

GEORGE R. BAGLEY

FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

Every republican citizen who is awake to merit in legal procedure should freely give his primary vote May 19 to Judge George R. Bagley, of the circuit bench. Judge Bagley is one of the ablest jurists in the state. His interpretation of the law is comprehensive and his years of large practice have so trained him that he has a splendid conception of jurisprudence. He has been a leader at the bar in Washington County for many years, and his successes have been many. As a judge he has exceeded the hopes of his closest admirers. He has made good in every way. The bar of the county is almost a unit for his success at the primaries, and as he has held down court expenses to the minimum, he is entitled to the support of the commonwealth. It is worthy of note that there are those fighting his re-election because he held with the Supreme Court of the State and the district court of the United States in declaring the Sunday law valid. He could do nothing else and the fact that he did not do otherwise is to his credit as a jurist. Any judge who permits policy to guide him, rather than law, would be unsafe on the bench. By so doing he would set law at naught, and violate his high oath of office. Judge Bagley does not do this. He follows the law—when constitutional, the last word of the state legislative function—and that is his sworn duty. Every man who believes in law should remember this when he votes in the primaries—and if he shall do this, then Judge Bagley will be nominated by an overwhelming majority.—Editorial

E. B. TONGUE

For District Attorney

The reputation of E. B. Tongue, as a prosecutor second to none in the State of Oregon, should give him the suffrage of the republican majority in Washington County at the primaries May 19. He is an able lawyer and appreciates to the fullest extent what is required of him in his official duties. His extensive experience in the courts, his researches covering a wide range of law, and his indomitable energy particularly fit him for the position.

His record as district attorney has no equal in the state, and his judgment is unquestioned. A vote for him is a vote of endorsement for able service. In him Washington County has a public official worthy of his hire, and through him the criminal matters of the county are in the best of hands. Even his bitterest enemy cannot gainsay his ability as a public prosecutor. He is well-poised, able, fearless, and a master in law. To nominate him is an endorsement which he has earned, and to which he is entitled.—Editorial
