

McKINNEY WINS FIRST

A. C. Corvallis, August 2.— W. Verne McKinney, of Hillsboro, won first place in a summer session industrial news writing contest for students taking practical work. Lucile Helmer, of Portland, was second. Miss Helmer handled "Farm Pointers That Count," which gave timely suggestions much appreciated by far west of Oregon. Olive S. Dexter, of Hamilton, Wash., who wrote articles on the work of the extension service, placed third. Dwight T. Mallory, of Corvallis, headed the list in contest for students taking class work only, with John M. Beattie, of Corvallis, second. Francis W. Kerr, of Corvallis, Robert Mahan, of Corvallis, and Johnson J. Sturgill, of Philomath, were given honorable mention.
Part of the work of the students was to put out the Summer Session News, a four-page paper issued weekly. Some of the students were responsible for the "Type House," a pink fun sheet issued for the special benefit of the visiting editors at the meeting of the Oregon Editorial Association.
Students in the department of diplomatic journalism majoring in other branches learn to write articles on technical subjects in a manner which popularizes them to the reading public, and thus farmers are given the benefit of results of experimental work of the college.

A DODGE FILM

There are one or two incidents in the life of nearly all automobiles that the owner likes to tell about —being pulled out of a sea of mud by a team of mules, or perhaps, finding the bridge out and being compelled to ford the river.
There is a new motion picture, "Endurance," which contains enough topics of this nature to keep an entire automobile club supplied with motor talk for a month. The film has been obtained by the Liberty Theatre, and will be seen August 3, 4 and 5.
Owners of Dodge Brothers cars and others interested in an unusual record of performance will be welcomed.
The film was made in the heart of the oil field district. It was suggested by the fact that oil companies generally are standardizing on Dodge Brothers motor cars on account of their special ability to meet the unusual strain of oil field service.
In the picture, attention is centered on a standard Dodge Brothers' sedan. On account of its smart appearance it looks decidedly out of place, of course, in the rough, muddy oil country, but it proves beyond all doubt that it is fully equal to the task. In one scene the car is deliberately upset and then turned upside down, apparently just to demonstrate that the fine type of closed car can withstand as much rough usage as the open car.
On the whole the film may be considered even superior to the famous "Death Valley Dodge," which became so popular among motorists all over the country a few years ago.

J. C. Schulmerich, of Banks, was down to the city yesterday, on business connected with the school superintendent's office.

Joe is getting ready to confer with some of the old volunteer firemen of the county seat and set a date for a reunion of all the old boys who fought fire here thirty years or more ago. Joe has just completed a $4000 dairy barn on his ranch adjoining Banks. It has a full cement floor and foundation and has cement mangers and steel stalls, and 40,000 feet of lumber was used in construction.
Schulmerich says that after all, dairying is the surest industry to follow.
For Sale—Horse, 1200 lbs., goes for $50; good work animal; fine saddle; nearly new tripod mirror oak dressing table and chair; oak chair, leather mounted; Ivory Simmon's bed; white

Lord, can be seen at J. P. Meurer place, Hillsboro, R. 4. Two miles east of Orenco. 22-24 Hillsboro Camp of Modern Woodmen, the baby camp of Oregon, adopted a class of seven candidates last Friday evening.
The officers and team of Rose City Camp put on the work, which was much enjoyed. A sumptuous repast of "Hot Canines" and coffee was served. Among the notables who addressed the meeting were State Deputy F. B.
Curry, District Deputy J. S.
Smith, Consul Smith and Clerk Simmons, of Rose City Camp.
The motto adopted by the meeting was "Do it Again."—Cor.

PRUNE NEWS

A partial closing of the 1921 prune pool and the mailing of checks to its 1300 prune grower members, totaling over $91,000, was announced early this week by the Oregon Growers' Cooperative Association. This will be followed by another, and final payment immediately with the disposal of a small quantity of the larger size which have been held for higher prices. The supply of the larger prunes is limited and with a large crop coming on with little prospect for large size prunes, it is believed the unsold supply will return very satisfactory prices.
Prune harvest prices have been set by the Association as follows: Picking, 8c per bushel, if the pickers work throughout the season; otherwise the price will be 6c; drier help and other labor, $3.00 per day, and kiln men, $5.

CLUB DEMONSTRATION

On Friday, July 23, the Girls' Sewing Club of the Hillsdale district met with their local leader, Miss Katie Lehman, for the purpose of giving a sewing demonstration. A number of parents attended to see the work which their girls had so successfully completed. Miss Calkins, county leader, gave an interesting talk on some of her experiences with club workers.
The club will put their articles on exhibit at the county fair next month.
The parents present were Mrs.
O. P. S. Plummer, Mrs. H. Povey, Mrs. M. Frutiger, Mrs. Nelson, Flink and Mrs. F. Hall.

DOES ALFALFA PAY?

Does alfalfa pay? This question is best answered by S. Hyre, of Newton, whose exhibit is in the Argus window. Alfalfa seeded May 21, of this year, was cut August 1 and was two feet high.
Another field, seeded two years ago, has had its third cutting this season, and the last harvest stood 31 inches tall. It has already yielded five tons per acre for the season, and Hyre will get another cut and probably two. Mr. Hyre has demonstrated that dry farming pays in raising alfalfa in Washington county.
