

THE HILLSBORO ARGUS

County Official Paper

L. A. Long, Editor

Entered at the Post Office at Hillsboro, Oregon, as second class mail matter.

Subscription, $1.50 per annum.

Issued every Thursday by Mrs. E. C. McKinney and L. A. Long

The result of the recent election is a remarkable showing on mental attitude. Some counties voted a large majority for women to sit on juries, while others voted against it; nearly all the counties voted the power to the governor to exercise a veto of a part of an appropriation bill, while all counties but two were in favor of the veteran bonus and loan bill. The decided majorities in favor of the veteran bill and the veto measure indicated that people were not thoughtless in their franchise.

Ambassador Harvey has stirred political circles by his after dinner talks in John Bull's domain, and unless he puts on the brakes he is due for a calling down by the president. Mr. Harvey takes the attitude that we got into the war on an entirely selfish basis.

The Argus doffs its hat to Mr. Phelps and the mayor and council for the handsome structure in Shute Park. It is and will be a credit to the city, and surpasses any structure in a city park in the Willamette Valley.

The Oregon pioneers are in session in Portland this week. The association will find it necessary to change the date covering pioneerage, for the line of pathfinders is getting a little smaller every year.

Th. Nissen, of Scholls, was an Argus caller this morning.

The Schieffelin Lutheran Church will celebrate its annual mission festival next Sunday, at the grove of Wm. Sahn, near Schieffelin station. Services will begin at 10:30 a. m.—P. H. Schaus, pastor.

Chas. J. Herb, of near Banks, was in town the last of the week.

The U. S. flag was 127 years old yesterday—some birthday!

All kinds of fence posts.—R. L. Tucker Lumber Co. 13-16

John Mulloy, of Laurel, was a city caller Tuesday evening.

Standing clover hay in field, for sale. About 20 acres.—F. M. Crabtree, Laurel, Ore. 17

Gene Delplanche, of near Shefflin, was a city caller Monday afternoon.

C. B. Taylor, of near Roy, was in town Monday afternoon, greeting friends.

Harry C. Cline, of Laurel, was giving the county seat the once over the first of the week.

Wm. Behrmann, the Forest Grove breeder of registered Jerseys, was down to Hillsboro Monday.

W. H. McEldowney, in charge of the big Ladd & Reed farm at Reedville, was a city caller Saturday.

Sam Ornduff, of Laurel, was in town Monday. Sam says the hops are looking finer than ever this season.

Geo. Biersdorf, of North Tualatin Plains, was in Tuesday and says this season will give us the heaviest hay crop in years.

The Laurel Evangelical church will hold Children's Day exercises Sunday, June 25. All day program, with basket dinner. All are invited.

Morrow and Linn counties were the only ones in the state to return an adverse majority against the soldiers' and sailors' aid measure.

C. Schoenbachler, of below Farmington, was greeting friends in the city Friday morning. He reported considerable clover hay down in his section.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Reeves departed overland for Seaside Monday, making the trip via the Columbia River lower highway. They expect to remain at Seaside all Summer and Reeves will operate his car through the resort season.

E. P. Cornelius, secretary of the Inland Loop proposed highway, was over from North Plains, Saturday, meeting his oldtime friends.

Robt. Simpson and son and Will Jack write that they made the trip from Hillsboro to Tendo, Idaho, in seven and a half days of travel. They had fine weather all the trip and suffered but two breakdowns. They found snow in the hills around Tendo, but not enough to prevent work at their mine.

John C. Buchanan, of Forest Grove, one of the big growers of loganberries, was down to Hillsboro Monday. John was wishing for rain and says that when Washington County doesn't have some clover hay spoiled by rains we generally have a short crop of other things.

W. F. Johnson, of Forest Grove, with the municipal plant for some years, was in the city Monday. He and his wife leave this week for Michigan, for future residence. Before leaving, Mr. Johnson concluded he would visit old Hillsboro for the last time, as he once resided here.

J. W. Vandervelden, of Roy, who has devoted much time to raising good registered dairy stock, was in the city the last of the week. J. W. says it costs no more to feed a good one than it does a poor one and there's the moral.

Logan McNew, who was an inmate at the State Hospital at Salem, made his getaway one day last week. He was given the liberty of the hospital garden and took French leave. He was found the first of the week and taken back.

The music pupils of Miss Dee Darling will give an open air recital on the lawn at the Mrs. Cave home, Saturday evening, June 18.

HARMONY OF THOUGHTS IS ESSENTIAL

So Says V. I. Shepherd in His Lecture on Right Thinking.

"We recognize the importance of symmetry in architecture, of harmony in the arrangement of our offices and homes. Do we realize as keenly the necessity for symmetry in the unseen architecture of our minds and of harmony in the nature and arrangement of our thoughts?" This question V. I. Shepherd asks in his Chautauqua lecture on "The House We Live In." His subject is a big one and all important. He applies it to the everyday events of our lives and draws forth many conclusions that are new, interesting and extremely vital.

Hillsboro Chautauqua, July 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20.

Bert Fleischhauer, of near Gaston, was in the city yesterday. Bert has had his day at building rock roads and has put in many miles of macadam. He says that work is progressing rapidly on the paving of the highway between Forest Grove and Gaston.

C. F. Tigard, of Tigard, was a city caller the first of the week.
