As if there are not enough troubles these days to harass the poor and lowly the school books are to be changed again this Fall. The head of a big family will have to dig up and forego the "rotation" in text books.

The cent per mile granted back to Columbus, Ohio, was a nice little tribute to the Grand Army of the Republic and the Sons of Veterans and their families.

Henry Ford won't worry much about whether he gets a million dollars from the Chicago Tribune. Henry doesn't need it.

Every man interested in good roads is hoping for a late Fall so that some of the stretches can be macadamized. Scarcity of men has retarded work greatly, and there will be funds left over from the 1918 budget.

Alfred Pieren, of Helvetia, was in the city this morning.

Wm. and Fred Bishop have returned from a trip to the coast.

D. M. Whitesell was over from South Tualatin this morning.

Sam Sipp, of above Mountaineer, was down to the county capital Tuesday.

Miss Helen Connel is spending a few weeks at Rockaway, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. W. D. Wood.

Lost—Nobby Tread auto tire, No. 114,651,331T. Reward. Finder please leave at Argus office.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ottanger, of North Hillsboro, left last evening to visit relatives at Sheridan for a few days.

Chris Maurer, who has been in Portland for several months, has returned to his Mountaineer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Marlin, of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marlin, were out yesterday, being called here by the death of the mother, Mrs. Marlin.

Mrs. Herbert Moulton, nee Alice Merryman, of Washington, D. C., visiting with her sister, Mrs. A. B. Bailey, at Portland, was the first of the week a guest of the F. A. Baileys, the J. W. Baileys and the E. B. Tongues. Mr. Moulton was with the Government in one of the war bureaus during the war.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Byrne, of Hailey, Idaho, accompanied by their son, Walter, and daughter, Eulalie, passed through town Tuesday, enroute home from a tour over Oregon. While at Netarts they camped with Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Taggart, and promised them to see Hillsboro before returning to the mountain state. They averred that they liked Washington County a little better than anything they had seen in their travels.

John Fuegy, of Phillips, was in the city this morning.

Chas. and Henry Matthes, of Laurel, were county seat callers yesterday.

Julius Christenson, of Laurel, was greeting friends in the city the first of the week.

A. L. Grebe and wife, of Laurel, start for a trip to California in a couple of weeks.

W. H. Reiling was in from his South Tualatin ranch the last of the week.

Ray E. Boardman, of Vancouver, Wn., and Carrie Oberg, of this county, have been granted marriage license.

Miss Grace Gill, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Reiter. The visitor is an aunt of Mr. Reiter.

A. D. Hill, the baler and thresherman, was in from the Laurel section the last of the week.

Miss Florence Soll, of Tacoma, Wn., is the guest of Mrs. George Emmott. Miss Soll has been visiting with Mrs. Mat Engledinger, in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Imbrie came over from Rockaway the last of the week. Mrs. Imbrie has returned and J. A. goes back to the ocean breezes tomorrow.

M. C. Lincoln, veteran of the Civil War, is thinking of going to the Columbus, Ohio, G. A. R. National Encampment, and is getting his timetables ready.

Mrs. C. J. Widrick and daughter, Edna, of Pasco, Wash., are guests of Mrs. Widrick's father, T. A. Rhea, and her sister, Mrs. C. R. Bagley. They are on their way home from a visit in California.

Gerhard Goetze, of above Blooming, was badly bruised by a bull, the first of the week. The animal succeeded in trampling him, breaking a couple of ribs, and hooking him badly. Dr. E. H. Smith is attending him, and it will be several weeks before he is able to get out.

The Buick 1920 Model, 5-passenger, 6-cylinder car is the car for this section. Hundreds of satisfied owners can testify to this. They sell for $1725. Delivery on short notice. If you want a car, see us. Don't take the word of envious dealers in other cars.—Hartrampf Garage, Main St., West of First.

Mrs. Alvin Underwood and daughters, Misses Minnie and Valene, of Portland, arrived the last of the week for a visit with Mrs. C. E. Koontz, Mrs. Jos. Downs, W. E. and T. A. McCourts. Mrs. Underwood returned home the first of the week, but the daughters will make an extended visit.

Auto travel between here and Portland these days is something of a Chinese puzzle. No matter which way you go you have to make detours, unless it is along the Cornell road, which is right now badly pitted almost the entire distance. Multnomah has its end of the highway from Bertha, west, finished, but the stretch between Beaverton and the line is closed, as the contractors do not want the dirt road pitted, as it makes it harder to get it ready for concrete. The Canyon road is more or less blocked by the grading at the hill a mile east of Beaverton, and you have to make a detour on the Walker road, and there you are. A few more obstructions and we shall be marooned.

STOLEN FORD LOCATED

Chief of Police Walt Tews thinks he has the Ford car, stolen from Bert Messinger, August 1, in this city, located in a Nevada town. He is waiting to find whether or not the thief was taken with the car.

TEACH LOYALTY TO FOREIGNERS

FORD ENGLISH SCHOOLS INCULCATE PRINCIPLES OF PURE AMERICANISM IN STUDENTS.

TRIAL DRAWING TO A CLOSE

Attorneys Begin Final Arguments After Ford Counsel Presents Dramatic Testimony On Educational Work.

Mr. Clemens, Mich.—Henry Ford's counsel kept until the final day on which testimony was presented, the strongest arguments in their possession. Not until the trial was within a few hours of its close did they bring to the witness stand Clinton C. DeWitt, superintendent of the Ford English school.

"Mr. Ford," said the witness, "was of the opinion that you could not successfully put over one idea while there were 52 languages spoken in the factory, so to promote that one idea, which was and is Americanism, he insisted that every workman must learn to speak the 'American'—not the English—language."

"There were 3,000 students in the school before the United States entered the war and the factory was practically turned over to government work."

Sample lessons were read by the witness. Parts are given as follows: "Every good American loves and respects the United States flag."

"Our flag stands for liberty, justice and peace."

"Its colors are red, white and blue. The red stands for love, the white stands for purity, the blue stands for truth."

"American flags," said the witness, "were used profusely in the school room and a silk flag always flutters before an electric fan."

Teach Americanism.

The men are taught that there is no greater title than "American citizen" and are urged to accept the advantages of education offered by this country so that they may fit themselves, through knowledge, to defend their liberties.

Pictures of great Americans adorn the class rooms, special exercises are held on the birthday of great leaders of the nation and finally, when the class graduates, it is presented with souvenir American flags and is given membership in what is known as the "American Club." The Federal and state courts recognize a diploma from the Ford English school as an evidence of adequate preparation for citizenship, it was shown.

Through this testimony counsel sought to bring out that the man who taught 3,000 foreigners to love their adopted country and to respect its flag could scarcely be called an anarchist and that a man who sought every possible method to instill love for the Stars and Stripes in the hearts of those who come to it from foreign shores, could never have made the slanderous statements attributed to him by Tribune counsel.

Mr. Ford, it was shown, loaned all his educational workers to the government at the time war broke out. The war department found the methods used in the Ford English school so valuable that they introduced them in all training camps. Henry Ford paid the salaries of the men he loaned to the government for the work.

Closing Arguments Open.

Closing arguments in the case opened the last of the week. Attorney Wm. Lucking led off for Ford counsel. He called attention first to the testimony which showed that The Tribune, hot for intervention in Mexico because it thought such action would lead to conquest or at least to great riches for the United States, had found Henry Ford blocking its path just when its long campaign gave promise of bearing fruit. Thereupon, said the attorney, The Tribune set out to destroy Mr. Ford's influence, to sweep him out of its path and to still his voice which pleaded for a course which would help the bleeding republic to the south to regain her feet and to strike forth on a new highroad of education and freedom.

Attorney Weymouth Kirkland opened for The Tribune. He declared that what Mr. Ford had done since 1916—when The Tribune called him an anarchist—had nothing whatever to do with the situation as it was when the newspaper stigmatized the manufacturer as an enemy of his country. He did not deny that Mr. Ford had done an immense and valuable work for the government during the war but he claimed that this did not alter the facts as they were before war broke out. Mr. Ford, the attorney insisted, was an anarchist at the time The Tribune described him as such, and the truth he said was sufficient justification for the attack.

Water and the Human Body.
The specific gravity of water and the human body is virtually the same. A body in the water is supported by equal pressure at all points. It is more likely to be at ease than under other circumstances. It is, therefore, more likely that it may move without pain. So cripples are often given their exercise in the water.

D. M. McInnis, of Huber, was in the city Wednesday, attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Marlin.

The fine appearance and comfort of the Overland Model 90 could not, alone, have won it the deep public appreciation it enjoys.

It is the character of this car that lies beneath all of its popularity—character as demonstrated by consistent, efficient performance.
