

BIERSDORF HERD HAS FINE RECORD

Jerseys, Registered, Average Better Than 50 Lbs. for March

AFTER MILKING 6 MONTHS

Herd Contained Three of Forty Best in 4,000 Cows Tested

Geo. Biersdorf, of North Tualatin Plains, has a herd of registered Jerseys which have been famous in milk production, and which are perhaps one of the best producing classes in the state. Nearly all of the herd have been in milk over six months and for the month of March made the surprising average of 50.96 pounds of butter fat. This is some record, and shows the value of good breeding and careful selection.

Of a class of 4,000 cows tested in the United States in 1918 Mr. Biersdorf's herd contains three out of the 40 best for producing.

With a number of youngsters coming on, and with limited barn room, Mr. Biersdorf has concluded to have a sale this Fall, and all his matured cows as well as some young heifers and bulls will be sold. The stock is of the St. Mawes strain celebrated for production and high tests.

This will be a great opportunity for Jersey breeders as this herd is not only productive in the extreme, but typifies the very best in registered strains, following closely the desired type of Jersey stock.

It is worth one's while to visit the Biersdorf dairy—one of the most convenient and modern in the county.

Thrift...

That's the twentieth century way of spelling success. The war has made it a common word in the lexicon of every desirable citizen. We now know that it does not mean penuriousness but rather the exercise of one of the primary attributes of good citizenship.

When you open a savings account with a reliable bank you betray certain characteristics which go far towards insuring a successful career. You are more than merely thrifty. You are also prudent. And these two qualities positively exercised are the beginning and end of success.

Our bank's assets total over $800,000.

For Sale—Several head of good, young Jersey grade cows, all in milk. Also heifer, fresh soon. Priced reasonable.—A. E. Hanley, Hillsboro, Ore., R. 3. Telephone 31X1. Three miles north of Hillsboro. 3-5

W. J. Gregg, of Leisville, was a city caller Friday. W. J. has taken the Argus for a quarter of a century, and says he still wants the old sheet. He bought his present holdings as the result of an adv. in the paper—and says he has never regretted it.

We saw all kinds of dimension lumber from first-growth timber, and are equipped with planer. We have a good deal of dry lumber on hand from last year's cut. If you contemplate building a silo, barn, or house, put your order in early. We give figures and estimates.—Canyon Lumber Co., Banks, Ore. Phone 4F11. Located 2 miles north of Mountindale. 3-5

Sam Raffety, of Mountain lake, where deer run with the cows up to within a day or so of the opening of the season, was in Saturday. Sam brought in with him an extra of the Argus, published 22 years ago, when Rufus Norman was killed at Tualatin, his separator going thro a bridge. This was the first extra ran by a newspaper in Hillsboro, barring the one the Argus issued when Wachline was executed. Sam also possesses a 5 cent and a 25 cent thin plasters, like the old ones issued right after the Civil war. Another unique relic he owns is a 25 cent gold piece, issued in California in the sixties. In those days down South these pieces were—one of them—the equivalent of a good "swig" of old Crow.

YOUNGSTERS FOLLOW R. C. HEALTH PROGRAM

Junior Red Crosses in District Making Good

NEARLY 2000 IN COUNTY

Outline of Health Action Given Children

Fifty-five thousand Oregon children, 46,000 of them in the counties of Multnomah, Clackamas, Yamhill, Washington, Columbia and Tillamook, are now modern health crusaders of the American Junior Red Cross.

And of those counties, while Multnomah heads the list because of close organization in Portland, Clackamas comes a remarkable second-best with 4136 children embracing the students of two-thirds of the county schools, taking up the Red Cross Health program.

The Junior Red Cross Crusaders in the other counties of the Portland Chapter are: Columbia, 1300; Tillamook, 12 (this showing due to many schools closed as a result of influenza, but expected shortly to be wonderfully bettered); Washington, 1877; Yamhill, 2000; Multnomah county outside Portland, 1424; and 31,189 in Portland proper.

And you know the reason Mr. and Mrs. Parent, why little Willie has been going to bed early so religiously, scrubbing his teeth, washing his face and hands, cleaning his finger nails, getting lots of sleep, and always smiling. For Willie and 55,000 other school Willies and Marys are determined to be enrolled first as squires (which takes five weeks of this regular program), then as knights, which requires 10 weeks, and then as knights bannerets which requires 15 weeks perfect score.

"But who keeps score," you ask. Why the Junior Red Crossers themselves. The whole Crusade idea was based on honor. Just the same with the modern Crusaders. So every little Willie and every little Mary is engaged nightly in keeping count of the number of glasses of water drunk every day, the number of times faces were washed, and the number of baths taken. The teachers have helped enthusiastically.

No state in the union can compare with Oregon's health showing. Soon all over Oregon, there will be still a finer showing, and the Junior Red Cross will have done it.

Schools whose members are not yet legued with the modern health Crusaders, and who are not in the Junior Red Cross may learn all about it by writing to Mrs. S. M. Blumauer, Junior Red Cross, who will refer them to the proper official in each county.

NEW CASES

New cases filed in circuit court are: John and Florence Marion and Clark and Ella Cory sue for the partition of an eleven acre tract near the Taylor Ferry road, the defendants being Chas. Marion and a large number of other heirs. The plaintiffs want the tract, which belonged to the late Thim Marion, divided, or if division is not practicable, want the tract sold and divided among the heirs. The Marions and Corys each have a seventh interest in the property by will.

Mattie Kuder, who married Samuel Kuder in Hillsboro Dec. 19, 1907, asks for a divorce, alleging the husband deserted her seven years later. She also asks the custody of two minor children.

Ralph Hannan, of Buxton, sues Carl Teller for $128.47, for merchandise furnished and unpaid. Laura Ervin, of Portland, sues Frank Ervin for divorce, alleging simple desertion. The defendant husband is a Portland policeman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Collier departed this week for Orlando, Cal., where they expect to remain several weeks. Herman has interests down there and may invest again if things look right to him. Orlando has a big future, and Herman thinks it O. K., even if the state is going into the Sahara zone shortly.

Over 60 per cent. of the new cars this season are equipped with U. S. L. batteries, among which are Oldsmobiles, Overlands, Buicks, Chevrolets and many others too numerous to mention.—Hillsboro Battery Service Co., are agents for the batteries, which are sold on fifteen months guarantee. 5-6

LUMBER SHIPMENTS INCREASING LARGELY

Many Mills Over State are Being Rebuilt

PORTLAND BUILDS HOMES

Railroad Ties Ordered to Tune of 175 Million Feet

Seventy-two lumber mills had on hand 393 million feet as against 419 million feet in January. Shipments are increasing and production falling off on account of high cost of manufacturing due to unsettled labor conditions and high prices of mill supplies. The government has withdrawn all but 40 million feet of its stock on hand from the market and placed orders for 175 million feet of Douglas fir railroad ties. The Shipping board has decided to "provide ships" for Atlantic coast trade.

Portland interests to acquire thirty steamers to carry ties to eastern ports. McCormick Co. and other mills have orders for 48,000,000 feet.
