of the week.

LYDA CASE HUNG UP ON DISAGREEMENT

Second Trial Result: In Hung Jury, Same as First Attempt

JURY WAS ABOUT EVENLY DIVIDED

Celebrated Case Ends After Jury is Out Sixteen or Seventeen Hours

The celebrated case of the State of Oregon versus W. H. Lyda came to an end for the present Saturday, at noon, when after nearly eighteen hours of deliberation Judge Bagley discharged twelve men who had the case under deliberation, and who were unable to agree. It is reported that there were seven for conviction and five for acquittal.

The case attracted widespread attention because of the prominence of the defendant, who for many years has been in the saw-mill and logging business. Mr. Lyda owns a farm North of Forest Grove, and his reputation for reliability was one of his chief assets.

The case was tried early in 1915, and the jury then disagreed. The case last week was one of the big legal battles of present court session, and Judge Campbell, of Oregon City, presided. E. B. Tongue, attorney for the State, made the only closing argument, Mr. Hare waiving. Attorney Hare handled the case in an able manner, and those who heard the case say that it was one of the best defenses put up in circuit court for many months.

Whether or not the case will again be tried will be a matter of future history. The charge was that Lyda was guilty of a statutory offense against a daughter, married, later, to a Mr. Plass. The jury:

John Frank, R. H. Brooks, G. W. Andrews, W. C. Johnson, D. M. Gillenwater, Wm. Morgenson, I. H. Maxwell, E. A. Eddy, N. C. Shipley, Frank Maitland, F. C. Toelle, Henry Scheuermann.

The defendant did not go on the stand, and no character witnesses were sworn. It was for this reason many witnesses on both sides did not testify. District Attorney Tongue says this fact escaped him from putting on a dozen witnesses.

Jim Ritchey is here from Forest Grove, visiting old-time Weston friends. Jim informs the Leader that he hasn't modified his attitude on the Umatilla County bonding issue, and is still "fermest" it.—Weston, Or., Leader. Mr. Ritchey still owns some Weston wheat lands, and he doesn't believe in putting an everlasting debt on it.

Robert Macauley, of Portland, was out the last of the week, a guest of Thos. Connell. Mr. Macauley is a son of the late Thos. Macauley, who judged the stock at Hillsboro's last big street fair, and who was a veteran of the Civil War. Macauley Sr. was at Shiloh with the father of the Argus reporter, and helped put that veteran on the ambulance after Mr. Long Sr. had been shot through the knee in the first day's battle.

Why be bothered with two pairs of glasses? Call at Washington Hotel, Saturday, April 22, to 4 o'clock, and have Dr. Lowe show you the new Toric invisible bifocals with which you can see all distances. No split or seam in the glass to catch dirt or strain the eyes. No cement to blur or come apart. He guarantees his glasses to give satisfaction whether they cost $2 or more. One charge covers entire cost of examination, frames, lenses. When you patronize him you receive the 3-fold service and skill of the optician, optometrist and oculist. Free demonstration. Scores of references in Washington county. Will be in Forest Grove, Friday. Remember the days, dates and time limit.

ACTIVITY INCREASING ALL ALONG COAST

Indications Point to a Most Prosperous Year in Oregon

PAY ROLL GREATEST IN HISTORY

Logging Trains Busy Running on Tillamook Line

All indications point to a prosperous year in Oregon, with the greatest lumber and timber payroll in the history of the State. Logging trains are more than occupied in taking the product through Hillsboro to Portland. All local sawmills are running full capacity. Outside activities in the State at large are:

Yoncola—Thiel Bros. building large warehouse—District to erect $15,000 school.

Seaside has selected site and adopted plans for $30,000 school.

Baker—Contract let for construction of Welch block.

Coquille—Ross & Curry starts manufacturing sand brick.

Baker—Twenty-stamp mill at Conner Creek mine started up.

Marshfield—Contract let to grade county road to Coquille for $63,000.

Portland—$40,000 will be expended improving Oaks park.

$50,000 paper package factory to be built.

Three new concrete buildings are being planned for Tillamook.

Myrtle Point—City council orders 24 blocks in business part paved.

Astoria—Methodist will build $25,000 church. McCormick interests have let contract to build 242 ft. ship.

Mill all along C. & E. Ry. in Linn Co. opening up.

Oyster industry talked of for Coos Bay.

S. P. Co. starts work on $100,000 expenditure for improvement of Eugene terminals.

Roseburg is plucky. She proposes to amend her charter, so as to make valid the voting of $300,000 bonds to help get a rail road to the timber regions.

State sells $720 worth of flax seed to Eugene.

EAST WITH REMAINS

W. C. Gifford, of the Hotel Washington, started for Delevan, Wisconsin, Saturday night, accompanying the remains of his mother, Mrs. Elvora E. Gifford, who died at the Gifford apartments, last Wednesday. Mrs. Gifford was aged 70 years. She leaves five children to mourn her loss—Fred Gifford, (a stepson) of Lake Geneva, Wis.; Daniel Gifford, of Brandt, Alberta, Canada; Mrs. J. R. Olden, of Heppner, Ore.; W. C., of Hillsboro, and Ralph, of Elk Horn, Wis.

The remains will be interred by the side of her husband in the Delevan cemetery.
