

AMERICAN LEGION POST GIVES SNAPPY SMOKER

Boys Appreciate Interest and Attendance and Show Fine Bout

GAVE 4 BOXING MATCHES

Wrestling Match was Won by Andy Miller—Some Show it was

Between three and four hundred attended the American Legion Post Smoker at the Shute Hall last Thursday night, and the event was one of which the service boys are justly proud. All Hillsboro joined with the boys in making the evening a great success, and the wrestling and boxing features were certainly well worth while.

Andrew Miller Jr. won the wrestling match against Burnie Powell. Frank Schulmerich refereed the bout. The lightweights put up a fine showing.

The four boxing bouts were class events, although some of the contenders were a little short of breath as the rounds continued. Dr. L. W. Hyde, who in olden days always was ready to mix with anyone in the squared circle, took on Sam Steinko, and it was given and taken. Dr. Hyde's condition wasn't hardly up to "due form," as Art Miltenberger would say, but it was the heavyweight feature of the evening, and afforded plenty of interest.

Wilber Dillon and E. Boyd went the pace with zest, and John Dodge Jr. and W. Courtney mixed it in a lively fashion.

The real event of the evening, however, was the bout between O. Phelps, of the Liberty, and T. C. Reynolds, of the Cash Grocery. These two were fairly well matched in weight, and both are in the has-been class, but if Tex Rickard could have seen them, Tia Juana, Mexico, would have a match July 4 without doubt. A. C. Shute refereed the boxing bouts and W. N. Harris was the timekeeper. He was accused of holding the time a little bit on the boys when their respiratory organs were commencing to clank, but Will denied the accusation, saying that three minutes was always a half hour to a winded man. Sherrill Brown and Frank Schulmerich were in the ring as seconds to the contenders.

It is the intention of the Post to give another smoker in the near future.

Punch and cigars were served throughout the evening, and as events to the evening was about the best card Hillsboro has seen in many months.

Schlegel's orchestra and the Hillsboro Band furnished music for the occasion. It was announced at the gathering that the Legion would give a dance at the Moose Hall, Saturday evening, Feb. 7, to which the public is invited.

$60,000 CANNERY IS PROGRESSING

Extends Across Entire Block, Baseline to Washington Streets

GARIBALDI MILL 100 HOMES

Medford in Large Sawmill Deal—Other Notes

The A. J. Ray & Son $60,000 Cannery is progressing rapidly along foundation work, and carpenters and masons will soon be putting up the structure. The company is hiring local help, and in order to do this turned down a contractor's figures which were probably as low as good business would warrant. The firm, however, took the position that they would have to be at the site during building operations, and concluded they could employ local labor and at least about equal the contractor's price.

F. W. Westfall has sold his place on Edison St., North Hillsboro, and bought a residence at Huber, where he moved Tuesday. He will continue his work in Portland, commuting on the electric line. Mr. Westfall had hardly received a deed for the Huber place until he was offered a profit of $300 on the place.

John Engledinger Jr. and Geo. Emmott finished constructing two apartments for T. C. Reynolds, in the Grange Building, Saturday night and went over to Vancouver to spend Sunday. Mr. Reynolds now has three apartments in the upper story and has no trouble in renting them, as there is a call for them in excess of the supply.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray, Sigler, of Klipsan, Wash., where Ray is one of the U. S. Coast Guards, in all the Life Saving Service, were home the past week, guests of the Siglers and other home folks. Ray has but a few weeks more of service, and was not decided when he left, whether or not he would remain in the service of Uncle Sam for another year. Ray's appearance would indicate that the life has agreed with him.

Representative Wm. G. Hare will in a few days meet with the Senate and House committee to investigate the Fish and Game commission and report to the Governor. Mr. Hare's many friends in Washington County are insisting that he run for the State Senate in the coming election. He has done veteran service in the House in standing up for the rights of the many as against the big paying concern, and he will be in a position to continue his work if sent to the Senate.

BREATHE THRU NOSE AND DODGE THE FLU

Prevention is Better Than Undertakers' Visits

IS COLD WEATHER VISITOR

Care of General Health an Important Factor

Now that the Flu is prevalent in Oregon, and is making Washington County its second annual visitation, health officials are busy combating this dread disease.

The following circular issued by the county health officer, is sent the Argus with request for publication:

"The present wave of Influenza in the State of Oregon is passed at this time, but the disease is prevalent throughout the state in a milder form than it was last year. On the recommendation of the secretary of State Board of Health (Dr. D. N. Roberg) the following is given for your earnest consideration.

For the next week or two, discourage unnecessary communication between Washington County people and the City of Portland, where the disease is prevalent.

Avoid gathering in crowded places, which is a ready way of spreading Influenza (Flu).

If attacked with a severe cold and fever call your physician.

Washington County has a record for a low contamination with the present attack of Influenza, now sweeping the United States. Be vigilant and keep up the good record, following the hints here given.

Dr. L. W. Hyde, Health Officer, Washington Co.

Here are some excellent pointers, observance of which will do much to prevent attack of the insidious disease.

Breathe through the nose—that is what it was made for—and germs will lodge before they get down to your bronchial tubes.

Flush your nasal channels night and morning with water in which may be dissolved plain soda.

Get some throat gargle from your druggist and use it morning and night.

Keep your bowels open and use discretion in your diet.

Half the danger of Flu attacking you will be eliminated if you follow the advice of Grandma Goodwoman, who says, "Keep your mouth closed and your bowels open."

HILLSBORO STARS

O. A. C., Corvallis, Feb. 2—Francis Rollins and Leon Allen, former Hillsboro High School basketball team, played a stellar game for the Fleur de Lis Club, in the intramural series at the Oregon Agricultural College, last Thursday night.

In one of the most hotly contested games on the local campus, the Fleur de Lis defeated the Bear Cats, 20 to 12. Despite the fact that the Bear Cats put up a wonderful exhibit of team work and basket shooting, the forwards were unable to break away from the stellar guards of the Fleur de Lis.

This was the third game of the season for the intramural basketball league championship, in all of which Rollins and Allen have shown the same degree of skill. The Fleur de Lis is composed of men who have seen active service in the late war, many of them being residents of Hillsboro.

—W. J. Dryden.

PUBLIC SALE

The undersigned will sell at public auction at the Farmers' Feed Shed, Hillsboro, at 1 o'clock, on TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17,

Seventeen head of high-grade Holstein cows, all in milk, some just fresh; selected from the Warren Williams' herd, one of the producing herds in the county. All these cows are tuberculin tested and are big fine animals, running to white very strong. All are good milkers and have clean bills of health.

Mr. Williams has decided to quit the dairy business and we have taken over the herd.

Terms of Sale—Cash or bankable note at 8 per cent.

Emmott, Stout & Reedy, Owners.

J. W. Tompkins, of Gaston, was in town Saturday.
