P. electric lines, at Reedville; good school; church; stores, and post office. Easy terms. One-third down, balance on long time. Price reasonable. Commissioner Matteson, of Forest Grove, states that notwithstanding the lateness of sowing a large percentage of the crops are looking fine

Sheriff Applegate has been more than busy the past month what with his official duties and the taking care of the War Census bureau for Washington County. The requirements of the Federal government have been onerous, and he has been compelled to make himself conversant with every move. Each and every bulletin had to be carefully read and digested before he could act, and he carried his instructions out to the letter. To get all the stationery and instructions out to the registrars of the various precincts has been a regular "he-job" and this all came at a time when the sheriff had to get out the elect in supplies, as well. Now he will have a little breathing spell.

For Sale: Roan, saddle and driving pony, 9 to 10 years; gentle and not afraid of autos. Woman can drive. Will do light garden or field work.—Wm. Graf, Portland, Ore., Route 2, at German Baptist Parsonage, Bethany. 14

B. Leis, the Beaverton orchardist, was in town Saturday. He says that his prunes have not done well this year, owing to the cold, raw weather at the time the bloom should have been pollinating. In his district the cherries have also suffered from the same reason. Mr. Leis is one orchardist in the county who gives his trees the best of care, and who always puts out a fine product.

Wanted—Hogs of all kinds, sheep, beef, poultry of all kinds.—C. K. Rogers, Beaverton, Rt. 4, Box 20. Phone Beaverton 53, line 3. Will call at any place designated. 37-1f

D. W. Rath, who is running a paper over at Orting, Wash., arrived here Saturday, on a month's vacation. He goes from here to Goldendale to visit his son, Irving, and then may take a run into Montana to visit his younger son, Gerald, who is working for the Chicago & Milwaukee R. R. D. W. says that Hillsboro still looks good to him.

Pasturage—Seventy acres clover, timothy and orchard grass. Excellent condition. Not previously pastured this season. Plenty of shade and water. Prices right.—W. B. Congdon, Route 4, Beaverton, Ore. 10-2

Albert Friday, of Banks, is now up at Craik, Alberta, Canada, where he has bought a large tract of grain land. He tells home people that he likes that country, and that as far as the people are concerned they are a good deal like those in the old U. S. A.

Hub Simpson was over from South Tualatin, Saturday, feeling a little to the bad yet over too strenuous a ball game a couple of weeks ago.

Chas. Lazott, of Buxton, was down to the city Friday, getting some auto supplies. He says that he had a fine time down in California last winter—the land where autos can run the year 'round.

To the men and boys enlisting in military or naval service, will say that I am able to write Life Insurance incontestable from date of issue. Drop me a card and I will call and explain our policy.—O. G. Bretz, Hillsboro, Ore. 6tf z

Dan Ennis, of Centerville, was a city caller the last of the week. Dan has been reading the Argus since he was old enough to read.

J. R. McNew, of above Buxton, was in town Saturday, on business at the court house.

INJURED FARM HAND'S CASE IS APPEALED

Case From Tillamook Co., Judge Bagley Sitting, in Higher Court

OF VAST INTEREST TO FARMERS

Man Loses Hand and Court Says Case is One For Industrial Commission

A case of vast importance to farmers comes from Tillamook County, and is of interest here because Tinnerstet, on whose farm a laborer lost a hand, is known here, his daughter having worked here years ago. The dispatch concerning the case is from Salem, and reads as follows: "Whether those employed in general farm work automatically come under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law in this state is the important question that will be decided in the case of Wesley Roney against the State Industrial Accident Commission, appealed from Tillamook County to the Supreme Court.

Attorney-General Brown has just completed the appellant's brief in the case, which will be filed with the court tomorrow.

In the lower, Judge George R. Bagley, upon a hearing on writ of review, decided that general farm work was automatically subject to the act and that the plaintiff in the case was entitled to compensation thereunder.

The plaintiff was employed by D. R. Tinnerstet, as a farmhand. While running an ensilage cutter on a neighbor's farm, his hand was cut off.

The employer, Tinnerstet, had not made application to come under the workmen's compensation act, so the Industrial Accident Commission denied Roney's claim for compensation.

The case is of added interest because the Supreme Court not long since held that farm hands engaged in hazardous occupations on farms come within the employers' liability act. In event it is held also that they come under the workmen's compensation act, only in an optional sense, it will probably result in a flood of applications for workmen's compensation.

On the other hand, if it is held that they automatically come under the provisions of the act, it will present a difficult problem for the Commission to handle."

Judge Bagley stated that his decision does not embrace that which the article from Salem would indicate—he states that he merely decided that where there was power machinery, like an ensilage cutter, it automatically would come under the compensation act.

NOTICE

Hillsboro, Ore., May 31, 1917. To Our Patrons—

Shipment of our new switch-board has been delayed now nearly two months owing to rush of Government orders for telephone and electrical equipment at the factory.

We have reason to believe that shipment will be made in the next two weeks, however.

Nearly all the new telephones, as well as the power electric charging equipment, storage batteries, etc., are on hand so that no unnecessary delay will occur when the new board arrives.

The change will involve considerable work, however, and take a little time, as we will have to keep both boards working while the "cut over" is in progress.

During that time, and until operators get familiar with the new equipment, we trust you will make allowance for shortcomings in service, should any occur. We hope to make it up when the new equipment is in good working order.

Permit us to ask again, as a favor, and as an aid to us in improving the service, that when your telephone gets out of fix, or service fails for any reason, that you let us know promptly.

Remember, a general complaint a week or a month after the trouble occurred don't help us to locate the cause—which must be done or we can't prevent its recurrence. Please report it to the manager or wire chief right at the time.

Yours Truly,
Hillsboro Telephone Co.
By Chas. E. Wells, Mgr.

He says it gets big result from his herd of ten head, all of which were tested for tuberculosis the other day and found in the clear. Delsman says there is no better feed for dairy stock and he looks for a big growth in acreage here from year to year.

SUNDAY BIG DAY FOR KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Class of Fourteen Initiated at Moose Hall in the Afternoon

TWO HUNDRED AT EVENING BANQUET

Catholic Order Has Big Time in the County Seat—Welcomed by Mayor

The Knights of Columbus, a Catholic society, enjoyed the day of the year in the city Sunday, and attending the functions were prominent Catholics from all over the state. A class of fourteen candidates were initiated at Moose Hall, in the afternoon, State Deputy F. J. Loneragan in charge of the initiatory work. At 7:30 over two hundred people were seated to a banquet in St. Matthews School Auditorium.

After an invocation by Father O'Neill, the address of welcome was delivered by Mayor John M. Wall, the city's executive receiving an ovation at the close of his remarks. Henry Davie, deputy city attorney, of Portland, discoursed on the subject, "Public Duty." Oswald Olsen sang, and was encored to the echo, returning two times before he was allowed to take his seat.

F. Loneragan, the state deputy, then talked on Knighthood, and after eulogizing the order, fell into a discourse on patriotism which brought the audience to its feet. Father O'Neill made a hit with his toast, "Woman," and Dr. R. M. Erwin, as President of the Commercial Club, talked on co-operation. He was at his best, and kept his audience in splendid humor.

A piano solo by Vincent Engeldinger closed the exercises. Chas. McFadden presided as toastmaster.

The banquet was prepared by the ladies of St. Matthews' Parish, and the collation was worthy of a Delmonico. The menu: Washington Co. Fried Chicken, cold ham, cold veal, potato salad, lettuce with dressing, olives, pickles, fruit, fancy cake, coffee, McFadden's best cigars.

The newly initiated K. of C. were: John Wunderlich, John Reilly, Lester Sell, Joseph Fessler, Hubert Pranger, Fred Doeber, Anthony Gnos, Victor Crop, Joseph A. Moore, Frank Murphy, Patrick Murphy, Joseph Bernards, Robert Burrs, Edward VanDerven.
