

Lake Keechelus—in the heart of the Cascades, Washington

Through the heart of the Cascades

The Gasoline of Quality

On the motor road from Seattle to Tacoma and the East, the motorist passes through many points of unusual scenic interest.

Lake Keechelus is one of these. It is over six miles in length,—having the appearance of a great river, and is situated at an elevation of 3,000 feet in the very heart of the Cascade range.

Motorists will find this region a most enchanting country dotted with beautiful lakes and mountains and huge fir, spruce and cedar trees measuring in some instances six to eight feet in diameter.

And all along the route the motorist can get Red Crown Gasoline—the all-refinery motor fuel that insures quick starting, rapid acceleration and more power.

Look for the Red Crown sign.

RECITAL

The pupils of Miss Dee Darling gave an open air recital on the lawn at the Mrs. Cave home Saturday evening. The porch and lawn were illuminated by electricity and Chinese lanterns. The piano was on the porch in a bower of roses and pinks. The pupils flitted in and out like fairies in fairyland, each one giving their number in a very creditable manner. Those on the program were Mildred Lindholm, Esther Perkins, Esther Mincan, Leah and Vernon Turner, Goldie Reese, Irene Connell, Eva Oakes, Anna and Louise Kelly, Doris Applegate, Lucile Shirley, Mildred and Winifred Rice, Ruth and Richard Gilmore, Lelia Fuller, Geneva Erwin, Nora Gaines, Lucile Kamna, Gladys and Margaret Road, Mildred Elder, Lillian Peters, Grace Rasmussen, Elain and Mildred Giltner, Ruth Erwin, Lucile Road, Louise Marshall, Viola and Marion Hart, Darrell and Fay Jones, Reid Council, Mary Quigg, Mary Gerrish, Bertha McClaughry, Erna Pasley, Cornelia Pinkerton, Myrtle Holtz, Gertrude Steinko, Berdella Everest, Mamie D'Hondt, Cecile Johnson, Elsie Bender, Nellie Watson, Charlotte Hiltz, Rose Vandome-lon.

SCHOOL TAXES

Under the new law, effective May 25, 1921, the school boards of all school districts shall appoint three budget members to meet with them to prepare an estimate for the appropriation for the school year. No member so appointed shall draw any salary and all appointments must be freeholders. When the estimates are made then the board of six shall call a meeting and permit the voters to declare for or against the budget as prepared. The vote cannot be in excess of ten per cent of the published estimate. The budget figures must be published at least two times. The board will elect a chairman and secretary at its first meeting after appointments are made. The same law affects cities, towns, ports, union high school districts, road districts, and all boards having power to levy taxes.

STATEWIDE HUMANE WORK

The Oregon State Humane Society was one of the few organizations that received increased appropriations to carry on its work.

A new state law also requires teaching of kindness to animals in every public school of the state half an hour each week.

Influential people have been placed on the Board of Trustees who will give the organization increased power and influence in its fight against cruelty to dumb animals and children.

The new members of the board include manager W. S. Baker and Field Representative Elliott of the State Audubon Society; Mrs. Millie Trumbull, head of the Child Labor and Welfare work; W. A. Dickson, principal of one of the largest schools in Portland; County Supt. of Schools Alderson.

Hon. Wm. Hanley, of Burns, one of the biggest livestock men in the state, has become interested and will assist in extending the work of humane education in Eastern Oregon.

Those interested in enforcement of laws against cruelty or in the organization of local or branch county societies should communicate with Mrs. F. W. Stanton, Manager, Court House, Portland.—Ore. Manufacturer.

WALNUTS AND LOGANS

Ferd Groner, of Scholls, was greeting friends in town Monday. Ferd is a great believer in the future of walnuts and the loganberry in Washington County, and says that we have thousands of acres adaptable for these purposes. "The hill lands," said Mr. Groner, are especially fine for walnuts and there is no product of the orchard in greater demand. You can hardly buy good walnuts right now, and it will be several months before the new crop will be on the market. The man who has a walnut orchard in bearing has an income per acre under the lowest prices that will beat any other crop. There is room for thousands of acres of walnuts and the market can never be satisfied. The same condition prevails so far as culture is concerned in the loganberry industry. Even with the low prices of this year, the man with any kind of a bearing yard will come out ahead of the man who raises grain or hay, acre for acre, counting interest on the yard investment aside from the land. The production of walnuts and loganberries will be the salvation of the small land holder, and the sooner he recognizes it the sooner he will be on the high road to prosperity."

TEACHERS TO "SWEAR"

Effective May 25, a new law requires all school teachers entering into a contract to teach to subscribe to the following oath or affirmation:

"I solemnly swear, or affirm, that I will support the constitution of the State of Oregon . . . and the laws enacted thereunder, and that I will teach, by precept and example, respect for the flags of the United States and of the State of Oregon; . . . reverence for law and order and undivided allegiance to the government of our country, the United States of America."

The law applies to private, parochial schools, academies, colleges, universities or other institutions of learning.

MRS. HETTIE JOHNSON

Mrs. Hettie Johnson, widow of the late T. C. Johnson, died at her home in South Tualatin, Saturday, June 18, 1921, after an extended illness. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Simpson, and was born near Reedville, in 1873. Later, the family moved to South Tualatin. She was united in marriage to T. C. Johnson in 1897, the husband being engaged for years in the sawmill business. He passed away May 11, 1917. After his death Mrs. Johnson made a trip to California in quest of health and returned much improved.

Of her immediate family Mrs. Johnson is survived by two sisters and two brothers—Mrs. T. P. Bowlby, of Coaldale, Canada; Mrs. J. A. Purvis, Buhl, Idaho;

J. M. Simpson of Duchess, Alta. Canada and Frank Simpson, of South Tualatin.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon at the Limber parlors and interment was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.
