

ERNEST STEWART IS GIVEN A PAROLE

Judge Tucker, of Multnomah Circuit Court, Gives Him Chance

SPENT NOTHING ON SELF

Says He Took Money to Provide for Family and Child who was ill

Ernest Stewart, accused of embezzling $3,400 from the United States National Bank, pleaded guilty Tuesday before Judge Tucker, of Multnomah Circuit Court, and was sentenced to a term of five years in the penitentiary. Upon the recommendation of Deputy District Attorney Hammersley, however, Stewart was paroled during good behavior.

Stewart was a note teller in the bank and for several years had been taking small sums of money, deftly covering the deficits. Last Fall the bank concluded to place Stewart in another position and he demurred, exciting more or less suspicion. It was discovered that his peculations had extended over a long period. He finally admitted the offenses and the company which protected the bank with a fidelity bond made good the amounts taken.

Stewart at first pleaded not guilty when taken into court, but Tuesday changed his plea and said he was ready to receive sentence.

The district attorney's office asked for leniency owing to the fact that Stewart spent no money on himself, had lived an orderly life, and had used the money for purposes, only, of providing for the family and giving one of the children medical attention.

Stewart said he had always intended paying the money back, but found that impossible with the mounting costs of living.

Ernest Stewart was born in Hillsboro and grew to manhood here. He was exemplary in every respect and after leaving school secured a position with the Portland Gas & Coke Co., where his fidelity to his employers won him respect and admiration. He then secured a position with a Portland bank and later went into the U. S. National.

His devotion to his wife and children and denial where his personal wishes were involved, led the court to give Stewart another chance. Aside from this one charge Stewart has never been implicated in any act of dishonesty.

LADIES DECLINE TO SERVE ON JURY

Season of Year is Busy for Housewives as Well as for Men

COURT OPENED MONDAY

Six Jurors Absent From County; 8 Women Refuse; 10 Men Drawn

Circuit court opened Monday morning with Judge Geo. R. Bagley on the bench. The jury panel was all in a mix up and because of the declination of six women to serve, the sheriff was directed the last of the week to summons ten additional men on the jury venire. Six jurors were found to have moved from the county so the original list was reduced.

Those failing to report were—J. L. Hardy, Beaverton, for four years residing in Seattle; John Downey, Gaston, moved away; Clara L. Cox, of Aloha, now in Chicago; Ben E. Layton, Mountaineer, now in Maxwell, Nebraska; Paul Abraham, of Forest Grove, now in Seattle, and Miss Clara Flood, of Sherwood, R. 1, now at Hoquiam, Wash.

The following were excused until September 1, owing to rush of farm and other work—John H. Litton, Tigard; J. I. Prickett, of Banks; Wm. Hardebeck, Gaston; Fred H. Bowlby, of South Tualatin; E. H. Ahlgren, Forest Grove, and J. H. Hoffman, of Chehalum Mountain.

The ladies who declined to serve as jurors, taking advantage of their choice, are Marjorie Forbes, Dilley; Ethel Fleck, Forest Grove; Eva G. R. Hyde, of Hillsboro; Gladys Saylor, Sherwood; Gertrude Hoffman, Tigard; and Zola Welch Morgan, Hillsboro. This declination will mean that the July term of court will wrestle along without a woman on the trial jury unless on special summons.

This situation leaves the following jurors on the panel for the present—

Ralph Withycombe, of South Tualatin; John Peters, Verboort; J. T. Anderson, Hillsboro, R. 2; Fred Pfaffle, Hillsdale; A. Dougherty, Beaverton, R. 3, near Huber; E. E. Jones, Gales Creek; E. B. Catehing, Forest Grove; Chas. Sears, Forest Grove; Robt. Niles, barber, Hillsboro; Fred Rood, of Hillsboro; J. A. Rowell (Bert) of Scholls; R. H. Jenkins, Beaverton, R. 3, at Hazeldale; Chester Barr, Hillsboro; H. B. Matteson, Gaston; J. B. Cummings, Buxton; Orton McLeod, who is gone from county, Beaverton; Frank Heesacker, Forest Grove, R. 2; J. H. White, Gaston; W. E. Reynolds, Buxton; B. A. Barber, Hillsboro; C. B. Kelsey, Forest Grove; J. A. Kirkwood, Reedville.

Two or three of the above failed to report in court early in the week, but came up later.

Owing to the fact that the jury list was reduced by excuses, the old grand jury was continued and will investigate crime. They are Frank Imbrie, Joshua J. Adkins, W. J. Meats, John I. Marsh, Chas. E. Reiling, Martin VanMeter and Chas. M. Stites.

A. Benz, Owner. Wismer & Haase, Auctioneers.

At the present time our own laws give all the advantage to our foreign ship competitors. When one argues against the Ship Subsidy act on the ground that Americans should be smart enough to shift for themselves, he should at the same time be consistent and advocate the repeal of our legislation which prevents Americans from shifting for themselves.—Ore. Manufacturer.

For Sale—A Jones hayrake, in good condition, $9.00.—E. L. Koch, Firdale district. 19

Theo. Johnson, one of the men who pleaded guilty to robbing Conzelmann, at the Conzelmann mill, near Sherwood, last year, is in the toils again. Johnson was given ten years' sentence to the penitentiary, and paroled during good behavior. His wife appeared here a few days ago and told the court that young Johnson, who is around 21 years of age, would not get out and work, but wished to lay around and ignore providing for the family later.

One of the conditions of the parole was that he was to remain at work and take care of those who are dependent on him for a living. Judge Bagley, after looking into the matter, decided to issue a bench warrant, and unless Johnson can show a good and valid reason why the "hook worm" has him in its coils and why he can't sidestep the lazy bug, will have to surrender his liberty and go to Salem for future residence.

Fire-proof paint on your roof is a great fire preventative. This has been demonstrated in various fires. Have your roof painted now, before the dry season advances too far. See me for particulars. We can sell you paint and you can paint it yourself, or we will contract to put on the paint for you. A great fire and weather proof paint.—C. J. Birdsell, 1246 Baseline St., Hillsboro. The Civil Service Commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Portland, Oregon, and other cities throughout the United States, for computer, Coast and Geodetic Survey; law clerk and typist, Bureau of Naturalization, Department of Labor; laborator (chemical, physical, engineering) Departmental and Field Services; assistant observer in meteorology, Weather Bureau; radio inspector, Bureau of Navigation, Department of Commerce, applicants were not secured in the number desired, and that these examinations will be held again. The law clerk and typist, and the radio inspector examinations will be held on July 19; the others on August 9. Persons interested in these or other examinations should apply to the Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board at the local post office for detailed information and application blanks.

When in need of a monument, marker, or posts, or cemetery work of any nature, whether purchased by yourself or thru the Woodmen, or any lodge, it will be to your interest to consult Lewis & Co., as they will give you a better price for the money anywhere else—in fact they can save you considerable on any purchase. 21-1f

Robt. B. Churchill, of Gales Creek, and Louise M. Bateman, of the same section, journeyed to Vancouver, Wash., last week, and swore out a marriage license. Before they were married, however, a wire from the parents of the prospective bride, stopped the ceremony and the young people were taken in charge by officers pending the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Bateman. They claimed the girl was but 16 years of age, instead of 18, as represented by the party who swore to her age in order to procure the license.

For Sale—Round Silo, 9x28, Indiana style, cable stays, patent doors, fancy top. Will sell very cheap or will trade for anything I can use.—J. A. Hobbs, Cornelius, Ore., R. 1. Two miles west of Hillsboro on Baseline. Phone, East 3, Cornelius central. 19

Chas. Epler, of above Blooming, found a bug in his vineyard the other day that is more or less of a curiosity. In the night the little chap carries his own electric light plant, so that he feeds as well during darkness as during the daylight. At first it was thought that he was an old time Eastern lightning bug, but on close examination, he was pronounced a second cousin only. His bugship emits an illumination not unlike that of a glow-worm.

Wanted—Any large breed or a mixture of large breeds, young cockerels. Would like to buy as soon as sex is determined. Also old hens, at live weight price.—Mrs. Harry McLaughlan, Hillsboro, Ore. 17-19

The Pioneer Express, of Pembina, North Dakota, chronicles the visit of W. H. Connell, formerly of Hillsboro, now a resident of Portland. Mr. Connell is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Dawson McCaffery, and from that point, goes to Ontario, Canada. W. H. carried the gospel of old Oregon back to the Dakotas and tells the Express that the coast state is all there when it comes to climate and production.

RAY-MAILING PLANT IS BIG THING FOR CITY

Nearly Three Hundred People Employed at Local Cannery

RUNNING ON THREE SHIFTS

Now on Logans and Cherries, Red and Black Cap Raspberries

The value of the Ray-Maling cannery to Hillsboro and vicinity is attested by the fact that yesterday 297 people were in employment at and around the cannery. These employees are working over-time, due to the fact that the output is the largest in the history of the plant. Sixty tons of Logans daily is some product, and the cannery is taking care of Logans from Gresham and other outside points as well as the local product. Other fruits under process are daily 12 tons of red raspberries; 10 tons of black caps—Gresham, Newberg and local yards furnishing the output. Scholls showing strong. Royal Ann cherries are coming in ten tons daily from local and up state, and five tons each day arrive from Gresham.

Employment of so many people naturally is a big help to local people, to business men and to the community, and those who cheerfully contributed to the location of the plant in Hillsboro are not grief-stricken over their public spirit.

The plant has so systematized its work that there has been a loss only of 100 lbs. of red raspberries—think of it!

As soon as the Logans and raspberries, cherries, etc., are are out of season the plant will start on blackberries—Himalayas, Lawtons and Evergreens, and at the same time handle the bean crop, which will represent perhaps 150 tons. Seventy-five acres have been pledged and are maturing and this run will soon start.

Late in August the pears will start coming in and canning will continue until October 31 or after. The manager expects to put up 200 tons of Italian prunes and 600 tons of squash and pumpkin is the estimate of the stock.

Last Saturday night there were 9,000 crates on the platform and the cannery went to the expense of shipping in a lot of clean barrels in order to release the receptacles to the growers.

Owing to ordering cans ahead of operation, Mr. Maling has been in a position to can everything coming to the doors—a condition that does not obtain in many canneries in the northwest. Foresight of this kind has meant much to the local growers and much to the plant. Mr. Maling says that the local crop will get first attention and there will be nothing go to waste for lack of market.

A. N. Magner, with the U. S. Navy recruiting department, was in the city Monday, looking after recruits for the navy. He had his headquarters in Dr. Dinsmore's office, and states that he will make Hillsboro each month in quest of those who want to serve Uncle Sam and at the same time see something of the world.

Andrew Heckmann, of Bethany, yesterday morning brot to the Argus office some of the finest samples of Lambert, Bing and Glass cherries seen this season. All of them were large and "meaty," and the Glass has the Royal Ann backed off the board with per cent of sugar and in flavor. This is a new cherry, and has not long been propagated.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Nesbit were in the city the last of the week. "Scotty," who travels for Blake McFall Co., wholesale paper, was making his last trip thru the county, preparatory to leaving for California for a vacation, leaving Tuesday morning. He and Mrs. Nesbit will make the trip overland and be absent several weeks.

Andy Wann, better known as "Tot," was over from Wheeler the last of the week, returning to the sawmill town Monday morning. He says the Wheeler sawmill will be running full blast again this week, after a shut-down for repairs over the Fourth. This is one of the big mills of that section and it employs a large number of men. Wm. Wienecke is employed at the mill, along with Wann.
