Hillsboro's service flag has another insignia of gold representing the death of Miss Imah Ledford, who died in France. Miss Ledford's sacrifice was just as great as that of a man who gives his life for his country. Being skilled in nursing, she knew her duty and followed to France, where she left her life—all that a person can give. Her supreme gift she laid at the feet of her country, and Hillsboro people are sad that she has not returned to us after giving her country her best efforts. The cruelty of war in Miss Ledford's case was exemplified in the taking of two young lives, her life, and that of her fiancé, Corporal Copeman. Both sleep in France that their country might bring peace to the world thro' shattering monarchies.

President Wilson will be at the peace table. He, more than any other, has shown the way out of the great cataclysm that confronted the world. His words did more to awaken the sense of things to the people of Germany than all other agencies, and the force of American arms, of which Wilson was the commander-in-chief, was the last word in opposition to the hordes of the central powers which were fast approaching Paris and the channel ports when our soldiery arrived to turn the tide of invasion. Wilson should be there, and he will be there, and only the unthinking will begrudge him the distinguished honor. Save and except, always, of course, the sainted Theodore.

The constant trickling of water may wear a stone away, but eternity isn't long enough to revolutionize the bonthead, or change the spots on the man who thinks he is the smartest thing on earth.

The chap who said Woodrow wouldn't get his feet under the peace table may have several guesses coming.

Mr. and Mrs. James Coulter, of South Bend, Wash., have purchased property on Washington St., between 7th and 8th street. A cement walk has just been constructed and other various improvements are being made. Mrs. Coulter was formerly Miss Perrine, a milliner of the city, while Mr. Coulter is a brother of Chas. Coulter, mayor for the past several years of South Bend. Mr. and Mrs. Coulter expect to be permanently settled in their new home by Jan. 1.

Bert says it looks as tho Gaston dairymen will have to ship their milk by express all winter to the condenser on account of road conditions.

Mrs. L. M. Hoyt's dress accidentally caught fire last evening, and her husband severely burned one of his hands in extinguishing the flames.

(By Arthur Reiling)

The last few days the students have been indulging in assembly singing at the noon period. Mr. Patten, our former principal, who is now in a training camp in Arkansas, sent the school several pieces of popular sheet music, and this started the musical ball rolling. There is no reason why the school should not have a supply of popular music, and now that we have a good start, we are sure to have a good assortment before long.

The H. H. S. M. T. C. now has regular drill twice a week. Most of the members are able to distinguish right from left, and can keep in step, so we sure are progressing, and will have a regular company before long. The following temporary squad leaders have been appointed: Leo Goar, Ed. Wall, Arthur Reiling, Arthur Shute, Harold Briggs, Ed. Linklater.

There are rumors about that the Freshmen are going to give upper classmen a party soon. We are all hoping that these rumors are not false.

The Victory Boys and Victory Girls campaigns have been coming along nicely. They both have over one hundred dollars pledged and the girls are ahead of the boys by several hundred dollars. Although most of the students have subscribed, there are still a few who have not pledged. Are you with the many or the few?

The uniforms for the H. H. S. M. T. C. have been ordered, and all the boys are looking forward to the day when they can sport one.

The orchestra is practicing every Wednesday night, and under the guidance of Prof. Gristen is progressing rapidly. We are all waiting for the first appearance.

We are also hoping to have a male quartette this year, and there is no reason why we can't. All the fellows who can sing or think they can, should make a try for it.

The students are planning to start basket ball soon. The boys held a meeting Tuesday evening, and succeeded in getting a good number to sign up for the team. The girls will hold their meeting soon. There are several of last year's players on each team, and good results are expected the coming season.

Mrs. J. E. Nichodemus, of Hillsboro, sustained an abdominal operation at the Dr. Smith Hospital, Monday. She is convalescing nicely.
