ARGUS BOYS SERVING YOUR UNCLE SAMUEL

One in Artillery, One in Army, in France, Other in U. S. Navy

SERVING AS VOLUNTEERS

All Three Have Attended Hillsboro High, one a Law Student

The Argus is well represented in the service of Uncle Sam. Three young men who have put in many hours working in the Argus office have been with the colors since before war broke. Two are sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Long, and one is the only son of Mrs. E. C. McKinney. The oldest of the trio, Donald E. Long, is now a First Lieutenant in Artillery, connected with the 110th. He is at Ft. Sill, taking the School of Fire, and he will soon be sent across. Lt. Long joined Troop C, Washington, D. C., Cavalry, early in Midsummer he was transferred to Artillery and won his bars as First Lieutenant last Fall. He still has a year at law at Georgetown University. He is aged 24 years, and is a close student, as well as active in all field work. When at school here he was active in football circles.

Clifford L. Long, 29 years of age, enlisted in November, 1916, and went to Russia on the Buffalo, his vessel carrying the Rout mission. He is now at an Atlantic port, and has taken examination for promotion. Before enlisting he was a rodmann for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, in Montana. The sailor is well read, and takes a great interest in athletics. When at school here he won the medal for pole vault at the county field meet.

Verne McKinney, the son of Mrs. McKinney, is the youngest of the trio, being 19 years of age. He enlisted in the Third Oregon, Co. B, a year ago, and is now in France, at present being detailed in the government printing plant. McKinney was a student in High School at the time of enlistment, and was one of the first four to volunteer from Hillsboro. The other three were Clifton Bagley, Vernon Olson and Glen Powers,

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for county judge. I am the present incumbent of the office and am willing to be judged by past performance, for if nominated and elected I will continue to conduct the office as in the past in the manner which experience has led me to believe is for the best interests of all the taxpayers.

POTATO BREAD

When the law providing the purchase of one-third as much substitutes as wheat flour went into effect, the housewife found herself facing a new and serious condition. Now that the amount of substitute has been raised to the half basis, she is indeed much more concerned. She is finding it very hard to keep down the use of white flour. This recipe for potato bread has been very helpful to many:
One quart boiled and mashed potato; water in which cooked; 1/4 cup sugar or syrup, 2 table-spoons salt; 1 yeast cake or 1 cup liquid yeast; 1 quart flour.
Boil potatoes, put thru ricer; add potato water and cool to lukewarm; add yeast, sugar, salt and a little of the flour and stir into a sponge. Let rise over night. Add balance of the flour in the morning, kneading it in slowly and until dough is very stiff. Let rise until double its bulk. Mold into loaves.

Some smart idea—setting the clock ahead an hour after March 31, eh? Well, the farmer folks are not worrying about that clock. They get up sufficiently early in the Summer time to get in all the daylight work they want. "Setting the clock ahead" is just about as sensible as "setting it back." It makes little difference about the daylight. If one works his hours early or late, the man who gets up early can get in enough time without monkeying with the clock dial. An hour back and the sleepy-head would say, in the morning—"It's too early." If set ahead, when the proper time came to retire he would say—"It's too early to go to bed." And there you are, as Dooley would say. If the brilliant mind which conceived that clock business were to get busy and invent an automatic bed that would throw its occupants out at 4:30 A. M., and stay automatically closed, he would confer a favor on humanity. As it is there there's nothing to it.
St. Patrick's Day came Sunday and the Patron Saint of Ireland had a quiet day so far as Hillsboro was concerned. The father was given a celebration in the shape of a dance, Saturday night, but he was unable to attend.

Dad Banister, who has conducted a popcorn and peanut roaster in this city since the sewer system was installed, closed up his place of business, next door to the S. P. city station, Saturday night, and says he is going to take a rest. Banister says that peanuts have raised in price so there is little in that, and it is almost impossible to get popcorn at any price. He has been running on the latter by purchases of local growing the past few months, and so he concluded to quit. He will be missed at the old stand—but he may start again any day.

Denby Trucks
For Trail or Pavement

The remarkably successful development of the internal-gear drive in Denby trucks has done perhaps more to revolutionize truck design than any other single factor.

But equally vital to the purchaser, equally important to the dealer, is the thoroughness of their construction. The small bolt or nut has the same great factor of safety for its work as the frame or axle. Therefore, the performance of the truck is never neutralized by the failure of a so-called minor part.

Denby trucks are repeaters. The Denby dealer finds a volunteer salesman in every owner. Steady increase in sales makes necessary steady increase in manufacturing facilities.

A strong company—a truck that's right—a good dealer. These are the three essentials that are important to the user.
