THE HILLSBORO ARGUS

County Official Paper

L. A. Long, Editor

Subscription, $1.50 per annum.

Issued every Thursday by Mrs. E. C. McKinney and L. A. Long

Entered at the Post Office at Hillsboro, Oregon, as second-class mail matter.

California does some queer voting. Hiram Johnson retains his seat in the Senate by a reduced majority, while Gov. Stephens, who was the real head of the Johnson movement in California, is reduced to the ranks, losing out in his attempt to succeed himself. Hearst's support of Johnson is supposed to have been a factor in defeating Moore, Johnson's opponent. California is proud of Johnson for the noise he has made in his career and for his fight against the Japanese.

With an auto stage running clear from Chicago to San Francisco it begins to look as though the railroad problem will solve itself some of these days—for this is the gasoline age.

No independent candidate is yet announced for governor, and it begins to look as though it is to be fought out by Ben and Walter.

Jos. Cawse, of Shelton, was in town yesterday.

Henry Kamna, of Blooming, was a Hillsboro caller Tuesday.

Let Andy fix your watch. He knows how.—J. L. Anderson, 1147 Second St., Hillsboro.

Alfred Heywood, of West Base, was a Hillsboro visitor Wednesday.

Henry David, who has a fine prune orchard above Forest Grove, was a city caller Wednesday.

Miss Dee Darling, accredited teacher of music. Studio at residence of Mrs. Cove, Washington St., at Fourth.

Miss Elsie Bendler departed today for Portland, where she will attend Behnke-Walker Business College this winter.

For Sale—Gentle work mare; single or double; top buggy and harness. Cheap. Inquire at the Orenco Hotel, Orenco.

For Sale—Modern, five-room bungalow, with full basement. Choice location. Price reasonable. 902 West Main St. Phone 2563.

For Sale—Five months' old colt; good size for age. Sired by Merrill & Clark horse. Will take $50 for him—a dandy colt.—Jas. London, Cornelius, R. 2.

OF COURSE IT PAYS

A. G. Jennings, of Sewell Acres, northeast of the city, started to harvest his horse-radish crop the other day, and when he had dug one hill, after cleaning and scraping the vegetable, he had four pounds. The rest of his crop will average the same. This would mean some money in an acre of horse-radish—4500 hills to the acre, planted 3 feet each way. Horse-radish always bears a good price, and there are several men in the county who have made a fortune out of its culture.

AUTO BURNS

L. J. Rushlow, local agent for the Phoenix Assurance Co., has received notice of adjustment of a fire loss, August 22, when W. L. Susbauer's automobile burned in the Susbauer place, a mile and half north of Cornelius. Payment was made in full of the policy of $500, and the check has already been received by the policy holder. A motorcycle belonging to Geo. Susbauer also burned at the same time. This was the motorcycle George was riding last Spring when he injured his foot. There was no insurance on the cycle.

TO HELP VETERANS

Plans to give disabled war veterans of this district, taking training on their own land projects, special Winter courses at state agricultural schools of Washington, Oregon and Idaho, were formulated last week at a conference of United States Veterans' Bureau agricultural supervisors held in Seattle. A total of 230 service men receive $80 to $135 a month each, while establishing themselves on small land projects, and 500 others are taking agriculture along various lines.

The training supervisors of the northwest district also recommended that war veterans carry on diversified farming rather than to specialize in the production of one thing on the grounds that it is more profitable and a safer investment. The veteran should have at least $500 cash before taking up land for himself, it was voted. Announcement was made that the project trainees are paying approximately half of their government compensation toward land purchase.—U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Seattle, Wash.

Frank Meacham, of Banks, and Albert Stevens, a little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Stevens, of Laurel, were operated on for removal of tonsils, by Dr. E. H. Smith, the past week.

A. E. Willis, of above Mountindale, starts picking his 12-acre hop yard on Sept. 5. Register with him at once. Crew picking his yard will not help harvest his Aurora yard, contrary to mistaken idea.

Henry Hesse, ex-county commissioner, and his brother, L. M., were up from Scholls yesterday. Henry says that threshing was practically completed down his way the first of the week, excepting a few very late Spring sowings.

For Rent—Twenty acres; 17 in cultivation; 6 acres in spuds; 3 in squash; good house and barn; orchard; farm implements, etc. Will rent to Oct. 1, 1923, including this year's crop for $300.—C. Sorensen, two miles south of Reedville.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schulmerich and daughter, Marjorie, departed this afternoon for LaGrande, where George will take in the D. O. K. K. convention. They make the trip via train, their tickets covering sleeping and dining accommodations during the convention.

The regular meeting of the Farmington Welfare Club was held on the Christian church lawn at Farmington, the 17th inst. Members of the club assisted Mrs. Hart in entertaining, as the members of the Ladies' Aid were guests. Twenty members responded to the roll call and ten visitors were in attendance. Mrs. Lindow was the prize winner in the "elephant" contest. In the abbreviation contest, Mrs. Edgar Rehse and Mrs. Weston shared equally, but in "catching off the ties," Mrs. Weston was the winner. At five o'clock a three-course luncheon was served. The club will next meet with Mrs. O. M. Heaton, on Thursday, Sept. 21.—Cor. Sec.

Jos. Truttman Jr., who lived here years ago, when his father was conducting the Main St. bakery, arrived here this week, and was the guest of Emil Kuratli. Mr. Truttman returned from Switzerland three years ago and has been in California. He states that his folks are still in Canton Uri, Switzerland, and that his father is now retired and living from his income. He says that when in Switzerland he saw the late Jos. Meier, who died there some time ago.

Dan Emrick has a curio in the way of a mammoth cucumber, which grew inside a bottle. The creeper entered the neck of the bottle, bloomed, and then grew the colic fruit. As the cucumber had its own hothouse it thrived until it entirely filled the bottle and then had to take a vacation. D. B. says the vine found its way into the bottle, there being no attempt to train it.

Miss Julia Hatch, who has been in the missionary field in Siam, has returned to Gaston, and is the guest of her brother. She has been teaching at Chiang Mai, and saw the first train pull into the mission in January. On a former trip to Siam, Miss Hatch made the trip into the interior with an elephant as the Pullman car.

Mrs. G. C. Reiter returned yesterday from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Case, at Tillamook.

The circuit court jurors will report at Hillsboro, Sept. 5, in continuation of the July term.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schulmerich and son visited with relatives at Banks, Sunday.
