Bringing Down Grocery Prices

It is interesting to note the decided reduction in grocery prices when we establish one of our stores in a community. The local merchant is at a loss to figure out how we can sell so reasonable, and immediately cuts his prices to try and meet ours. He learns very quickly that his small buying power prohibits him from continuing, so he resorts to the old method of giving SPECIALS (Bait) for the Day or Week on a few articles. We price our entire stock consistent with cost. This modern method of serving the public has gained for us thousands of Satisfied Customers in our many stores, and allowed us to grow to the Largest Retail Grocery Organization in the Northwest.
