Salem—State Highway board opened half a million dollars of paving bids.

The one industry responsible for a large share of the prosperity of the West is shipbuilding. The war has shown the impossibility of operating an American merchant marine under present laws, and it is to be hoped that the drawbacks will be eliminated so that this industry may live after the war conditions cease.

Port of Coos Bay to erect 80-foot drawbridge at Coos City.

Mosier sawmill to reopen with $2000 a month payroll at Portland and vicinity.

Portland—Old O. W. R. & N. Co. boatyards to build 20 ships.

Wheeler cannery overhauled and will operate on salmon.

Glendale gets a $5000 shingle mill.

Pacific highway expenditures in Jackson and Josephine counties $380,000.

La Grande gets washing powder and metal polish factory.

Lakeview wool clip will reach a million pounds.

JOS. G. KLINEMAN

Joseph G. Klineman, well known here since 1882, died at his home in East Portland, July 18, 1917, aged 68 years. Mr. Klineman was born in Kentucky and came to Oregon in 1882. He married Sarah Wilkins, and established a brickyard northwest of Hillsboro a mile, in the eighties. From here he moved to Lents. His widow and the following children survive—J. G. and L. S. Klineman, Hillsboro; Frank S. and Kennedy Klineman, Lents. Deceased was a member of the Odd Fellows, and his funeral was conducted by the Mt. Scott Lodge, Saturday, and interment was in the Hillsboro cemetery.

Klineman was an expert brick maker and furnished the material for the greater part of the early brick structures in Hillsboro.

Dr. Lowe says give him something difficult.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kimm, of Portland, were Hillsboro visitors Monday.

Marshall Baker, of Chehalem Mountain, was over to the county seat Monday morning.

H. Peterson, who recently celebrated his 75th birthday, was up from near Farmington, Tuesday.

Miss Amy Hinshaw, of Goldendale, Wn., is the guest of her cousin, Miss Mary Sewell, this week.

Geo. Moyes, who has been employed by Adams' Barber Shop several years, departed Tuesday for an extended trip into California.

Fred Berger, of Bethany, was in Saturday, looking up the draft numbers. He was naturally interested as he has a son in the military register.

W. S. Hahn, of Mountandale, was down Monday, greeting friends. Stanley is still handling a garage and doing his usual amount of iron work.

For sale: Registered Holstein bull, nine months old and from an A. R. O. dam. This fellow is priced to sell.—Frank W. Connel, Hillsboro, R. 1. 17-9 z

Samuel Moon and wife, of Centerville, were Hillsboro visitors Monday afternoon. Sam says that rain is the one big necessity out his way for the late sown crops.

H. W. Schlattman, of below Oreno, was a city caller Monday. He had quite a visit with Julius Asbahr, who was raised within twenty miles of his home in Germany.

Mrs. M. M. Thein, of Aberdeen, Wash., who has been attending the Pioneer Association in Portland, is in the city this week, a guest of her niece, Mrs. Jane Sewell, and other relatives.

W. A. Shaw, of Portland, handling the Beaverton-Reedville tracts, was out the first of the week on business. He says that inquiries for suburban properties are becoming more numerous.

For Sale—Three-year-old black mare, weight about 1300; broke single and double; is sound and true.—Samuel Moon, Cornelius, Ore., Route 1. Call at place one mile from Shefflin station, near Centerville. 19-21

E. I. Kuratli has his office in the Hillsboro National Bank Bldg. Loans your money, insures your buildings, rents your houses, buys and sells your property, makes collections. Notary Public.—Also speaks German and Swiss. 42tf

Dr. Lowe, Portland's well known eyesight specialist, who has been coming to Hillsboro for more than a quarter century, will be at Hotel Washington till 4 o'clock Saturday, Aug. 4. Don't fail to consult him. Remember the date.

Mr. George, a young fellow living near Middleton, was brought here the first of the week by Sheriff Applegate, to be examined for his sanity. Young George has read considerable fiction and it has given his mind a bit of warp. He imagines that he knows where there is a big treasure in the bottom of Lake Erie, and he wants some one to finance him with twenty thousand dollars with which to blow out the bottom of the lake. He says he will split the find fifty-fifty with any one, and there's a big chance to get rich.

NOTICE

The City Ordinance requires all automobiles within the city limits to keep the muffler closed, and inasmuch as complaint is being made that this ordinance is being constantly violated it is now the purpose of the city to enforce this law.

Dated at Hillsboro, Oregon, this 19th day of July, 1917.
Grant Zumwalt,
Chief of Police.

RIGGIN'S STRAIGHT STORY OF MURDER

Warden Murphy Reports That He May be Slayer

LOOKS LIKE TWO MAY GO FREE

Young Man Makes no Discrepancies in Going Over Ground of Killing

Warden Chas. A. Murphy, of the state penitentiary, has reported to Gov. Withycombe in his findings anent the Wm. B. Riggzin confession of slaying Wm. Booth, and it begins to look as though Riggzin was the man. At least it appears that Murphy places much credence in the confession. He took Riggzin to the scene of the crime the other day, and accompanying him was District Attorney Connors, of McMinnville, and the attorneys for Wm. Branson and Mrs. Anna Booth, wife of the murdered man, who was killed near Willamina. Branson and Mrs. Booth are serving time for the crime that Riggzin claims he perpetrated. While Murphy does not say that Riggzin is guilty it appears that Riggzin has told so straight a story, and adhered so closely to his original confession, that there will always be an element of doubt that Branson and Mrs. Booth were guilty.

It will be remembered that Sheriff Applegate had Riggzin brought here for a quiz on some Washington County robberies of the past. No one connected Riggzin with the Yamhill murder, but as soon as he was with Applegate, Riggzin said "I know what you want me here for. It is for killing Wm. Booth, and I am the man." He then made a confession. Yamhill authorities at first laughed at Riggzin's story. Sheriff Applegate notified the warden and he commenced an investigation. Riggzin is a son of Geo. Riggzin, who is well known in Hillsboro. He says that he is the guilty man, and he accurately described how Booth lay after he shot him. So many details were corroborated that it now looks like he is telling the truth. If the state officials believe his confession over the fifty-fifty mark, Branson and Mrs. Booth will go free.

GETS LIEUTENANCY

Donald E. Long, aged 23, was last Saturday commissioned 2nd Lieutenant of Cavalry Troop C, at Fort Myer, Va., where he has been in the officers' reserve training camp since in May. He was originally in the District of Columbia Cavalry Troop, and returned from the border last March. Lieut. Long is up to his senior year in law at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., and if he survives the war will complete his law course on his return. His brother, Clifford, aged 22, is on the gun deck of the U. S. Ship —, the cruiser which conveyed the Root commission to Russia, arriving there early in June. The young men are sons of L. A. Long and wife, of Hillsboro.

CHAS. E. STREETER

Charles E. Streeter, the father of Mrs. John W. Bailey, died at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Portland, July 20, 1917, after a lingering illness of several years. Besides the daughter, he leaves two sons, W. B. Streeter and George E. Streeter, of Portland. The funeral took place from the Donelson Undertaking Parlors, Sunday, and interment was in the Masonic cemetery in this city. Rev. A. D. Shaw conducted the funeral services.
