

AMBITIOUS MOTORISTS AWAIT CANYON ROAD

Contractor Will Finish Paving by Middle of September

TRAVEL WILL BE HEAVY

Reiter Says no Grade is Greater Than Five Per Cent

People who drive automobiles will be pleased to learn that the canyon road, east of Beaverton, will be open to travel before the middle of September. The contractors have had a hard time to get rock for the base or the highway would have been completed by this time.

Mr. Reiter says: "The highway from the Canyon road will get practically ninety per cent of the road when it is completed. There is no grade greater than 5 per cent, and the curves are nicely rounded and banked, so twenty miles will not be a dangerous road at any time. The highway commission expected to have this road off, which will save practical three miles, completed by mid-September, but the rock situation has been annoying. The paving crew was a few days covering the base that is rolled and then to lay off for a few days, to get more base material.

The shortening of the distance from three miles from county points to the canyon road, as measured against the Tervilliger, will be a big thing for those to whom the essence of time means nothing, and only those out for pleasure drive will take the Tervilliger drive when this is once established. The labor situation has been very complex this year, and contractors are working on odd odds—but we will certainly have that Canyon road for later travel."

LIUS BAXTER VROOMAN

Lius Baxter Vrooman, long a resident of Hillsboro, died at the family home on Sixth and Washington Streets, Monday, August 16, 1920, after an illness of several months, due to a general breaking down. At death he was 77 years, 7 months. He was born at Dearborn, Michigan, January 16, 1843, and was one of a family of seven children, all of whom are dead. He moved to Oregon in 1870, and for many years worked at the cabinet trade. He was a skilled workman and for many years conducted a shop at Second St., next door to the City Library.

Aide from three years, he has made his home in Hillsboro since he came to Oregon.

He is survived by his wife, Mary A. Vrooman, and one son, Frederick E. Vrooman, assistant secretary of the Equitable Savings and Loan Association, of Portland.

The funeral took place Wednesday morning, at ten o'clock, from the Undertaking Chapel of J. Limber, and interment was in the Hillsboro cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hale, of Eugene, were guests of the Green Hales the last of the week. Mr. Hale will permanently reside at the U. of O. after September 1. John V. Hale, another son of Mr. and Mrs. Hale, was out the last of the week to real between trips to Roseburg, his passenger run being from Portland South to that division point. John is one of the eldest of the locomotive engineers on the S. P. in point of service.

For Sale, by owner—One and one-third acres rich garden land; 5-room double constructed house with full cement basement, some fruit; two chicken houses, 20x30 and 14x20; also small barn—$2600 on terms. Building alone would cost more today. On rock road, three blocks south of Pacific Highway, at Aloha Station, on S. P. electric.—Paul Dudley. 27

Dr. A. Anger and family, of Vergus Falls, Minn., have been guests of the Carl Nelsons, of above Forest Grove, the past week. They are enroute to Los Angeles, where they will make their home. Last Saturday the Nelsons showed their guests the beauties of the Columbia River Highway, and they were greatly pleased with the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Cornelius, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cornelius and Will Cornelius motored to Astoria the other day and were guests of County Judge Scott Cornelius. They report the road as in pretty fair shape and made good running time. They tried both the river and inland routes. B. P. says that Scott maintains that Astoria is the only city worth while in the Oregon country.

Wanted, for one month—Capable, reliable girl or unincumbered woman to take full charge of managing and doing the general housework of my home, three adults. State wages expected.—Write, "A" care Argus.

DEALERS PASS BUCK TO MILK PRODUCERS

Latter Say That Middlemen are Making the Big Profits

DISTRIBUTORS AT FAULT

High Prices of Mill Feed Give Dairymen Little Enough Velvet

The fight in Portland against the high prices of milk has brought about a schism between producers and grocers. Dairymen in Washington County say that considering the high prices of mill feed and the high wage of help there is little enough velvet in producing milk at present prices, and they aver that the dealers catering to the Rose City milk demand are the boys who are making the profit.

"Milk producers have a hard enough time to make dairying pay," said a prominent Hillsboro dairyman, the other day. "We have to work long hours and the prices of mill feed are such that there is little enough at the credit side of the transaction after time and expense is considered. Distributors are the lads who are getting the heavy percentage, and they are trying to pass the buck to producers in order to justify themselves.

The graingrowers are in clover as compared with dairy farmers, and unless the milk producer can have a profit he will not long continue in the business. There is nothing more confining than caring for a dairy herd, and if some of these chaps who think a dairyman has a fine time and big profit would break into the game he would find that it is hard work for the money. And, I'll say right here, many of them are ready to give the other chap a chance."

WARM WAVE WINKS OUT

The warm wave which had been making everybody perspire during August received its check Monday night when a strong north wind came over from British Columbia. By nightfall the breeze was chasing the 35 mile gale, and at sea it must have been hitting around 45 miles. The air cooled immensely, and blankets were quite comfortable. The cessation of intense heat was gratifying and stopped the exodus to the beach and mountains.

PUBLIC SALE

We will sell at public sale at the John Friday farm, one-half mile north of Banks, beginning at 10 a. m., on

Ira T. Mills, of above Banks, was an Argus caller the last of the week. While in town he visited the clerk's office and cashed in on some mole and gopher pelts. It is a fact that Mills holds the record for the big catch of these rodents, and he says that they are not nearly so numerous this year—hardly worth a man's while to get after them.

T. J. Melloy, of Fifth and Edison, is convalescing from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Collections—Knight Adjustment Co., McMinnville, Ore. 6tf

Fay Mills and wife, of Shady Brook, were Hillsboro visitors Saturday.

Sam E. Graf, of Bethany, was in town the last of the week on insurance business.

H. C. Peterson spent the last of the week with his family at the Tillamook beaches.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Heard, of south of Reedville, were city visitors Monday morning.

Joe Werre, of below Farmington, was greeting friends in the city the last of the week.

Thos. L. Samuel, of the Maples, on West Baseline, was an Argus caller the last of the week.

For Sale—Thirteen lambs and four sheep for sale.—August Kaptur, Hillsboro, R. 3; Shady Brook. 24

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Harrow, Mr. and Mrs. Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Anderson spent Sunday over on the Nehalem.

Henry B. Stauss and wife, of Shady Brook; Ernest Stauss and Mrs. J. H. Stauss, of Route 1, were city callers Friday.

For Sale—Two fresh milk goats, at very best age.—Mrs. A. Lunow, on Hillsboro, R. 3; residing at North Plains. 24

Alfred Guerber, of Connell Station, on the United, was in town Saturday, shaking hands with county seat friends.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Phelps are at Rockaway this week. Phelps will return Saturday. Andrew Hargrave is running the Liberty during his absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Imbrie, of Orenco, were city visitors Friday. Imbrie is about through with his harvest, and has already threshed a part of his grain.

F. A. Northrup of Shady Brook, was in town the first of the week. Fred is getting ready to get that buck on September 1—and he generally lands one.

Four Cows for Sale—Freshen from now on to last of September—all 30 to 40 lbs cows; 6 years old; best of herd.—B. T. Rosecrans, Hillsboro, R. 2; south of condenser 1½ miles. 24-26

Mrs. Arab Hoyt Rae, of Eugene, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hoyt this week. Mrs. Rae has a studio of music at Eugene, and is now preparing for the Fall work.

Strayed—From the Wm. Bagley ranch, 3½ miles northwest of Hillsboro, a white Cheshire sow, erect ears; metal tag in right ear; weight about 400. Please notify Geo. R. Bagley, Hillsboro. 24

Geo. McGee, of above Timber, was down to Hillsboro the last of the week. There has been quite a little timber fire up around Timber, but so far no great damage has been done to merchantable trees.

Wish to rent small place—5 to 15 acres—for chicken business. Will buy stock and implements, paying cash, and will pay cash rent in advance.—Address Al Harrison, St. Charles Hotel, Portland, Ore. 24-26

John VanDyke, of Verboort, was a city caller Monday. His oats went 57 bushels to the acre and his wheat averaged 34 bushels. Mr. and Mrs. VanDyke returned Saturday from a week's visit with their son, Peter, at St. Paul, Marion County.

Lou Shirley is now speeding his way eastward to old Kentucky, having pulled out Sunday. He is going to bring back some blue grass seed, but said nothing about moonshine on the moonshine, and the Blue Grass state always has some "sartin" crop of that line.

L. W. House and Andy Pate departed Monday afternoon in the House Studebaker for a vacation at the Tillamook beaches. They took their pup tent along with them, and expect to camp wherever night overtakes them. Andy is doing the chef stunt, and House does the fishing and crab catching, and they expect to lay on ten pounds each before returning.

Chief Carl Larsen is doing veteran service pulling auto drivers who are breaking the speed limit in the city—but it doesn't appear to reduce the number who are always taking a chance. One auto driver skidded for 30 feet Sunday, on Baseline, in order to stop before he crossed the railway track—and then if the motorman hadn't applied the air and stopped there would have been another tragedy.

INLAND ROADWAY IS ASKED OF COMMISSION

Inside Route to Astoria Wanted Via Banks and Buxton

BIG LUMBER EXPORT GAIN

Oregon Turns Out Ten Million Dollars Woolen Goods

Now that the Columbia River Highway is completed down the river to Astoria, a movement is on to get an interior road which will open up the vast territory between Forest Grove and Astoria, via Banks, Manning, Buxton, Seefeld and Vernonia. A highway association has been organized with 200 members and every effort will be made to get the new State Highway Commission to designate the new route as a state highway. This road would open up a large territory which at present is virtually inaccessible a large part of the year. A big meeting was held at Manning yesterday to assist the proposition.

Cargo shipments of lumber for the first six months of 1920 totaled 849,285,502 feet—a gain of 304,856,013 feet over similar shipments for corresponding period of 1919. These figures are announced by Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau of Seattle.

Columbia highway to be extended to state line across Umatilla county.

Portland—Rose City Park has issued 20 permits for bungalows. Scotts Mills to have new state bank.

Contract let for $25,000 St. Johns terminal carline.

Hood River—Governor Olcott is investigating the complaints of ranchers that Japanese are a menace to that orchard district.

Toledo is getting a new $16,000 bank building.

Bandon to have new sawmill to cut timbers for resawing.

Portland exports and imports increasing.

St. Helens road paving contracts let for $76,000.

Portland—$45,000 sewer to be built in the Alberta district.

Oregon wool manufactures total $10,000,000 annually.

Would Ruin the State—

In many localities throughout Oregon meetings have been called for discussion among farmers and business men, of a constitutional amendment, proposed by initiative which is to limit the legal rate of interest to be charged in the state of Oregon to 4 per cent on all moneys after they become due, and 5 per cent on what are known as contract loans. The measure will go before the voters at the general election to be held Tuesday, November 2.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of money loaned in Oregon comes from outside the state and this would be withdrawn over night if such a measure as this should pass.

The wording of the proposed measure appears to benefit the borrower by giving him cheap interest rates, but low rates without any money to borrow will not help the man needing money.

With the U. S. Government paying 6 per cent for money what chance would individuals in Oregon stand to get it at 4 and 5 per cent?

Franklin T. Griffith, President of Portland Ry. Lt. & Power Co., says the measure would literally ruin the state. It would close industries and throw thousands of men out of work.

ROSEWOOD PARTY

Jason Crayne recently entertained his young friends at Rosewood on the river road. Music, dancing and games were the features of the evening, and light refreshments were served at a late hour. Those present were Dilley Leachman, Philip Rossman, Forest Grove; Evelyn Raymond, Mira Crayne, Portland; Dorothy Crayne, Newport; Wm. Barz, Mary Barz, Pierre Lyle, Dorris Leveck, Hillsboro; Gilbert St. Mar, Milly Desmond, Geneva Richards, Helen Taylor, Scholls; Allen Gilman, Oregon City; Dorothy Barz, Seefeld; Willie Rayne, Nona Gaymont, of Newton.

SOME YIELDS

Roy Berst, of Beaverton Route 2, was a city caller the last of the week. He states that threshing is in full blast down his way, and the yield of winter wheat, especially on former potato grounds, is rather pleasing. Wm. Thurston threshed 80 bushel wheat; Robt. Johnson 52½ bushel to the acre, and Johnson Bros. had a field that went 51½ bushels per.
