SMALLEST MOTHER ALIVE

J. C. Miller, of North Plains, Crowing and Cackling Disturbs Youthful Slumbers at Fair

(By Viola Nelson, Bacona, Ore.) On Tuesday morning, of Fair week, at the Hillsboro station, 1 met Mrs. Zola Morgan, and two Moose Hall, Saturday evening, other club winners, Irene Marr and Bruce Hahn. We took the train for Salem and arrived in time for dinner, at one o'clock.

There were not many girls in camp when I arrived, but some came in the afternoon, and about 10:30 seventeen more girls re-

Eighty girls were registered in the girls' camp, and fifty-six boys in the boys' camp.

A little ways back of the girls camp was the building where the poultry was exhibited. The geese, ducks and chickens all made such a racket that they kept us awake from three till six o'clock, the time we should get Breakfast was served at seven. They would line up the girls in one line and the boys in another in front of the mess tent. Then first one girl and another boy would go in to eat, so around the tables every other one would be a girl and every other one a boy.

Sometimes there would be up to a hundred and forty people for the cooks to prepare meals for. In the day we would go and see all the poultry, cattle, sheep, goat and pig exhibits. One day I saw the smallest mother in the world. She is 28 inches tall, 36 years old, and weighed 37 pounds. In the afternoons we would go and see the horse races, which were very exciting. In the evenings our chaperones shows. We saw the best cows and horses in the world. One morning a chaperon from the boys' camp took us to Salem would take us to see the horse to see all the state buildings. We were in all the large buildings except the insane asylum, which they would not let us visit. In the penitentiary we only saw the dining room, some of the cells, and where they held church. In the church part there was a large picture that one of the men had painted. It was very pretty. In one of the buildings we saw how printing was done. Some of the men there explained all about

Saturday morning Mr. and Mrs. Frost came and told me that I had won second prize in my sewing. I was greatly surprised, as I didn't expect any prize at the Saturday all the children left, as the tent was to be taken down early Sunday morning. I enjoyed my trip very much,

and hope I may go again. PUBLIC SALE
