HOME INDUSTRY

Said the governor of Texas to the farmers of that state:

"When you wake up in the morning it is to the alarm of a Connecticut clock. You get up and button on Chicago suspenders to your Detroit overalls. You go out and wash your face with Cincinnati soap in an Indianapolis wash basin. You sit down to your breakfast and eat from a table made in Grand Rapids, Michigan, and you eat Chicago meat. And your bread is made of Tennessee flour, cooked on a St. Louis stove. You go out and put a New York bridle on a Kentucky mule, fed on Iowa corn, and plow your farm all day, which is covered with a Massachusetts mortgage. And at night when you get home, you read a Bible printed in Boston, and you say a prayer written in Jerusalem. And you crawl under a blanket manufactured in New Jersey to be kept awake all night by a d—dog—the only home product you have on the farm."
