BEAVERTON FRUIT MAN ADVISES AS TO SPRAY

Campaigns Against the Codling Moth With Spray

WAY TO GET GOOD FRUIT

Every Orchardist Can Get Good Results With Proper care

Editor Argus:

The first spraying for the codling moth or worms will soon be with us again, and as I am very much interested in raising clean apples free from worms, etc., I would advise our farmers not to jump at anything that they may read in various papers, as they are sometimes misleading. Some time ago I took up a paper where it was recommended to spray for worms when the petals were three-fourths off the trees. Only recently I noticed in one of our leading dailies to spray when the petals were 90 per cent off the trees; another time a man wrote and asked if he would take water sprouts out of the trees during the Summer months if it would kill his trees. Some one that knew had told him. My answer to him was he should take everybody's advice and the first thing he knew he would have no orchard.

Now as to the first worm spray—don't spray until all of the petals have fallen, preferably when they are off the trees for about four or five days, for then the calyx cup is in the best of position to receive the poison. If the bloom is still on it is next to impossible to fill the calyx cup with poison, as this is now the object, and there will be no danger of poisoning the bees which if we did not have to carry the pollen from one flower to the other our fruit crop would not amount to very much. Now let me impress upon your mind that this is the principal worm spray. If you neglect this first spraying you will not have to bother with the other two worm sprays, as by my observation I have noticed over 80 per cent of worms get into the apple by the calyx route. They remain in the apple for about three weeks more or less, then leaving the apple and finding a protected place change into pupa and in the course of about 20 to 25 days the worm emerges as a moth, and in a few days they are beginning to lay their eggs for the second brood of worms.

For this spraying I use two (2) pounds paste Arsenate of Lead to 50 gallons of water, adding 1 1/4 gallons lime and sulphur solution. The latter is for scab and powdery mildew. If aphid are present, either green or woolly, add to the above Sulphate of Nicotine 1 part to 800 of water. These 3 combinations can be sprayed at the same time and will be effective. When some 30 years ago I started in the orchard business I was troubled with the aphid family so bad that I became discouraged to a certain extent. I tried almost everything that was recommended, but to no avail. They completely defoliated my young trees, and of course stunted the growth, when I providentially met a good preacher, and I was then indulging in a good old fashioned smoke, and he told me the horrors of the use of tobacco, and he said that it would kill anything on earth except man. Now, that was surely an inspiration—forthwith I got a sack of tobacco stems and tried it on the aphid with the result as he said—it would kill anything on earth. But I have not quit smoking.

The second worm spray I use the same as the first, omitting the Lime and Sulphur unless the mildew is prevalent. Use 1 gallon to 50 of water. This spraying should be as near as possible to June 20; the third worm spray as near to August 20 as possible; this is for the second brood of the codling moth, omitting the Lime and Sulphur solution, as it will scorch the foliage at this time. When mixing the arsenate first weigh your lead; then mix into a cream; and then if you have your spraying outfit ready, pour in the arsenate of lead. But you must not let your outfit stand as the arsenate of lead is heavy and it will settle to the bottom unless it is stirred constantly, and the last trees will get it all, while the first ones will not get it in proportion.

There are several brands of dry arsenate of lead on the market, and all of them claim that it will do the work. This may be so. Personally I would prefer the paste lead, as I have used it for many years, and my advice would be to get the paste if possible, as I am somewhat skeptical about the dry stuff.

Some FACTS About FORD

The Universal Car

Here are authentic figures from the Ford factory at Detroit. They show you just how many Ford cars and trucks have been built each month since January 1, 1921, and show how many have been sold to retail customers in the United States.

| | Produced | Delivered to Retail Customers |
|------------------|----------|-------------------------------|
| JANUARY | 29,883 | 57,208 |
| FEBRUARY | 35,305 | 63,603 |
| MARCH | 61,886 | 87,221 |
| Total Production | 127,074 | Total Retail Sales 208,032 |

showing that the actual sales for the first three months of 1921 exceeded production by 80,958 Ford cars and trucks!

April requisitions already specify 107,719 additional cars and trucks and the estimated April output of the factory and assembly plants combined calls for only 90,000!

These facts clearly show that the demand for Ford products is growing much faster than manufacturing facilities to produce and were it not for the dealers' limited stocks, which are now being rapidly depleted, many more customers would have been compelled to wait for their cars. It will be only a matter of weeks, therefore, until a big surplus of orders will prevent anything like prompt deliveries.

If you would be sure of having your Ford car or truck when you want it, you should place your order now. Don't delay. Phone us or drop us a card.
