SON OF COUNTY SIRE WINS AUSTRIAN DERBY

Vienna Sees I span, Son of "The Zoo" Win Race

WINNER GRANDSON OF MARE BEULAH

Both Animals Formerly Owned by J. E. Reeves

At the recent Trotting Derby at Vienna, Austria, thousands saw Ispan, the four year old, black with white points, win hands down over a large field of contestants, averaging 2:26 over a course that lacked but a few meters of being two miles.

This is of special interest to Washington County horsemen because Ispan is son of "The Zoo," a stallion bred and foaled by J. E. Reeves. Ispan won the Derby last year. His grandmother was Beulah, owned by Mr. Reeves, and the youngster is a second cousin of the Reeves colt, two year old, now driven for Mr. Reeves by Clem Shaner, of Jolly Plains.

"The Zoo" was sold by Mr. Reeves years ago, and he was again sold in New York for $5,000, to a Russian Grand Duke, who took the 2:09 trotter to Vienna and St. Petersburg for the stud. His sons and daughters have been consistent winners on the Russian and Austrian grand circuits, beating the local horses and the gets of other American stallions imported into that part of the world.

The colt Ispan is a grandson of Zombro, 2:11, an Oregon horse. The derby won by Ispan spelled thousands of dollars for the owner.

Speaking of the race, the Austrian dispatch says:

"There were seven starters. Ispan seemed to get a bad start although he had the pole. In a few hundred yards he gained the lead and soon had a gap of 20 yards between him and his contestants. He seemed a sure winner but about 500 yards from home Ira Ryerson, the American reinsman came like a shot with New York, a son of San Francisco, 2:07 3/4, and it looked as if there would be a struggle. Baron Von Watcher, who drove Ispan, had but to touch the colt with the whip, and he moved swiftly away from New York, winning by plenty of daylight."

8TH GRADE EXAMS.

County School Superintendent Barnes will hold exams, Sept. 1, in his office, for pupils that were passed conditional in the June examinations. The forenoon—arithmetic, language, agriculture and spelling. Afternoon—Physiology, history, geography, civil government.

This examination is not compulsory, and the Superintendent is simply doing this as a favor to those who are eligible.

The home of C. F. Bunsen caught fire Monday morning. The contents were nearly all saved. The building was damaged at least $200. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is supposed to be a defective flue. The fire was first discovered by one of the little daughters, and nothing was saved from the upper story, the smoke being too dense to permit one entering. The little infant of Mr. and Mrs. Bunsen was taken down stairs early in the morning, something unusual, as it sleeps late. When the mother awakened in the morning the babe was awake and she carried it with her. It was but a few minutes later when the fire was discovered, and the upper story was then filled with smoke. Had the child remained in bed it would have been next to impossible to have saved it.

Seen in two minutes on Second Street: Rancher strip his gears in a big Overland machine by letting up his clutch too quickly. First ranch dog on the streets without a tether, in a month's time. Mule kick a man who was untying his horse from the chain. Young rooster from over in the John Wall neighborhood, fighting a cat in the court house square. The cat was counted out. The traditional white horse driven by a lady with hair the color of Julius Caesar's.

Rumor reached here Sunday that a Portland man had been killed near Beaverton, as a result of a fall from a motorcycle. It afterwards was learned that the driver was only stunned, and that within a few minutes he was touching up the high places for a hike up Gales Creek, where the swimming is good.

J. W. Eldredge claims to have grown some fine volunteer potatoes. In fact he thinks he holds the record for number of potatoes. He says he dug 190 of the tubers from one hill and hangs this up as a record. Can you beat it.—Sherwood News.

The Misses Clare and Letitia Imbrie and Mary Freeman, and Albert Hartrampf motored over to Rockaway the last of the week. Miss Letitia and her father, J. A. Imbrie, returned home Sunday evening.

Notice to Hop Pickers—Pickers desiring to pick in my yard, 3 miles northwest of Hillsboro, will please register at once. Call up by telephone Farmer 514, or write Carl Meier, Hillsboro, Ore., Route 3. 20-3

R. L. Robinson, of Farmington, says he would like to get out and kill one more venison before his eyes get too far-sighted. The last time he was out was before the law placed the limit, and he brought down five bucks in the Green Mountain section.

Dwight Pomeroy, of Leisyville, was a city caller Monday. Dwight is still bearing the title of "grandpa" with much dignity.

Art Gilmore and family went to the Salmonberry for a camping trip last week. They expect to remain until the first of the month. All of the water and light force get each a fifteen days vacation each year, under pay, and A. C. concluded to put in his time in the wilds.

Hops are getting along finely these days, although a little warm weather has been sadly needed. The crop is excellent in almost all the yards, and picking will probably commence about the first of the month. Nearly all yards are offering $1 per hundred. Many growers have sprayed for lice, the cool weather having been favorable for multiplication of the pest.

Hillsboro, Ore., used to hold one of the best rural fairs in the entire Northwest and, although the people who had all the work to do and got little thanks for it got tired and quit, the feeling has always been that there should be a fair held every year. After a long rest, Hillsboro is going to hold a fair this fall and next year will make an effort to hold the best county fair in Oregon. A general committee composed of W. W. Boscow, Samuel Weil, and G. A. Patterson has been appointed to organize the fair and get everyone to work to make it a success.—Rural Spirit.

Chas. Hickethier, of Cedar Mill, was in the city Saturday, registering as a legal voter. Mr. Hickethier's father, Daniel Hickethier, became a citizen at Utica, New York, in 1855, and father and son then moved to Iowa, where they both enlisted in the Civil War. Since last February Mr. Hickethier has tried to get proof of his father's citizenship, and application to four places in Iowa found nothing decisive. As a last resort, even after Mr. Hickethier had made a visit back to Iowa this Summer, and failed in his search, a letter was sent to the District Clerk at Utica, Oneida Co., New York, and here was found the naturalization papers. Chas. has at last found out that he was a full-blooded citizen since he was of age, and has the papers to show for it.

Mrs. R. Easter returned the first of the week from an outing at Rockaway.

MRS. CON CAPLES IS SAFE AND AT HOME

Had Been Suffering From Melancholia and Went to St. Johns

CAME HOME LAST SUNDAY NIGHT

Wife of Prominent Forest Grove Man Causes Much Anxiety

Mrs. Cora Caples, wife of Con Caples, disappeared from home last Friday afternoon and for two days there was much anxiety over her disappearance. She had been suffering from melancholia for several weeks, due to illness, and it was at first thought that she had wandered away from her Forest Grove home and was lost along Gales Creek.

A search party was instituted and the creek was searched all day Sunday. Sunday evening Mrs. Caples was found at St. Johns, by a neighbor who was visiting friends in the Portland suburb. She was brought back home the same evening and restored to the family. Mrs. Caples is a sister of Surveyor Geo. McGee, and of Mrs. Jas. Shannon, of this city.

Before leaving the Caples home Mrs. Caples had donned some old clothing and divested herself of two rings she had always worn. Her silence and the fact that she had not been well caused the family to fear that she had wandered away while suffering from a temporary aberration.

Sheriff Reeves advised that he thought she might have been in Portland and advocated a search there.
