LONG & MCKINNEY

Oh, well, Villa may not be dead—but he is a dead rabbit so far as power in Mexico is concerned.

Wireless telegraph has not yet given us the names of any great jingo newspaper men as under enlistment in Mexico.

With all this war talk we may now expect the big power presses of the belligerent dailies to undergo armament.

The Banks candidate for the legislature doesn't like the way some farmers talk, and the "odor of the stables" seems to be an offensive idea. When this little "skeezicks" wants to say something real nasty, don't you know, he mentions "stables."

C. B. Moores, the old-line politician, who is always on the job when there is an office in sight, wants to beat Ben Olecott for the nomination for secretary of state. A vote for Ben will be a vote against the old machine politician.

The Roosevelt workers are busy encouraging sentiment for the Oyster Bay oracle, and it looks like it will be T. R. against the field at Chicago. Hughes sentiment is fairly strong in places, but if nominated it will be only to beat the hero of a thousand battles to be fought.

The big agencies are trying hard to force war against Germany, but it is to be hoped that there will not be fruition to their hopes. At the most there will doubtless be nothing more than a severance of diplomatic relations, and that is hardly to be expected.

For Representative

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination as representative from Washington County, at the primary election to be held May 19 if elected, I promise to work for an economical administration of public business and to support all legislation which will encourage and protect new industries and develop the natural resources of the state.

FRANCIS L. MICHELBOOK (Of McMinnville)

Republican Candidate for Joint Senator. For the 24th Senatorial District comprising Lincoln, Tillamook, Washington and Yamhill.

I was born and reared on an Oregon farm and after graduating from the State College, have been extensively engaged in farming; served Yamhill County as representative in the 28th legislative assembly.

If nominated and elected will continue to work for lower taxes, and strict economy. I favor laws for the people and rural credits; am opposed to the creation of new offices, commissions, raise of salaries or the misuse of clerical patronage for the legislative assembly, and favor limiting this clerical hire to a business basis.

Strongly opposed to any modification of any laws passed by the people as the people's power through the ballot should not be tampered with.

Francis L. Michelbook. (Paid Adv.)

A Unique Specimen.

"I once knew an eccentric man," stated old Festus Pester, "who when he had got the desired number on the telephone did not demand fiercely, 'Whiz ziss?' Instead he invariably said civilly, 'This is John J. Poppendick, wishing to speak to Mr. Buckover. His funeral was the largest ever held in the neighborhood where he had resided, and thereat strong men broke down and wept like children, being convinced that they would never again see his like.'—Judge.

Liberal Translations.

At a certain foreign university the students, who had been studying Shakespeare in their native tongue, were requested by an examiner to translate into English the opening lines of Hamlet's soliloquy, "To be or not to be."

The following was the result: The first Frenchman declaimed, "To was or not to am;" the second rendered it, "To were or is to not," while the third gave a still more liberal reading, "To should or not to will."—New York Globe.

His Explanation. "I can't understand why Adam and Eve had such a time just because they ate one little apple," said five-year-old Mabel.

"I'll bet it was green," said her brother.—New York Globe.

Different Girls. "I found that astronomer rather dull. He used to talk to me about the stars."

"I don't find him dull," averred the other girl ecstatically. "He says he talks to the stars about me."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Pretty Rapid. Jack—Yes, I had a little balance in the bank, but I became engaged two months ago, and now—Tom—Ah, love makes the world go round! Jack—Yes, but I didn't think it would go round so fast as to cause me to lose my balance.

Bullfighting.

In tradition the bullfight dates from the time before Hercules is said to have visited Spain and driven off the wonderful cattle of Geryon. In actual recorded history it antedates Caesar's campaign in Hispania, but the fight that is witnessed by the present day visitor in Madrid, Seville or Valencia is far more exciting and cruel than the contests between the noble Spaniard and the noble bull four centuries ago.

Forget-me-not. A gentleman whose beautiful grounds were often visited by the public had an old gardener who was in the habit of showing parties round the beds. At such times he would in a hurried, gabbling voice explain the names to the visitors.

When hearing the exit gate he would, however, suddenly pause and draw special attention to a pretty cluster of modest posies and then, in a significant tone of voice, exclaim: "These, ladies and gentlemen, are forget-me-nots."—Chicago News.

Spades Gets the Bid. "They had an interesting game of auction at the Jinks home the other evening."

"How was that?" "Why, Cholly Littlebrane was calling on Clara Jinks, and he wanted to make it one heart."

"But Clara stood out for two diamonds." "Of course." "And then Jinks got into the game with a handful of clubs."

"Including all the honors, I suppose." "Whereas Cholly passed through the window and made such a hole in the brocade they had to call it spades."—Reynolds Times-Dispatch.

Persian Shawls. The "shawl" of Kerama—whence our word "shawl"—is made of goats' hair. Like the carpets, the shawl patterns are learned by heart, and the work is even finer. Children also do this work.

The bluest product is a fine one patterned in rich color effect, made especially for the governor of the province, who wears it as a robe of honor on the Persian New Year's day.

Incredible. "I was talking with Professor Hoobis last night. You know he's just back from an exploring expedition to central Africa."

"Did he make any important discoveries?" "Well, he says he found a race of people so uneducated that they had never even heard of moving pictures."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Well Supplied. An inveterate wit and punster asked the captain of a craft loaded with boards how he managed to get dinner on the passage. "Why," replied the skipper, "we always cook aboard."

"Cook a board, do you?" rejoined the waz. "Then I see you have been well provided with provisions this trip, at all events."—London Tit-Bits.

Box Trees of Aalameer. Amlsener, Holland, is noted for its strawberries and the clipped box tree. This local industry, which has been brought to a perfection unknown elsewhere, has been carried on for at least 200 years, as the village records show.

The growers are most curious and interesting. In the rich peaty soil box trees grow in every size and shape.

First Sorrows. There is no despair so absolute as that which comes with the first moments of our first great sorrow, when we have not yet known what it is to have suffered and be healed, to have despaired and to have recovered hope.

A Mistake Somewhere. "Is it true, Miss Gertie," he said, "that there are just two things a woman will jump at—a conclusion and a nose?"

"No," she answered; "there is a third, Mr. Phillip."

After thinking the matter over a few moments he tremulously made her an offer, but she didn't jump at it. He was not the right man.

MELLOW-SWEET IS TASTE OF "SPEAR HEAD"

Most Richly-Flavored Chew That Was Ever Pressed Into Plugs

FAVORITE FOR A GENERATION Red-blooded men with real tobacco hunger find that they can satisfy it only by chewing, and the most wholesome and satisfying tobacco to chew is that made in plug form.

The limit of luxury in tobacco chewing is the rich, sweet, juicy flavor that trickles through your system when you chew Spear Head.

No other chewing tobacco is so mellow, so luscious and so satisfying. No other equals Spear Head for putting a keen edge on your appetite.

Spear Head is made of the world's best tobacco leaf—the choicest of red Kentucky Burley. This leaf is selected for its full, juicy richness with the most painstaking care, is stemmed by hand, is pressed into Spear Head plugs so slowly that not a drop of the rich, natural juice escapes.

Your first chew of Spear Head will open your eyes to the genuine enjoyment there is in chewing. Chew the rich and mellow tobacco that has been the favorite for a third of a century—that's Spear Head. In 10c cuts, wrapped in wax paper.
