To those who knew him the life and character of Thos. G. Todd, who died at Forest Grove, last Saturday, will prove a more lasting monument than brass or marble. His poise of mind, his love of justice, his fair dealing with all mankind, his worship of all that is good and true was so marked, and so much a part of his daily life, that encomium appears feeble. His career, his manhood, his fellowship, and all that goes to mark a human life, were such that his transit through his 80 years well and worthily might be called an inspiration to any young man who seeks the decent and well-earned opinion of his fellows in a naughty world. "He rests well."

"YOU cannot sin by two and two"

And settle one by one"

Thus is it writ and so shall be

Till the set of earth's last sun

FOR Sin is sweet, and vows are frail

As the Stars of a tortured night

That lingering look on the sullen dawn

Ere they sicken and slink from sight.

BLACK Sin has patted God on the head

That woman might call him brave

But the deep-bit brand on his crimsoned hand

Not the seven Seas shall lave.

AND when husked lives are ranged in rows

At the trump of the Judgment Day

They shall cry "The soul that he got from God

He has bartered for woman's clay"

AND the winds that blow between the worlds

And sound the deeps of space

Shall mock the tears of the fool who died

For a woman's lying face.
