

SCHOLLS FAIR TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

Cow Milking Contest a Feature of the Session

GOOD PROGRAM HAS BEEN ARRANGED

Chicken Dinner to be Served Both Days of the Fair

Only one more week until the annual fair at Scholls will be on in full swing. All persons having exhibits are requested to bring same to the fair building on Thursday, if it is possible, to do away with the ever strenuous rush on Friday morning. Livestock exhibitors are requested to have their stock on the grounds as early Friday morning as they can, with the exception of the cows which are to be entered in the milch cow contest. These cows must be at the barns on Thursday evening for their first milking. This will make it possible to announce the winner of the blue ribbon before the close of the fair on Saturday evening. Further information will be given by Leslie Moore, Laurel, R. 2. J. M. Dickson, commissioner of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, has been secured to judge the Jerseys, and will also give an address which will be of great interest to all stockmen.

Speakers have been secured from Portland, U. of O., A. C., and local talent will help entertain visitors. A. J. Churchill, State Supt. of Instruction, will give an address on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Alice Dolman, who comes to judge the home economics exhibits, will give a lecture to all who are interested in home making.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The reception tendered the new students and Freshmen, Friday evening, in the High School Assembly, was without doubt the best ever held. The evening was enjoyed by all who attended. The members of the school board and their families were there and helped make the evening a merry one. After a general getting acquainted campaign was held, a splendid musical program was given. The Misses Kitty Mae and Miriam Stockton rendered an excellent piano duet. Miss Georgia Baldwin made the bit of the evening, with several vocal solos. Elmer Batchelder followed with a violin solo, which was enthusiastically applauded. Prof. Olson sang, and more than lived up to his reputation as a vocalist. Prof. Ingram also favored the audience with an excellent vocal solo. The H. S. orchestra delivered a selection, after which they played a grand march, which was led by Prof. Patton and Miss Thomas. Games followed in which the members of the school board joined, and forgot for a time that they were no longer school children. Refreshments followed after the games, and the evening was closed by singing "America."

The Jolly Conrades will hold their first party this evening, at the High School. This Club is composed of out of town students and has a membership of 92, more than half of the high school enrollment.

A football rally was held last Monday evening, after school. Mr. Patton and Mr. Heater, of the faculty, and Harry Schoen, manager, gave short talks, which seemed to create more interest in football than was ever shown before. The turn-out has been good, and prospects are bright for a winning team. Freshmen form a good percentage of the turn-out, and they have some very good prospects among their members. A short practice game was played Tuesday, after school, against the grammar school eleven, and the high school made a very creditable showing. All loyal students should turn out and help boost for their school.

The outbuildings of Carl Meier, Leisyville, caught fire, Monday morning about 10:30, and before the flames could be extinguished several hundred dollars worth of property had burned. A vegetable house, some other small buildings, etc., were consumed, and with them some hay and grain. His main barn was saved after a hard fight by his neighbors, assisted by help from town. C. E. Wells, of the Telephone Co., went out with an extinguisher, which helped set back the inroads. The saved barn contained about 40 tons of good hay, and had this gone it would have meant a considerable loss—probably $800 or $900, barn and all. A lot of wheat, piled in the granary was badly scorched on the outside, but over $100 worth will be saved. A piece of dynamite exploded during the progress of the blaze and so great was the concussion several men were almost thrown prostrate. The wonder was that some one was not killed. There was no insurance and the loss is a severe one to Mr. Meier.

J. H. Ellerson, of near Beaverton, lost his barn, a lot of farm implements, hay, grain, and a team of horses, last Monday afternoon, about four o'clock, fire catching from a nearby slashing. Mr. Ellerson had put his team in the barn a short time before the fire caught, and had gone out to fight the flames, which were coming nearer every minute. There was a gale blowing, and the barn caught in a twinkling, and the flames spread so rapidly that fire fighting was of no avail. The loss is a severe one on Mr. Ellerson. Whether or not there was any insurance was not learned. The farm of Mr. Ellerson is a mile or so beyond the Perkins place, on the Beaverton-Hazeldale road.
