

THE HILLSBORO ARGUS

County Official Paper

L. A. Long, Editor.

Subscription, $1.50 per annum.

Issued every Thursday by Mrs. E. C. McKinney and L. A. Long.

The Northwest suffers a loss beyond measure in the death of Henry L. Pittock, of the Oregonian. He has been associated with the Oregonian since its first issue of importance, and he has never swerved in his ideals. He was always for a greater Oregon, and in his fidelity to his journal he encouraged a fidelity to the great Northwest that has no equals in its history. His was the hand that guided the financial destinies of a great newspaper thro over a half-century, and in all those years Oregon was first in his heart and mind.

The Argus has never liked Champ Clark, but when we know the real Wilson we are mighty glad one W. J. B. was at Baltimore a few years ago. "There is a destiny, etc."

Representative Hare has judicial reform legislation well under way, and this is something that has long been needed. There has been so much clogging of courts' action by cumbersome laws and methods, that bench and bar are a unit for reform of this character. Mr. Hare will have performed a splendid duty if his measure gets through at Salem, and one which will be beneficial to litigants, lawyers and courts.

President Wilson appears to have the League of Nations well under hand, and his address to the commissioners of peace was a master-piece of world papers. Today Mr. Wilson is first in the hearts of his country and first in the great common heart of the world. His message at the peace table will be translated in every tongue that the world knows.

Peterson Bros. have bought a 150-ton solid tire press for putting on auto truck tires. They will have their machine installed in February, and will serve all Washington County. Hereafter, when a man wants a solid tire pressed on his auto truck he can get it done at home instead of spending a half-day to go to the Rose City, a half-day in waiting there, and then perhaps a half-day getting back. The firm is expending $1750 for the plant, and auto truck owners will find it more than a convenience.

Whoopee! Let's Go!

See Perkins and make arrangements to get one of those splendid Overland cars. You know those cars that LEVEL up the roughest roads. And by the way, Bill, you know we have considerable roads in this county to be leveled up. That's right, Dick, and if we don't get the roads leveled up, we will have to do the next best thing and get an Overland.

Do you know I have talked to every Overland owner I know, and have been told by them that the Overland car is the one to get and its easy riding qualities are because of their superior cantilever spring equipment. Those Overland cars don't bounce over the bumps; they just roll along as if there were no bumps in the road. I have reached the conclusion that they are the best we can get for the money.

Do you know, I was over to see Perkins and he told me that it was his opinion that the Overland car was the best the automobile market has produced, regardless of price, so after looking the car over thoroughly I signed an order for March 1 delivery. What model do I get? Why, the model 90, of course. There are over 100,000 of them in use, so I figured out that they must be a very fine automobile.

Perkins says he will be able to get delivery of these cars for a while yet, but can't tell for how long, because the factory has not gotten its stride from its 100 per cent war work, so I wasn't going to take a chance, and put my order in early.

Price, Model 90, $1145, here, including all taxes, etc.

A few big fours, light and big sixes, can yet be had, if you hurry.
