GROUCHINESS CAUSED BY EYESTRAIN

If you are nervous, feel out of sorts, have headache, or grouch—the chances are you are suffering from eyestrain. The words, when reading, will sometimes blur or run together, a dull headache often comes on or after reading or sewing or doing any kind of close work.

MASONIC TEMPLE IS NOW COMPLETED

Lodge Will Meet in New Home First Time This Saturday Evening

CITY'S FINEST LODGE HALL

Construction Substantial and Interior is DeLuxe Finish

Tuality Lodge A. F. & A. M. will this coming Saturday evening meet for the first time in the new temple at the corner of Second and Lincoln streets, the contractors, Messrs. Tranchell & Paribus, of Portland, having been engaged in putting the finishing touches on the structure this week.

The entrance is on Second St. and the lobby has a cement floor with the grand staircase leading to the upper story. To the left of the lobby is the library, which is finely furnished, having a fireplace. The furniture is willow with chairs and divan, upholstered. The Willowcraft turned out the work—the Willowcraft is another home industry.

To the east of the hall and library is the dining and ballroom, with dimensions of 40 feet and 4 inches by 64 feet, with a maple floor, of spring construction. In the rear are the kitchen, ladies' comfort room and gentlemen's lavatory.

The basement contains the heating apparatus and store room.

On the lodge room floor the first to greet the visitor is the hall, and to the north is the men's smoking room, 15x30; east of this are the comfort rooms. The Tyler's room is just east of the landing and to the left of this is the "prep" room, containing stores and paraphernalia.

The main lodge room opens off the Tyler's room, and this is the largest unobstructed lodge-room in the county, having dimensions of 40 feet 4 inches by 63 feet and 6 inches.

The room is covered by a velvet carpet, grey in tone, an investment of perhaps around one thousand dollars. The lighting apparatus is the latest in electric control. The stations are of oak, brought from the former quarters and are massive.

On the next floor above is a dining room for ordinary use, capable of seating sixty people. This will be used by smaller parties, and a neat kitchenette is alongside. Lockers later will be built adjoining this room.

As a meeting place, exclusive, the building is perhaps the finest in the state, considering the size of the city and numerical strength of the lodge.

The building committee is entitled to congratulations—for the work has been completed without delay, except in receiving material when the cement supply was short late in the year.

The committee in charge of the sale of the old property and of the new structure consisted of E. L. Johnson, chairman, R. R. Easter, Chas. E. Wells, W. N. Harris and Glenn F. Bell.

The outer lines of the structure are worthy of note and present a handsome appearance. The roof is steep and is of guaranteed construction. Leonard and Lloyd Brown, local metal workers, covered the building. Situated as it is, with the Carnegie Library to the north, the court house to the west and the new Baptist church northwest, the new temple has a fine setting, and the Masonic fraternity has reason to be proud of the new lodge home.

LEGION HAS VISITOR

The American Legion Post Tuesday evening held a get-together meeting at Legion Hall, and State Adjutant Harry Nelson, of Portland, was the guest of honor. After the business session was concluded, Adjutant Nelson talked for fifteen minutes, telling of affairs in which the Legion is interested.

He was followed by Dr. Hyde, who spoke of the worth of the organization and what it means toward helping get justice for the boys who are physical sufferers from the world war.

Mr. Long, of the Argus, followed Dr. Hyde in a half hour of talk in which was stressed the necessity of organization by veterans of the war which had meant so much for our citizens and the need of patriotic instruction at all times.

A report on the membership drive was read and A. H. Morgan, who captained one drive, will furnish a dinner to the winning side, which was in charge of Wilber Dillon.
