

THE HILLSBORO ARGUS

VOL. XXIV

HILLSBORO, OREGON, MARCH 29, 1917

NO. 2

ATTORNEY GENERAL SAYS LIQUOR CAN BE SHIPPED

Provided it Leaves the State for a State That is Wet

IF PROPERLY OWNED PRIOR TO 1916

If Statement is Correct Provides for Sales of Wine That is Old

Attorney General Brown has issued an opinion saying that any person who legally manufactured wine prior to Jan. 1, 1916, can ship the same out of the state provided it does not go into dry territory. If this opinion holds good then those wine makers who manufactured wine prior to Jan. 1, 1916, can ship their product out to California and be within the law. This would be good news to several winemakers in Washington County, one of whom is Fred Stetler, the veteran wine maker of above Mountaineer.

The dispatch carrying the Attorney General's opinion from Salem says:

"Intoxicating liquor may be shipped out of Oregon under the bone-dry law without rendering either shipper or carrier liable to punishment, providing the liquor was legally manufactured and owned before Jan. 1, 1916. Liquor may be shipped only to wet states and for lawful purposes under the new ruling. The attorney general held that the people by enacting a bone dry law built a wall around Oregon to exclude importation of intoxicating liquor, and not to keep liquor in Oregon from being shipped out."

WILL HELD VOID

Judge Reasoner handed down a decision in probate last week declaring the will of Joseph Miller void. The reasons were that the instrument was too uncertain to make a probable disposition and that its ambiguity itself was such as to render it invalid. The estate, which amounts to about $4000, will go to the widow and children and will now go to probate. The heirs are Mrs. Miller, widow; children, Dora Fisher, Emil, Jacob and Gustaf Miller, Katie Hart and Lena Miller. The home of the Millers is above North Plains.

POTATO EELWORM BULLETIN

It's ready now, the potato eelworm bulletin, and you may get your copy at once by sending to the O. A. C. Extension Service, Corvallis, for it. Ask for Potato Eelworm Bulletin No. 198. It will show you how to identify eelworm infested potatoes and also the necessity for preventing the spread of the eelworm pest. This pest far outranks either the tuber moth or the Colorado potato beetle, and when once established in the soil is pretty nearly there for keeps. Growers are urged to examine their potatoes closely for this pest and to discard all potatoes that show any indications of infestation. The bulletin tells how to detect the eelworms when present, and every Washington County potato grower can get one.

Chas. Hieckthier, of Cedar Mill, was in town Saturday.

Four-foot fir wood for sale. Tel. Farm 54.

KNIGHTS ENTERTAIN

Forest Grove Knights of Pythias Saturday night were hosts to 250 Pythians from this section of the state, Portland and Vancouver. Ivanhoe Lodge, of Portland, sent out its crack team to confer the Knight rank on 21 candidates. Vancouver's Uniform Rank, 25 strong, came and 50 Dokies in uniform. Hillsboro's company, F. J. Sewell in charge, were also in the parade.

The boys were through with the work about 12:30 and were seated to a delightful banquet prepared by the ladies. E. D. Curtis, well known here in years gone by, was present. Gus Mosier, president of the state senate at the last session, was in attendance. J. W. Hughes, C. D. Staley and Jake Buxton were given their quarter century jewel, Vice Grand Chancellor Crouch making the presentation. One of the pretty incidents of the evening was the perfect drill on the streets by the D. O. O. K. and the Vancouver Uniform Rank.
