

MARRIED MEN PUT INTO CLASS ONE

Board Re-classifies and Adds 116 to Fighting Tentatives

EXAMS SOON WILL FOLLOW

Thought That 100 of These Will Be Open to Selective Draft

The local war board has finished its re-classification of married men and as a result 116 have been added to the tentative fighting forces of Washington County. These will go through the same exams, physically, and the same appeals, that the list heretofore went through, of course, but it is within the realm of possibility that many of them will get into the selective draft before many weeks—at least to those who want to go and have it over with. The revised list of married men placed in Class 1, are in their order of selection.

AN APPEAL

Portland, Ore., July 15. To the Mothers and Sisters of Oregon:

It will be needless for me to go into detail and explain to you the problem of feeding 118 women, babies and children. The task is difficult at any time, but a tremendous burden at present. I appeal to you to remember the girls and babies during this coming season, and put up a little extra fruit, with or without sugar, to ship to the Louise Home and the Alberta Kerr Nursery Home, where we are caring for abandoned mothers and babies. We assure you that whatever you can do in their behalf will be greatly appreciated. Why not form a club in your town and ship a barrel of canned fruit or canned vegetables at Thanksgiving?

For shipping instructions address correspondence to Gen. Supt. W. G. McLaren, 195 Burnside St., Portland, Ore.

An appeal from the Pacific Coast Rescue & Protective Society.

MILITARY BURIAL FOR SERG'T. WM. GOTTLIEB

Marine Popular in Life Given Loving Tribute by Hillsboro

LAI'D TO REST WITH HONOR

Over Thousand People Witness Last Rites to U. S. Marine

Between a thousand and fifteen hundred people witnessed the last rites over the body of Sergeant William Gottlieb, of the U. S. Marines, in this city, last Sunday. The Uniform Rank, K. of P., of which the departed Marine was a member, escorted the casket from the Donelson undertaking parlors to the M. E. church, and after the services, marched ahead of the bier to the cemetery as a military escort. The lay members of the Pythian and Masonic lodges followed in the line of march.

The military escort was in command of Capt. F. J. Sewell, assisted by Lieutenants W. N. Harris and Earl Donelson.

Rev. Walton Skipworth officiated at the obsequies in the church and his address was an eloquent tribute to the genuine worth of the young man beloved by all Hillsboro. It was a masterpiece of eulogy and condolence and worthy of a greater audience than Hillsboro could possibly give.

After the remains reached the cemetery the cortege was still rounding out of the city, so many being in the line to pay the dead man their last respects.

At the gate of the burial place the Masons relieved the Uniform Rank and Pythians, and the Masonic ritualistic service was rendered by Worshipful Master Glen Payne.

The song service in the church was rendered by Mrs. E. J. Sewell and Mrs. Glen Payne; Messrs. Wm. Harris, Geo. Emmott, E. J. Williams and Leonard Brown, of the Uniform Rank.

The Pythian pall bearers were Wm. G. Hare, J. W. Council, C. C. Erick, R. Frank Peters, Dr. Elmer H. Smith and O. Phelps.

The Masonic pall bearers were Calvin Jack, Jr., W. J. Gregg, Donald Gregg, Chas. A. Lanekin, Geo. Corey and Geo. J. Limber.

The floral pieces were the most beautiful the city has ever offered a departing citizen. The piece sent by the United States Marines, representing a globe with a Latin inscription portraying fidelity to country and ideals was a most beautiful and expressive thing, and the offerings by the Pythians, Masons, Eastern Star and Pythian Sisters were lovingly expressive of the high esteem in which Gottlieb was ever held. The motto on the Marine emblem, a globe representing the world, read, "Semper Fidelis."

The last words were said at 4:20 p. m. and Wm. Gottlieb rests well, in life knowing his duty, and performing it, and in death his spirit with his fellows in far away France, shoulder to shoulder with them, fighting for a world-liberty.

Interment was in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

MILK, $2.85

Supt. Lamb gives out the condenser price of milk for the last half of August at $2.85 per hundred-weight. Shortage of supply, caused by poor pasturage and high prices of mill feeds, has been instrumental in raising prices.

I want to rent a farm of from 25 to 60 acres for a period of 3 to 5 years. Will pay cash rent, or will take place on shares. Can give references.—G. F. Mayback, Cornelius, Ore., Box 17. 22-4

RESOLUTION

Whereas, the Great Commander having seen fit to call William Gottlieb, a member of Phoenix Lodge 34, Knights of Pythias, of Hillsboro, Oregon, to a seat at the right of his station, Be it Resolved:

That in his death Phoenix Lodge suffer a distinctive loss, Knight Gottlieb ever having been true to the tenets of the order; that in his life he ever heard the call of duty to his fellows, and it is our grateful remembrance, that in this, the nation's and world's greatest crisis, he opened his heart and fire of youth to the cause of liberty; the cause of humanitarianism, and to the noblest impulses of the human heart—and enlisted in the service of our government to the end that he might fight to make a tyrant free from the power of a tyrant. In his living hour he rightfully said to his brothers—"If we do not conquer him now when we can choose the field, it is only a question of time until he will conquer us, and we must make the fight and make it now."

We further resolve: That, while we deplore his untimely death, we glory in his supreme sacrifice, and deeply realize that he has won immortality for himself and our order.

That our love for him as a brother Knight and companion during his passing, and we call on every true Knight of Pythias to emulate his example when it is possible to do so.

Be it further resolved: That we extend to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gottlieb, and his brothers and sisters our sincere and knightly sympathy, with the assurance that death came to him while engaged in noblest of purpose—a compensation that cannot come to all who suffer bereavement.

That a Golden Star be placed upon the service flag of this Lodge; that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our records; and that a copy be sent to the bereaved parents.

Finis: Sleep may have glories that waking can never reveal.

COMMITTEE.

APPRECIATES ARGUS

Jesse Stewart, and old time Hillsboro boy, in renewing his Argus, writes from Jerome, Arizona: "I enclose herewith my check for Argus. I still enjoy reading it and always look upon it as a letter from home, or, in other words, from my boyhood home. I note with great pleasure the part old Hillsboro has taken in the great war. This is a wonderful copper mining district and we like it here very much. We hope before long to get up and see you all, at least for a short time. When you see Mr. Gates extend to him my sympathy in the loss of their son. We are at an elevation of about 5,000 feet. Climate grand most all the time."

E. E. COLESTOCK

E. E. Colestock died at Cloverdale, last Friday. He was afflicted with septic poisoning, and lived but a short time after being stricken. Colestock was born in Missouri, and came to Oregon in the early nineties, living in Hillsboro for several years. He leaves a widow, maiden name, Emma Leverich, and a daughter, Beryl. Several years ago he moved to Cloverdale. The family visited Hillsboro a few weeks ago. Colestock was aged about 48 years. He has a brother, James, somewhere on the coast. His immediate family live back in Missouri.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to extend our most sincere thanks for the kind assistance given us by our many friends and neighbors, during our bereavement, the death and obsequies of our son, the late William Gottlieb, and return especial thanks for the many expressions of sorrow from all, for the kindly courtesies of the Pythian and Masonic fraternities and their auxiliaries, of the United States Marines, and for the beautiful floral offerings of all who contributed to the last rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gottlieb and Children.

LIKES FRANCE

Leo. W. Fitzlaff, formerly of South Tualatin, where his parents now live, writes his folks from France under date of June 30: "Have been transferred from the baker company to the military specialist company, and will just stay there for orders to go somewhere else, where I don't know. I am camped with some of the boys I have been working with in the country about three miles from town. Sure is a beautiful place around here around these nice groves and fields, fine gardens and the finest yards I ever saw. Am getting a few letters now, but yours are few and far between. Suppose George (his brother) will soon be over here but I may never run across him unless it should be in some 'chow' line at a kitchen that I happen to be in. Am telling you that cooking here is not like in camp in the states. A cook might be getting his potatoes peeled by some big shell and his steaks turned in a similar manner. Get me? But haven't had that kind of luck yet and hope I won't. In the kitchens where I have been cooking we cooks have had to keep moving. We would feed at times from 80 to 2,200 men at a meal, so you can see it is no joke here, but am doing nicely at it. Am willing to feed twice that many if necessary for we've got to get the Hun—that's our point over here, and we are going to get them, too. You just take good care of my game rooster until I get home when I will take him off your hands. Hope you will all keep well and happy. Am feeling fine. Never have had what you would call a sick spell since coming over. Yours truly, Brother and Son."
