

DAMAGE IS SLIGHT SAYS BUCHANAN

Hay Injured 10 Per Cent., Feeding Values; 30 Per Cent. Sales Value

GAIN IS MADE ON GREEN FEEDS

So We Shall Have Things on Balance Side of the Ledger, Anyway

"Washington County has no necessity of being in the dumps because of damage to hay in the field, for we are having things evened up finely by pasturage and green feed," states C. B. Buchanan, in the warehouse business. "Hay has been injured 10 per cent. in the feed values, and possibly 30 per cent. in the sales values, but as there is so much more hay than usual, and so much bigger yield, things are not at all bad. Things are more than balanced, perhaps, except in a few isolated cases, by the enormous advantage in the pasturage caused by the rains, by the green feed such as corn, and pasturage from cut-over hay fields, that the dairy-men have no need to feel the effects of the inopportune rains. Hay is going to be cheaper than usual, and there is promise of an immense oat crop—larger than ever. Spring sown wheat, as well as backward fall sown wheat, will be the heavier for the moisture, and Washington County—which has had more rain than any other part of the Willamette Valley for some reason or other—has no reason to be downhearted."

In several cases, where hay cut down and shocked has had two wettings, the damage will be somewhat greater than above, but Buchanan is taking the situation by and large. The milk flow has been exceptionally fine this year and it begins to look as though hay will not be fed as early as usual. In August last year hay was fed, but Mr. Buchanan thinks but little will go to the mangers owing to the immense amount of green forage, until in September. So things are being nicely equalized. As this is the premier dairy county in the state we appear to be all to the good even if old Jupiter Pluvius did give us an unusual wetting the past week.

Charles Howes, whose family lives near Tigard, on a farm, jumped off the Morrison Street bridge, Portland, into the Willamette, Wednesday night, and was drowned before the patrol could rescue him. He left a note for his wife stating that he could get no work.

Heavy rains fell last Friday night and harvesting and threshing are at a standstill. Vegetables and grass are doing fine but damage is predicted to grain unless the precipitation stops—(Editor's note 20 years later—The rains did not stop and there was considerable damage all over the Willamette Valley.)

N. Womer departed for Oakeville, Wash., on Grays Harbor, Saturday after a fortnight of business and visit here. He sold his 100 acre farm near Laurel to Gottleib Egger, J. C. Kuratli making the sale. Mr. Womer's sister, Mrs. Blakesly, was over to the city Friday, to bid her brother a farewell. Womer says this is his last trip over this way—but he will more than likely be back next season, just to see how the old home section is getting along.

R. C. GOSSMAN PLEADS GUILTY TO RUSTLING

Stole Four Horses and Was Indicted For Each Offense

ENRICHED TREASURY $2,500 IN CASH

Judge Bagley Imposes 2000 Days in Jail or $4,000 Fine, Saturday

R. C. Gossman, of North Plains, Saturday pleaded guilty to the theft of four horses and was fined $4,000 or 2,000 days in jail by Judge Bagley, of the Circuit Court. Gossman last month stole four horses and sold them in Portland. He rustled two fine animals from John Hanley, and one from Jacob Jacky and one from Henry Keenon, taking all of them from a pasture on the Thos. Otchins place, two miles East of North Plains. Gossman sold the horses to a Portland horseman and to a horse buyer for the government. The Hanley animals were a team of fine four-fours, and while he sold them for a small sum they were worth at least $500 of any man's money. All of the stolen horses were recovered and returned to their owners by Sheriff Reeves, Attorney H. T. Bagley, who defended Gossman, advised his client to plead guilty as there was no chance of his getting by with the rough work. Gossman, who is well-to-do, negotiated a loan on an $8,000 mortgage on Portland real estate and paid $2,500 into treasury and was paroled on the $1,500 and jail sentence provided he prove himself a law abiding citizen hereafter.

Gossman went home Saturday afternoon feeling as happy as a man on his honeymoon. He is well fixed in this world's goods and it is said that his $8,000 mortgage is as good as wheat in Chicago. Besides this personal property Gossman has considerable realty against which there is no debt. Why he turned thief is a mystery except that he possibly thought he could get by with his theft. For some time he tried to work the insanity dodge. In any event Gossman has enriched the county treasury $2,500 at an expense to the county of about $125.

If Gossman does not conduct himself properly towards his neighbors at old Glencoe, near North Plains, he will have to come in and serve out 750 jail days—which crowds two years pretty closely.

THE HILLSBORO NATIONAL

Bank Takes Progressive Steps In Regard to Publicity

A series of educational talks on banking and its relation to the financial welfare of business, household and individual, will begin shortly in this paper over the signature of The Hillsboro National Bank.

The object aimed at, said W. H. Wehrung, president of that institution, is to acquaint the public with the many facilities of the modern bank, and to demonstrate the uses of these. They expect also to bring out in detail the various services available. Banking knowledge in respect to receipts and disbursements should be known to every man and woman, and, it plays to important a part in the welfare of all, to be neglected even in the early training of every boy and girl. Aside from the common usage of banking service, these articles will treat of the advantages to be gained through a banking connection, as well as the principles and motives involved in the establishment and maintenance of a bank account.

The man or woman of large financial affairs understands, and will be found utilizing the services of their bank as an aid, as well as safeguard and convenience. But to the many, the value of a banking connection comes only through experience or dire necessity. And, it is to familiarize the people with these necessary features before that "eleventh hour" time, that this campaign is inaugurated.

Each article will carry a message on finance or business which will be found profitable as well as interesting to every man, woman and child.

KRAHMER—PFAHL

A very pretty wedding was celebrated July 26, 1916, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pfahl, of near Blooming, when their daughter, Elsie, was united in marriage to Fred Krahmer, of Blooming. The bride was charming in a gown of cream colored satin, shadow lace and net, and carried a large bouquet of Bride roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Pfahl, who wore delicate pink crepe de chine and carried pink sweet peas. The groomsmen was Albert Krahmer, a brother of the groom. The room in which the ceremony was performed was beautifully decorated with cedar boughs, pink and white roses and sweet peas. In one corner a beautiful arch was erected. Rev. Berthold performed the ceremony. A violin solo by Miss Anna Widerhold, of Portland, was the wedding march. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Ella Luck, of North Plains. A bounteous dinner was served after congratulations were tendered, and then all joined in a merry dance. The bride and groom left that evening for a short honeymoon at Corvallis, after which they will be at home to their friends in their new home at Blooming.

Both are well and favorably known in the Blooming and Cornelius communities, and have a host of friends who wish them a long and happy wedded life.
