County Official Paper

L. A. Long, Editor.

Subscription, $1.50 per annum.

Issued every Thursday by Mrs. E. C. McKinney and L. A. Long.

Hillsboro is entertaining a convention of the State Grange this week—a convention of those who are not content merely to mark time and let the world wag as it will. Foremost among the organizations which are striving for better living conditions, better legislation, better schools, and a better world in general is found the Patrons of Husbandry. The Grange has left its marks on the statutes of the state; it has contributed at all times to those things which tend to a better citizenship and better Americanism. Therefore, Hillsboro thrice welcomes the visitors, and notifies them that the key of the city has unlocked the gates of exclusivism—and the key has been lost, thrown in the well, as it were. By and large, the farmer is at the root of all commerce, for without his production, his organization, and his hearty interest in the general weal, Bolshevism would run rampant, and law and order be a mockery. Grangers, the Argus salutes you!

When a good road is once built up to Bald Peak and Portlanders and visitors from the East can ascend this famed eminence and survey farms by the thousands, and counties by the score, Washington County will get on the map. Perhaps nowhere in Oregon can be found as enthralling a scene as can be seen from the top of old Bald Peak. As far as the eye can reach is unrolled a panorama of farm, orchard, stream, forest and mountains—a sight for the gods. Marion, Linn, Benton, Yamhill, Tillamook, Washington, Columbia, Clackamas, Multnomah and Lane are a few of the counties to be seen from the Oregon side, besides the river tier on the Washington side. Some of these days this beautiful picture will be witnessed by thousands of autoists.

The National Mazda light, at the Hillsboro Electric.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Crow, of Portland, are guests of Mrs. J. W. Brock, of the North Plains road.

Special terms for Summer class in piano, June 15 to August 15.—Vincent Engledinger, Hillsboro. 11-14

Lutheran services at the Advent Church, Baseline St., Sunday afternoon, at 2:30—P. H. Schaus, Pastor.

Wm. Johnson, of beyond North Plains, was in yesterday. Will be putting in 40 acres of beans this year.

C. K. Rogers, of the Rogers Transfer, has moved to Hillsboro. Telephone 364; residence, 1448 Baseline St.

The Forest Grove National Bank furnishes Argus readers with a statement this week which speaks for itself.

James Gibson, of Reedville, was up today. He is the only living charter member of Washington County's first Grange.

C. C. Frick has sold the Palm Confectionery to Mr. Teige, and he and his family may soon leave Hillsboro. They have many friends here who regret seeing them leave.

Washington County boys landing in New York from France, Monday, were J. Koschitschky, Hillsboro, R. 1; H. McRoberts, Banks, R. 1; Walter Ficken, of Sherwood; Arthur Casteel, Tualatin; Richard Walgrave, Sherwood; and Arthur Goodrich, of Forest Grove.

The Willowcraft Furniture Co. of Portland will establish a willow-ware manufactory at Orenco, and they already have a tract in the Bohart Sub-Division. They will grow the willows, and also buy the product for manufacture, and as there are many tracts around here that will successfully grow the timber, the industry should be a welcome one to the section.

Joe Hirschberg, of Independence, Treasurer of the State Grange, is an example of what a hustler can do in Oregon. In 1872 he established a tinshop in Independence. Today he is a big banker, and has 300 acres in hops. He is modest, unassuming, and mixes with his fellows without bombast and all who know him like him for his sterling qualities.

CHERRY GROVE MOVES

Cherry Grove, May 20.—The Haskell-Carpenter Co.'s sawmill is running full time with 75 men. The Joslyn & Griswold mill is employing a force at the mill and in the camp.

Cherry Grove citizens have raised five or six hundred dollars to be met with a like amount by the county court for grading and rock the main road to Gaston, and by the end of another year a good road is anticipated between the two points the full length of the valley. Bert Fleischer is the road man.

Twelve or so autos sport around the town, Chas. Gerrish and Mr. Naslund being new purchasers. The two merchandise stores are doing well, and all looks prosperous.

The Lee Bros., John Callahan and Mr. Halleck are all running their mills and shipping over the W. V. & O. R. R.

Geo. Bruce, of the Land Co., is doing his farming with a tractor. Penn Patton's herd of 500 sheep are proving more than profitable this year.

Vacuum cleaner for rent.—Hillsboro Electric.

Scott Wolf, of above Gaston, was in the city Monday.

D. M. Whitesell, of South Tualatin, was in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Williams of above Roy were city callers this morning.

J. C. Miller and wife, of North Plains, were in yesterday, attending State Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hedrick, of Seattle, are guests of Mrs. M. A. Powell, Mrs. Hedrick's mother, in this city.

W. B. Cook, of Forest Grove, has the recommend of the Cattle Raising Association for Stock Inspector for Washington County.

Born, May 18, 1919, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Frank, a daughter. The little lady is a grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sigler.

For Sale—Cedar bean stakes, $1.50 per thousand. Call 17RR, Hillsboro, or address Mrs. Hoff, Beaverton, R. 4; near Witch Hazel Station. 11-12

The reduction on postage does not take effect until July 1, according to Fred Holznagel, Postmaster Lamkin's deputy. After that date you can send your letter for two cents, or your postcard for one cent.

Hugh Rogers, the S. P. sealer, says that the C. H. Wheeler Lumber Co. starts its mill next Monday, and will employ 60 men at the saws and yard. H. W. Optemeyer, formerly with the Standard Box, is in charge.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekah Grand Lodge is in session at Salem this week. E. L. McCormick and L. V. Trullinger are the delegates for Montezuma, and Mesdames Caroline Wilkins and Nellie Black represent the Rebekahs.

Forrest England, eldest son of A. R. England, accidentally shot himself in the fleshy part of his left arm, yesterday, with a 22-rifle. He had loaned the gun and it was returned loaded. Not knowing it, Forrest handled it without gloves. Dr. Robb attended the injury.

John C. Buchanan, of Forest Grove, was a caller last evening. J. C. has 53 acres of Loganberries to pick this year, and he will employ over 200 pickers. This is said to be the largest yard in the county, and Buchanan says it is the real candy crop when prices stay right—and he thinks the demand is such that there will be no fall in values.

Adolph Siegrist and wife and children are down for a vacation, guests at the A. C. Shute home. Mr. Siegrist says that La Grande is one of the real towns of Eastern Oregon, and everything is prosperous up his way. He is engaged in the mercantile business up there, and is a busy man. He recently had a siege of the flu, but doesn't look it.

Methodist Episcopal Church, Third and Washington Sts. (The Church of the Friendly Greeting) Walton Skipworth, Pastor—9:45 a. m., Sunday School; 11 a. m., Memorial sermon, the Rev. Mr. Clay, pastor of the Christian Church; 7 p. m., Epworth League; 8 p. m., High School Baccalaureate sermon, the Rev. Mr. Anderson, pastor of the Baptist Church; prayer meeting on Thursday evening; choir practice, Friday evening.

In another column will be found an exposition of the Shute Savings Bank, which is rapidly nearing a million dollar institution. Nowhere in the state is there a town of Hillsboro's population to be found with so extensive banking deposits. Hillsboro has reason to be proud of its banking houses. The Hillsboro National's statement is in this issue, and it shows a fine balance, and the Hillsboro Commercial, with its deposits, make a triad that should appeal to local pride, for as good a showing is hard to find in the Willamette Valley.

MEMORIAL DAY

The experience of our boys in the terrible war just closed, and the large addition made to our soldier dead will add a new interest in our ceremonies for Memorial Day this year. Nothing has been left undone to add to the seriousness and sacredness of the day, its memories, and the honor we would bestow on our fallen heroes, whose sacrifices and lives we would honor and whose graves we decorate with flowers. The ceremonies will commence at the cemetery at 10 a. m. The Post and G. A. R. will meet at the court house square at 9:30 sharp, where autos will convey them to the cemetery. We expect Prof. Patten to make a short address to the boys who have arrived home. The Hillsboro Band will be in attendance, and a decorating squad will be made up of the soldiers and sailors just returned, in charge of Corporal Garrett, to decorate the graves.

Seats will be provided for those too feeble to stand, and the decoration of the unknown graves of the boys from Hillsboro will be specially interesting. We trust all who can will attend. An entertainment by the schools will be given at the M. E. Church, at 2 p. m., and there will be singing and addresses.

On Sunday, May 25, a Memorial sermon will be preached at the M. E. Church, at 11 a. m., by Rev. B. F. Clay, of the Christian Church. The Post and Relief Corps and all returned soldiers who will join are welcome.

—E. F. Sias.

CONCERT

The concert at the M. E. Church last Friday evening, given by the Women's Choral Society, was the greatest musical event ever heard in the city. Mr. Paul Petri, the conductor, in four numbers, demonstrated that he was a star of no small magnitude. Miss Winifred Forbes, violinist, and Mrs. Mary Neal Geiger, accompanist, were artists of rare ability.

The numbers of the choruses were splendidly executed and every one was a rare treat, with Vincent Engledinger as the accompanist. The personnel of the chorus—First Sopranos—Mrs. J. D. Bergen, Mrs. M. P. Cady, Mrs. E. J. Sewell, Miss Georgia Baldwin, Miss Florence Garrett, Miss Lucy Weathered and Miss Ruth Harbison. Second Sopranos—Mrs. L. W. Hyde, Mrs. B. W. Barnes, Mrs. G. V. Payne, Miss Ruth Jones, Miss Ruth Jones, Miss Dorothy Lindkater and Miss Tennessee Weathered. First Alto—Mrs. Geo. Alexander, Mrs. John Bailey, Mrs. C. B. Buchanan, Mrs. C. E. Wells, Mrs. C. W. Rollins, Mrs. O. J. Briggs and Miss Junia Johnson. Second Alto—Mrs. Geo. Allen, Mrs. L. M. Hoyt, Mrs. R. R. Easter, Miss Marjorie Wells, Miss Hazel Bryant and Miss Augusta Sigler.

FAMILY REUNION

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Scott, of Cherry Grove, was last Sunday the scene of a family reunion on the occasion of the return from France of Sergeant Guy L. Ravin and Senior Ensign Ed. Pfaff, both sons-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Scott. Children and grandchildren to the number of twenty-five graced the table that pleased the home folks, but found no adjective sufficiently expressive for the boys just returned from overseas.

Sergeant Ravin returned to Camp Lewis for his discharge. He served in the Railroad Division as telegrapher and dispatcher in France, having had experience in that line before enlistment, when he was agent at Cochran. He will return to railway employ soon.

Ensign Pfaff will be subject to call in the Navy for four years, but not in active service. He will sail as Third Officer in a few days on one of the steel steamers built in Portland, enroute for some European port. While in active service he was running between the U. S. and France. Altogether, he has served 4½ years in the Navy, and was in the Spanish War on the Gunboat Concord, at the battle of Manila Bay, and was wounded while in the Mosquito fleet, fighting in the cane brakes, a Filipino "nigger" pinking him.

WANTED

Two hundred Loganberry pickers; 2 cents a pound to those picking through the season; 1½ cents to those who stop before we finish. Will commence picking about June 18, and it lasts about five weeks. Campers furnished shacks, wood and straw. Phone 526, Forest Grove. J. C. Buchanan, Forest Grove, Ore. 11-14

For Sale—Mitchell auto in running order, for $150.—Hillsboro Electric.

FAMOUS FIGHTER HAS RELATIVES IN COUNTY

Alvia C. York, of Tennessee, is Rated as Bravest Man in A. E. F.

ONCE OBJECTED TO FIGHT

Saw Light and Cleaned Out German Machine Gun Nests

According to the story of Geo. Pattullo, one Alvin C. York, of Fentress Co., Tennessee, is entitled to the name of the best single-handed fighter in action in the A. E. F. And, according to Genests this man York is a nephew of the late J. W. York, of Reedville and Hillsboro, and a cousin of Mrs. Will Baldrn, of Portland; Mrs. A. B. Flint, of Scholls; Mrs. Tom Hughes, of Reedville, and Joel and John York.

It was the famous York's golden thatch that connected up this relationship—for the late Mr. York had the same distinction, and many if not all of his children also wear hair the color of the great Caesar.

But to get to York—Alvin C. Pattullo says he carefully investigated the story of York's prowess, and found the whole story.

Pattullo, in the Saturday Evening Post of April 26, tells how York and eight men, York doing the gun-work, destroyed several German machine gun nests and killed 20 Germans on October 8, captured 132 prisoners, including a major and three lieutenants, and thereby broke up an entire battalion which was about to counter-attack the Americans at Hill 223 in the Argonne sector.

Corporal York used an automatic in his fighting, and every time he pulled a man went down. At the time he was firing a German officer whom he had captured, and who in some unaccountable manner was not searched, took several shots at York, but the red-headed fighter appeared to have the Lord on his side.

York was publicly commended by Maj.-Gen. Sniderell, and the big fellow, standing six feet and weighing 205 pounds, was too bashful to respond.

Pattullo says York belongs to the Church of Christ and Christian Union, and after his exploits, seemed to discount them, his chief concern being that he would fail to get back to the States in time to attend the Spring revival of his Church.

The Argus has made inquiry, and finds without a doubt that the Corporal is a cousin of the Washington County York family.

York was later made a Sergeant and decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross, and has also been recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor.

After the fight York was asked: "What do you suppose Pastor Pile will say when he hears of your exploit?" His answer—"What can he say? What can any of them say? Blessed is the peace-maker, isn't he? Well, there was sure some stir-up in this country."

The joke of the Elder's proves is the fact that he was at one time a conscientious objector, and was Evangelized to a fighter through the argument of his training camp captain.

Sergeant York is both farmer and blacksmith, and also leads the choir when he is at his home church—but he thinks his voice is going to be ragged from lack of use unless he gets into practice soon.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hergert, of Blooming, May 12, 1919, a son.

A fine assortment of mounts for class, graduation, or wedding photos, at Johnson's Studio, Hillsboro. 11-12

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Johnson, of Shady Brook, have bought the McAlen residence, in North Hillsboro. Mr. McAlen has bought the Jack Roy cottage on Baseline. The Johnsons will move in this fall.

The H. H. S. Alumni Association will hold its annual reception to the High School graduating class, at the Den of Sweets, on Thursday evening, May 29, immediately following the graduation exercises. All members are invited.—Rhea Wilkes, Pres.
