Issued every Thursday by Mrs. E. C. McKinney and L. A. Long

Oregon's prison population is on the increase and the murder rate is also on the ascendant scale. This is rocks at those who said prohibition would cut down our prison inmates, and is also a barrage to those who opined that capital punishment would lessen the murder percentage. As a matter of fact, human nature is pretty much the same under any code of legislation and thieves are thieves, drunk or sober. The man who wants to kill ever hopes to beat out the law and the rope has no more terror for him than imprisonment. Even so, capital punishment is probably the best—for society can't be worse off if it give him the quietus which means he will not leave any more of his kind.

The suit brought by the American Legion Post of Portland to ascertain the constitutionality of the bonus bill will delay the paying of the service men their adjusted compensation, or loans, but a very short time. The Post concluded that the best way was to file the suit, which would at once be certified to the supreme court, which will render a decision forthwith. This is the best way, and, meantime, the state commission taking applications will proceed with their work.

The next big event in Oregon will be the Livestock Exposition. Stockmen who visit fairs all over the United States and in Canada say that the world never sees a better exhibit of livestock than that seen in North Portland. When shipments of exhibits come from all the Pacific Coast states it means something for this section of the world produces the finest of the fine.

The Banks Hog and Dairy show opens today, and it is safe to say that it will be the best livestock exhibit ever gotten together in Washington county. All of the stock will be registered or pure bred—and the showing speaks well for Banks and community.

If there is anything finer than an Oregon Indian Summer let us name it.

John U. Smith, of near Newberg, was in town Tuesday. John is enthusiastic over the construction of a good road from Hillsboro to Bald Peak, above Laurel, and then for a continuation over to Newberg from that point. Then John wants to build a vista house over there and have people motor to the top of the hill where they can see seventeen counties in Oregon and Washington. With a glass one can see Lane. Without a glass one can see Yamhill, Benton, Lincoln, Tillamook, Linn, Marion, Clackamas, Multnomah, Washington, Columbia and Clatsop, Hood and Wasco, in Oregon; Skamania, Clark and Cowlitz, in Washington state. John U. wants to have a big picnic up there in the not distant future and invite out a lot of Portland motorists so the drive and house can be under way and finished by the time of the 1925 fair.

For Sale—Cedar posts. Two miles north of North Plains, on good road.—Alfred Simmons, Banks, Route 3. 81-83

Some thief stole Carlton Hande's bicycle at the public school building last Friday, and it was located yesterday in a pawnshop in Portland, where the thief had "hooked" it for five dollars. Who ever stole the bike had company, for another was missing from the school grounds at the same time. The Hande bicycle was a Dayton wheel and was brand new.

Free Methodist church, John G. Hessler, pastor—Quarterly meeting services will be held over the following Sunday, Rev. W. T. Klotzback having charge. Services Friday and Saturday nights at 7:30. Sunday services at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Love feast at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 10 a. m. All are welcome.

Mrs. Nellie Hoard and family have moved to Portland for the winter, and her daughter, Alice, is attending Lincoln High and the Girls' Polytechnic School. Mrs. Hoard's mother, Mrs. Sarah Bagley will make her home with them in Portland.

Wild geese must have changed their routing to the south the past two years. Sam Stephens has kept his ears tuned to hear the cry of the brants, but nary a cry has he heard. And Sam always hears them when they pass, night or day.

F. L. Pranger, of Pranger & Co., Wilbur Dillon, of the Cady Garage, and W. Sohler, hunting near Creswell, had pretty fair luck the first of the week, and shipped two fine bucks up to Hillsboro. They are expected home today or tomorrow.

Lost—English female setter, white and yellow spotted; about 7 months old. Owner will pay reward.—Notify Mr. Long, of the Argus. 82

Andrew Heckmann, of beyond Bethany, was in the city Tuesday afternoon, shaking hands with his county seat friends—and Andrew has not a few of them.

Guy Weisenback, of North Plains, was in the city the last of the week.

WOODEN WEDDING

Seventy-five invitations were issued for the wooden wedding celebration which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Flint, at Scholls, Friday evening, September 30. The beautiful home was artistically decorated in autumn leaves and blue birds. Guests arrived in a subdued light furnished by Copenhagen blue candles set in unique candle holders made of vine maple boughs. Huge wooden bowls of grapes and apples added a touch of autumn to the scene. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Flint, Mrs. J. E. Bennett, Mrs. Erwin, of Hillsboro, and Misses Olive and Bess Bennett.

A simple ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Coleman, the bride and groom marching in to the strains of the bridal march from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Lester Campbell. After the ceremony the guests offered congratulations, after which Miss Bess Bennett sang "I Love You Truly"

A very unique and original idea was carried out in serving the refreshments. Guests were supplied with a wooden shingle for a tray and filed through the kitchen where sandwiches, salads, cake, punch and ice cream were served. Wooden knives and forks were used and carried home as souvenirs of a very happy evening. A humorous event of the evening was enjoyed by all when the bride vainly attempted to cut a wooden cake supplied by Mrs. W. G. Hesse.

A varied program entertained the guests until a late hour: Bert Rowell sang several solos, Mrs. Ida Kays read very effectively an original poem written for the occasion, and Mrs. V. L. Bogard gave an original talk on "Anniversaries."

A handsome oak rocker was presented to the bride and groom by a number of guests, and many other smaller, but very useful and acceptable gifts were received.

It was unanimously voted by the guests that Mr. and Mrs. Flint are royal entertainers, and that their wedding celebration was one of the big social successes of the season in Scholls.
