THE PRIDE OF HOME THE UNUSUAL REGARD in which the average family holds its home is, of course, the reflection of unusual qualities in the home itself. One owner might tell you his home is comfortable. Another that it is beautiful. A third that it is convenient. But if they all were to sum up the reasons why they value their home so highly they would probably say that the home gives a feeling of pride, self-confidence and safety. THE R. L.
