

FIFTEEN THOUSAND SPEND FOURTH HERE

Big Gals Day Starts With a Splendid Parade Thro Town HEADED BY 40-GIRL BAND

Decorated Floats—Scottish Bagpipers, Vets and Riot of Color

Hillsboro's Fourth of July parade was on the firing line Monday morning and it was worth while, worth while again, and then some. There were 21 entries aside from the Goddess of Liberty float, which was the finest ever seen in line on the Fourth of July in this—or any other city. Miss Olive Trullinger was regent as a Goddess, and the float was a masterpiece of art and color.

The Goddess' attendants were the four young ladies receiving the next highest votes in the contest—Misses Eva Emmott, Violet Webber, Grace McFadden and Helen Guntion. Miss Verena Shute was crown bearer.

The big parade was headed by Graves' band of forty pieces, and the Sheridan girls were natty in their uniforms of blue and gold. As they passed up the street some old codger, who was commencing to get slightly bald in his throat, said "Violets and dandelions. By Heck! That's some class, and I wish I was young again."

The Scottish bagpipe band was in the line and they took you back to the days of "When Wallace Bleed." The Scotchmen looked the real Highlanders, and their appearance brot salvos at every turn. Thousands witnessed the parade as it wended its way from uptown and then east on Sixth to Tenth and from there to the grounds.

Mayor Wall was in the caravan to see that things went O. K. Loren Jackson, driving a four-wheeler, handled a very pretty and unique affair, riding in an old-fashioned "cabriolet" which harked back to the days of splendor in ancient times. He was given a special prize of $5.

Mrs. W. O. Galoway, of Banks, with a decorated auto, containing little girls dressed and winged like butterflies and fairies, was the recipient of much admiration and was given the first prize in decorated automobiles. She represented Banks' contribution to the spectacular affair. The Argus will say that it was very nice, and invites her to try again next year and we'll give her two prizes. She was given the first prize of $10.

Miss Ethel Sample drove a nicely decorated car. J. A. Black, of the Hillsboro Mercantile, made a nice showing in the decorated car class.

Miss Florence Garrett, whose machine carried a "basket of human rosebuds," was given the second prize of $5. And, it was well earned.

The Pythian Sisters' float, in the fraternal section, decorated in the colors of the order, was beautiful in conception, and carried a Pythian Sister and several little girls. The float was awarded the first prize of $10, as the best fraternal effort.

The Cong. Church entry, a decorated auto float tableaux, with boys and girls dressed as the Pilgrim fathers and mothers dressed away back in landing tube, was unique and received a great deal of admiration.

The Girls' Reserves consisted of four decorated autos carrying the little lady members, the machines being driven by Thos. H. Tongue Jr., J. W. Connell, Wm. G. Hare and Joe Corrierri. The quartet of cars made a neat representation and the "daddies" who handled the trolleys were as pleased as the thousand who witnessed them.

The G. A. R. Drum Corps were in line with life and drum and the way those vets of '61-'65 handled martial music, and the way Ex-Confederate J. C. Lanekin proudly carried that American flag of his own ownership made little thrills come over you and feel that these old chaps can always be relied on. And they would "scrap" yet if you would give them half a chance. The vets had four cars in line.

The Fire Department wagon was beautifully decorated and carried Driver Zumwalt and the five laddies, and they made a dandy showing. A special prize of $10 went to them, this float being the only one of its class.

The American Legion had a neat float with two youngsters doing the Dempsey stunt. The Carnation Company was there with bells. A huge auto truck, carrying two fine dairy cows, well groomed; genuine milk maids in white uniforms, and men operatives in white, with the emporse of all eyes. It really was the educational float of the parade, and should not have been classed in the advertising section—for it was a piece of art. It drew a prize of $5. It was well worth a hundred.

The boy scouts had a float depicting camp life in its fullness, and the young Americans were much taken with it—the conception even making the bald-heads and the gray-heads hark back to the days of youth when the sun was brighter and the moon "moonier." The Scouts were given second prize, fraternal.

Ben Selig, the Hillsboro Junk man, was given first advertising prize. He had his equine and wagon well decorated with the lines of his purchase and his showing made a hit. He got his ten pesos American money.

H. Matthesen, a commercial truck owner, was in line with a showing for his business.

J. C. Lanekin was given a special prize as flag bearer.

Henry Behrmann handled the Carnation exhibit.

Grover Combs was awarded a special prize for his makeup of your Uncle Samuel—for Grover knows how.

And so ended the best parade traversing Hillsboro streets on the Fourth of July.

The judges on parade were E. L. Johnson, E. J. McAluar and J. F. Gardner. The parade committee were M. P. Cady, chairman, E. L. Moore, B. W. Barnes, Zenas Olson and Sam Weil.

JULY CIRCUIT TERM OF COURT OPENS

Jurors Will be Sent Home Until September After Last of Week

TEN THOU CASE SETTLED

Gay Case Against Gregory Settled for Fifty Human Dollars

Circuit court for July opened Tuesday morning with the following jurors reporting—E. A. Hart, R. A. Carlile, W. P. Howell, S. A. D. Meek, P. C. Peik, W. E. Mulloy, Geo. Harrow, W. H. Busch, G. W. Wadsworth, S. H. Ornduff, Frank Davis, Chas. S. Haynes, Chas. Casteel, W. G. Steel, John Cawse, G. E. Westinghouse, Fred Berger, W. H. Joos, Henry Gevert, Chas. D. Staley, Wm. Squires, Theo. Bernards and L. C. Tobias.

The grand jury will be dismissed until September after this week's service so that farmers can hay and harvest.

The big ten thousand dollar damage case of Jack Gay vs. W. J. Gregory blew up after a jury had been placed in the box. Gay offered to settle in case Gregory would pay $50 in settlement of the doctor bill. The big club Gay had when the fight was on—five feet in length—was in the court room and fell off the table during the jury calls. Gregory used a knife on Gay and gave him a bad cut.

Mary Bowser's case against S. T. Bowser, the former husband being in court to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt because alimony was not paid was disposed of by an order releasing the defendant, provided that within 10 days he pay $200 to the divorced wife in full alimony.

To plead Friday: Walter Chase and E. L. Summers, violation of liquor laws; Wm. R. Grout, charged with assault with intent to rape; Clifford McKiver, the negro, charge of larceny from dwelling near Sherwood.

C. I. Johns vs. Geo. Ederer et als, attempt to foreclose lien on building—Court decided that each pay his own costs and that neither have nothing from the other.

Detrich Huhman, brot in to serve out a $1000 fine because of violation of parole, was given another chance. The Court paroled him on $800 of the fine after Huhman paid $200 and $55 for the expense in bringing him back from Nampa, Idaho. Huhman must report to the court each month; must not leave the state; and must be law abiding in every particular. Breach of this and Huhman must serve 400 days in jail.

New cases—Leona Dadd, married to Wm. D. Dadd, in 1915, wants her freedom on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment, and her former name Stephenson restored. Ethel Haynie sues Geo. K. Haynie for divorce, alleging the husband has had a bad temper, and that he spanked her 8 year old child by a former marriage. Geo. W. Hickel wants freedom from Signe Hickel, who deserted him a year ago. He also says her conduct was quite improper.

The Scand. American Bank sues to foreclose on two lots in Beaverton-Reedville, $1134 due on contract.

The Pacific N. W. Adj. Co. sues Curry & Will for balance due on merchandise.

The Commercial Corporation asks for judgment vs. A. F. Koehler & Son for $39.92 mdse. acct. due Marshall-Wells when the Koehlers were plumbing in the county seat.

BASEBALL

The baseball games of the past week were well attended. Banks defeated Reedville, 7 to 3, July 3; the Multnomah Guards defeated Hillsboro, July 4, 4 to 2; Hillsboro beat Banks 14 to 2 on July 5. Owing to the fact that the days were holidays the box receipts were good.

The boxing match staged by the Legion at the baseball grounds Monday was witnessed by a good crowd and appeared to give satisfaction to the fans.

Some party or parties borrowed or stole a boxing mat from the ring at the grounds July 4. The Hillsboro American Legion will appreciate it if it is returned as the property was borrowed from the Hillsboro Fire department.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Shute and children, Miss Gladys, Miss Rena and Arthur, departed yesterday morning for an extended stay at the Tillamook beach.

Chas. Legrande Jr. and Mac Chambron, both of Portland, were married July 2, Rev. T. T. Hicks, of Portland, officiating, on a license issued out of this county.

Congregational Church—Bible School, 10 a. m.; worship and sermon, 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. topics, "Only a Boy," and "A Mistake and its Sequel."—H. A. Deek, minister.

M. M. Brierly, who has been residing at Hoskins, Ore., the past year, has returned to this city for residence. He and his wife made up their minds that Hillsboro just suited them.

Central Church of Christ, corner 3rd and Baseline: 10, Bible School; 11, sermon by pastor; 7:15, Junior and Senior Endeavor; 8, preaching service, special music. Let welcome mean you'll come.—Len B. Fishback, pastor.

Hez Stott, of Yamhill, passed thro the city the last of the week enroute to Portland. Hez stands over six feet in height, and is "ace-high" with everybody who knows him. His son starts for Anapolis, Md., this Fall, to enter the U. S. Naval Academy, to take training.

Want to rent farm with 100 acres or more under plow; have my own equipment, and can take possession this Fall. Will pay cash rental or rent on shares. Best of references. Address, sealed envelope only, "Farmer," Care 908 Sixth Street, Hillsboro, Oregon. 16-18

Andrew Heckmann, of Bethany, was in Saturday, greeting friends and transacting business with the county court. Heckmann says that the law regarding obnoxious weeds is not being followed by many in the east of the county, and thinks if they knew there was liability of paying a fine they might sit up and take notice.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kuratli drove over from Tillamook, making a night run, to attend the celebration here, and made the return Tuesday night. Night travel is the thing, Dave says, keeping one away from the dust and heat. This reminds the Argus that Leo Goar made the round trip to Tillamook, recently, in one night.

Kenyon F. Long, Yardmaster for the Great Northern, at Williston, North Dakota, was in town Sunday and Monday, a guest of his brother, L. A. Long. He left for Washington, Tuesday, and after a few days' visit there with relatives will take a trip to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake and Denver, and then return to his duties for your uncle Jim Hill. Until last year the brothers had not met for 33 years. He likes Oregon and hopes to get a transfer to the coast in the not distant future.

MONSTER CROWD HAS DAY OF CELEBRATION

Hon. S. B. Huston, of Portland, Tells of Birth of Nation

TELLS WHO SAVED NATION

Tells Who—Our Boys, of Course—Perpetuated it to History

Hillsboro's monster crowd had a day of relaxation at Shute Park, Monday, when 15,000 people foregathered from the North, East, South and West of the county to celebrate the country's natal day. It was a good natured crowd, and there were attractions enough to keep everybody busy. When the people had heard the ladies' band of 40 pieces they milled around and came back to the grandstand to hear the Scottish bagpipers, and the way those Scots could play was almost uncanny. The base drummer alone was worth the day's layoff to witness. He was the drummer of drummers; an artist in his line and his action was a whirlwind. He used both sides of the drum—both hands working all the time, and at one time his right hand would hit the left hand side of the drum and the left hand would catch the right side.

Early in the day the people heard the story of our common country—the birth of a nation—Hon. S. B. Huston, of Portland, delivery the patriotic address. Mr. Huston, former Hillsboro attorney, and now State Senator from Multnomah, told of the ties of the thirteen original colonies; related their privations and sufferings and their years of fighting to form a republic. He related how the country was torn asunder in the sixties, and how the Union veterans saved the country to itself, and then, how within the past few years, our sons saved the world from military dominion and the menace of over-lordism. It was a good speech and Bruce knows how to tell the story that one never tires of hearing.

There were no accidents on the grounds, and the dove of peace hovered over the park day and night.

All the concessions did a thriving business, and everybody had money to spend.

The fireworks closed at 9:45 when the "good-night" was fired.

The dancing pavilion had a big patronage and the dancers remained as long as the orchestra could be prevailed on to play the measures.

JOHN E. BISSNER

John E. Bissner, aged 42 years, died, in Portland, July 6, 1920, after a partial convalescence from an operation for appendicitis. About 3 weeks ago he went under the knife and inside of ten days was at home on the ranch three miles south of this city. He said he never felt better in his life. A relapse overtook him, however, and he was taken to Portland for treatment. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Claire Bissner; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bissner; two brothers, William, a Marine engineer, Portland; Harry Bissner, working in aeroplane circles at Dayton, Ohio; and a sister, Mrs. Emma Christofferson, widow of the aviator, the late Silas Christofferson, Portland.

Mr. Bissner was well known in Hillsboro, where he was universally esteemed. He has been running the Bissner ranch, in South Tualatin, several years.

WM. WANSBROUGH

William Wansbrough died two miles east of Hillsboro, June 27, 1920. He was born at Buffalo, N. Y., May 25, 1838, and when a child moved with his parents to Ohio. He was united in marriage July 3, 1862, to Susan Hanley, who died about two years ago. He and the wife came to Oregon in 1872. He is survived by the following children: Louise Wansbrough, Hillsboro; Mrs. Lucy Smith, Coburg, Montana, and Mrs. H. E. Allen, of Hillsboro. Deceased was a member of Gen. Ransom Post, G. A. R., of this city, and was a veteran of the 135th Ohio Volunteers.

The remains were taken to Clackamas, Ore., for burial, June 29.

John F. Carstens, of Banks, was in town Tuesday. J. F. says that the hop prospect is good for quality but not the greatest for quantity in the 50 acre yard of the Banks Hop Company.
