HILLSBORO, OREGON, SEPTEMBER 4, 1919

NO. 26

HIGHWAY IN CITY ABOUT COMPLETED

By October 15th Travel Can be Having Smooth Sailing

N. RANGE TO BEAVERTON

Thoroughfares to Make Portland Travel Easy After the Bumps

Guthrie & Company are rapidly pushing the paving for the state highway within the corporate limits of Hillsboro, and if material shipments are not delayed the route through the city will be finished within ten days, and opened to travel by October 15. A part of the road will be opened within a few days, as it has been "set" for at least thirty days, and this is the time limit for curing.

By Monday morning there were but about seven blocks to complete and when material is on hand the force can pave about a block each day.

Owing to car shortage, however, it is always well to discount the future, so the men in charge say that all will be completed within ten days. This will mean that by the middle of October the entire stretch between North Range and the eastern city limits can be used in connection with that portion of the highway which will at that time be opened. That will mean as far east as Beaverton without doubt.

After years of hard sledding between Hillsboro and Beaverton the smooth surface of the cement will be a welcome change to travelers, and going to the Rose City will be a pleasure instead of a trip filled with impressions of the profane, and "Bless My Souls" by the reverent.

Even should the route between Beaverton and the Multnomah line be not ready there will be at least a pretty fair road from Beaverton on in to town over two or three routes. Warren Bros. will doubtless by some time in October have a considerable part of the Beaverton-Canyon road completed so that there will be but a short distance of turnouts.

COFFEE CLUB MEETING

Regular meeting of the Coffee Club, Saturday, Sept. 6th, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. L. W. Hyde, at 1554 Lincoln Street—Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Hyde, hostesses. Topic, "Community Needs and How to Meet Them."

HIGH SCORE BABY

Little Esmeralda Coulter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coulter, of 1746 Washington Street, was awarded a score of 99½ per cent at the Parents' Educational Bureau, Portland, a short time ago. The little lady scored as high as any child in the contest, and Hillsboro is naturally very proud of her. Mr. and Mrs. Coulter's two other children scored 100 per cent in contests in the State of Washington, prior to their coming here. Esmeralda was born in South Bend, Wash., where the Coulters have lived ever since the town started, and where the Coulter men have run steamers and engine rooms on vessels since Capt. Simpson first started navigation on the Bay of the Willapa.

HARVEST DRAWING TO CLOSE IN COUNTY

Best Crop of Winter Wheat Ever Raised in the District

THRESHING IS ABOUT OVER

Hop Picking Begins and Price is Quoted at Better Than 50 Cents

Harvest is about closed so far as the grain crop of Washington County is concerned, and the result is the best yield of winter wheat ever known in the district. There is here and there a farm that has not threshed, but it is the exception. Spring grain was only an average yield.

The acreage of winter wheat was more than heavy—probably the heaviest in history, even in the days when grain was the principal crop.

Many fields went better than 40 bushels per acre, and the general average is close around 38 bushels.

It is estimated that a million and a half bushels of wheat were placed on the market as the result of 1919 harvest, and as no wheat went under the $2.00 mark this means much money for producers.

Hop Picking Commencing

Hop picking is beginning in a number of yards, and the crop, while not heavy, is of excellent quality. The yards are not numerous, owing to so many abandoning their fields and sowing to other crops as the result of prevailing poor prices for a term of years.

Hops being now better than 50 cents has caused quite a stir, and many new yards have been planted this year in anticipation of better price levels indicated by strength of demand after the close of the war.

METHODIST CHURCH VOTES IMPROVEMENT

Will Build New Parsonage on the Third Street Property at Once

AND REPAIR OLD BUILDING

Also Make Some Necessary Improvements on the Church Bldg.

Business of real importance to the City of Hillsboro was transacted last Monday evening, at the Fourth Quarterly Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, when it was voted to build an entire new parsonage on the garden tract of the parsonage property; remodel the old residence and rent it out; and make some necessary repairs and improvements on the church structure itself, such as repainting, etc. John W. Shute, President of the Board of Trustees, was made chairman of the committee on building and repairs, and he will have supervision of the work, which is to be done as rapidly as material can be assembled and men procured to perform the work in hand.

The M. E. Church has been greatly advanced by the power of the energetic centenary movement taking place in the denomination, and Hillsboro becomes a beneficiary of the Centenary tender. Rev. Walton Skipworth's three years of pastorate has been marked by a harmony and good feeling so characteristic that the church is fitly styled "The Church of the Friendly Greeting."

At the recent meeting the affairs of the church in all departments revealed a condition so satisfactory that the organization and the pastor had worked to successful issues to the extent that a change at this time was not desired, and it was voted to ask the M. E. Conference to return Mr. Skipworth for his fourth year. The request was unanimous, and the decision will be determined at the coming conference, which will convene at Salem, October 1.

It is stated that citizens outside of the church organization will present a memorial to the conference asking that Rev. Skipworth be retained—a tribute rarely extended to a minister. By his broad vision and keen insight and sympathies, Rev. Skipworth has endeared himself to all-Hillsboro, and his friends in and out of the church hope that the conference will heed the request to be sent to them next month.
