Issued every Thursday by Mrs. E. C. McKinney and L. A. Long

Ireland is to be a nation on the same footing with Canada and Australia, England and the Irish committee having agreed. It now remains to be seen whether the Irish parliament will ratify the work of its conferees. The matter of Ulster is left open and a boundary commission will define the lines in case the new agreement is ratified.

A few more days and the Oregon legislature will be on the front page.

CIRCUIT COURT

The case of Wm. Busby vs. M. L. Swift, suit for damages for alleged malicious prosecution, was ended the first of the week, when the jury brought in a verdict for the defendant. Swift had sued Busby for trespass and a warrant was issued and the case dismissed in circuit court. Busby thereupon sued for damages, punitive and otherwise. The following jury decided the case—J. H. Morrisey, H. Kamna, W. A. Chalmers, A. C. Mulloy, S. T. Walters, J. T. York, Wm. Hieckthier, Carl Eggiman, E. Schaefer, John Boge, Tennis Pyl, A. Schindler.

The case of Maude Shipman vs. John Hulsman, suit for possession and to decide ownership of auto claimed by plaintiff, ended today and the jury will report this afternoon. The jury—J. T. York, E. Schaefer, John Boge, S. T. Walters, Wm. Hieckthier, J. H. Brokaw, C. F. Tigard, C. B. Anderson, Carl Eggiman, C. Schindler, H. Kamna and Tennis Pyl.

Lampson and Cooper, charged with robbing Geo. Klein, at Beaverton, a few weeks ago, pleaded guilty and will be sentenced Saturday morning. They will receive their sentences Saturday. Lampson and Cooper followed Klein out from Portland, knowing he had money belonging to the Standard Oil station in Portland, and when he parked his car, sand-bagged and robbed him.

U. OF O.

Nine different courses are being taken by the fifteen students registered this year at the University of Oregon from Hillsboro. Chas. B. Buchanan is a sophomore in business administration; Arthur C. Shute is a freshman in business administration; Olive Gates, Margaret C. Duerner and Belle Taggart are freshmen in physical education; Violet Webber is a freshman in journalism; Charles O. Wells is a freshman in zoology; Francis W. Linklater is a junior in zoology; Ethel E. Johnson is a freshman in fine arts; Verena V. Shute is a sophomore in drama and the speech arts; John Diersdorff is a senior in journalism; Clifton S. Bagley is a sophomore in pre-engineering; Florence M. Garrett is a junior in music; Leo Goar is a sophomore in economics; Herbert E. Scheidt is a junior in economics.—Powers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervine Burkhalter, of South Tualatin, were city callers the last of the week. Ervine's chicken house, sixty by twenty feet, was lifted clear from its foundation last week, during the heavy wind of Thursday, and was set over a few feet from its supports. The structure was let down as mechanical as the workmen had located it, and as if it had been placed to measurements.

Dr. L. W. Hyde, state commander of the Oregon Spanish War Veterans, visited Salem Monday night, and was the guest of the local post in the capital city. Dr. Hyde delivered one of his characteristic addresses at the meeting, which was open session. While at Salem he met W. S. Atchison, a former Hillsborolite, now residing at Albany.

M. E. Church, W. Edwin Ingalls, pastor—Sunday School at 9:45; public service at 11 a. m.; Senior and Junior Epworth Leagues at 6:30; evening worship at 7:30. Subject for morning, "A Devoted Service." For the evening, "The Wise Ones." This is an invitation to you to attend services at the Church of the Cordial Welcome.

John Becker again has his willoware factory going and has two men in his employ. John makes a pretty good hand at the trade himself, and his quarters are very comfortable. He has equipped a building to the rear of his home, on Baseline, at Sixth, and is turning out some classy furniture.

John Brown, of above Manning, was in town Monday, enroute to the Dairy League meeting in Portland, Tuesday.
