TAX MEETING

A meeting of the Tax Reduction Club was held in the court house last Saturday with a fairly good attendance. There was a discussion by several as to getting the farmers interested in organization so that they could be a unit in the reduction of taxation. Addresses were made by J. Cal Cooper, of McMinnville, and J. M. Vanderzanden, of Roy. Senator Hare was asked to say a few words and he responded by saying that tax reduction was a necessary thing, and he hoped the club would proceed with energy. When asked if the two universities could get along with less money the senator said most assuredly they could.

On March 20, there will be a big state convention in Portland and at that time it is expected that a plan for cutting down state expenditures would be promulgated.

STIRRING LIFE IS CALLED 'HUM-DRUM'

Oregon Woman Fights Typhoid, Saves 1000 Children and Runs Special Trains.

"My life has been so hum-drum and as nothing has happened to me out of the ordinary I am sure there is nothing in what I have done the last two years in the Near East that would be of interest to my Oregon friends," stated Mrs. Amy Anthony Burt of Bond, Oregon, to J. J. Handsaker, State Director of the Near East Relief when he met her in Constantinople last summer.

"After much effort," says Mr. Handsaker, "I persuaded her to tell me some of the things of this hum-drum life of hers. Sitting in a Constantinople coffee-house she told me of some of the events of her life since March 1919, when she arrived in the Near East."

"Her first work was at Karakias, where with her sister, Miss Gertrude Anthony, she had charge of a large orphanage and a territory 75 miles square for general relief. During the time she was there she nursed her sister through both typhoid and typhus. The two women were alone in this station.

"After going through this experience they went to Alexandropol and there one day received a message from the English that they were evacuating Baku, some 300 miles away. The British had been feeding about 1,000 children, and unless they were transferred immediately they would starve as soon as the British left. This Oregon woman whose life was so hum-drum quietly secured two special trains, putting a man in charge of one, and taking the other herself. On arriving at Baku, she began loading the children at 10 o'clock a. m. and had the children and their supplies all aboard by 3:30 p. m. She read the riot act to the Turkish captain in charge of the train and he compelled the guards to cease attempting to enter the cars where the older girls and women were. The round trip took nearly two weeks, but Mrs. Burt returned to Alexandropol with her two train loads of children without having lost a single child.

LIFE OR DEATH?

Lives of 2500 Children at Stake in Question Asked Oregon Man Last Summer.

A question which is still haunting State Director J. J. Handsaker of the Near East Relief, was put to him by Mrs. Jeanette W. Emrich when he was in Constantinople late last summer. Mrs. Emrich is well known in Oregon through her talks on conditions in the Near East four years ago, when she spoke in the 1918 campaign. "Mrs. Emrich is now in charge of extensive Near East Relief work at Constantinople, her duties including the management of several industrial units, a number of soup kitchens, and a feeding station for 5,000 children," said Mr. Handsaker. "She is one of the most energetic, efficient and devoted workers on the Near East staff, and has borne up wonderfully under a suspension of heavy personal grief. Her husband died when heading a relief expedition in Aleppo shortly after the signing of the armistice, and one of her little boys died suddenly just one week after my first conversation with her. . . . When I saw her, her heart was heavy because of her inability to give the children under her care enough food to keep them in normal health and strength. In great agony of soul she discussed with me whether she should continue feeding her 5,000 children as she was doing, or whether it would be better for the future of the race to double the allowances of food for each child and cut the number of children in half. The latter plan, of course, would mean the abandonment of 2,500 helpless little boys and girls to the stark fate of starvation, and the giving of their food to the other 2,500 children. In order that the smaller group might be brought to normal maturity, within a week after she asked me this question, her own little boy was stricken and died. One week after the lad was buried, I returned to Constantinople, from the interior, to find Mrs. Emrich again at her post, with the ante-room of her office filled with widows and orphans to whom she was giving careful sympathetic attention."

MRS. JEANETTE W. EMRICH

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to extend our sincere thanks to all who so kindly tendered aid and sympathy during our bereavement, the death and obsequies of the late Ada Schmeltzer and return special thanks for the beautiful floral tributes.

The Family.

ADA MAY SCHMELTZER

Miss Ada May Schmeltzer died in Portland, February 21, 1922, a sufferer from tuberculosis. She was born on Chehalum Mountain, March 28, 1882 and for many years has followed the vocation of professional nurse. She suffered attacks of influenza in 1918 and 1919 and the malady left her in a weakened condition, tuberculosis following. At death she was aged 39 years, 11 months and 5 days.

At the age of 20 years she joined the Evangelical church and has been a member since that date. She is survived by the following sisters and brothers, Mrs. Cora Metzantine, wife of H. Metzantine, of below Beaverton; John Schmeltzer of Scholls; Frank Schmeltzer of The Dalles; and a half brother, R. C. Schmeltzer, of Hillsboro, now in Southern Oregon.

The funeral took place Thursday and interment was in the Chehalum Mountain cemetery.

SELECT YOUR EGGS

A small egg hatched may produce a large pullet but she in turn may lay nothing but small eggs. Select the two ounce eggs for hatching, as that is the size the market demands.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

Warm weather of spring is bringing out the squirrels and field mice and they are beginning to damage young orchard trees already. These rodents should be poisoned without delay as every one killed now is equivalent to a dozen or more later in the season. If necessary the state law should be invoked to compel neighbors to help rid the community of these pests.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

Spring applications of lime should be made as soon as the soil is dry enough to crumble and disperse it through the soil. The plowing. On land that is drained or on hill land where legumes are to be grown, one to two tons per acre should be applied, depending on the degree of acidity.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

Harry A. Bissner, who was with the flying corps in the war, was over from Vancouver, Wash. Monday morning, on business connected with his honors from the state. Bissner lived over in the South Tualatin country for about eight years prior to entering the service. He was with the flying unit in England for a long time before going across and when he was mustered out he worked for an airplane concern in Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Waller and son Chas. August, departed the first of the week for their home near Nashville, Tenn., after a year's visit with Mrs. Waller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Tews. Before going Mr. Waller ordered the Argus sent to his address. They have many friends here who regret their departure.
