

TROUT SEASON WILL OPEN SUNDAY, APRIL 15

Must Not Catch Under Six Inches in Length
20 FISH; 20 LBS.; ONE DAY
Not More Than 60 Fish or 40 Lbs. in Any Seven Consecutive Days

The open season for catching trout six inches and over in length begins next Sunday, April 15, and the local anglers are now brightening up their spinners and spoons and getting their tackle ready for the onslaught. The season will remain open until November 30.

Fishermen should be advised as to closed streams, as the state commission can at will close the waters of any river or creek on thirty short notice and violations will be prosecuted.

License to angle will cost three human dollars, and the hunting license costs a like amount. The state, however, will give you a bargain sale of both licenses at $3.00.

A county angler's license will be issued to persons between 14 and 18 years of age, holder to fish streams in the county where a resident only, for $1.50.

Civil War veterans, or pioneers who became residents of Oregon prior to 1860 can on application receive a license to fish free of charge.

The state regulation on fishing west of the Cascades is:

Trout over six inches—April 15 to November 30. Bag limit, 20 fish or 20 pounds in any one day, and 60 fish or 40 pounds in any seven consecutive days. Unlawful to have in possession more than 60 fish or 40 pounds at any time. Open season for trout over 10 inches in waters of Pacific ocean and in all bays, inlets and streams affected by the tidal wave during the months of December, January, February, March and April of each year.

Carp, catfish, perch and muskies—Open season all year. Bag limit, 30 fish or 20 pounds in one day.

Bass—June 15 to April 15 of following year. Bag limit, 30 fish or 20 pounds in one day, and 90 fish or 40 pounds in seven consecutive days.

GROUCHINESS CAUSED BY EYESTRAIN

If you are nervous, feel out of sorts, have headache, or grouch—the chances are you are suffering from eyestrain. The words, when reading, will sometimes blur or run together, a dull headache often comes on or after reading or sewing or doing any kind of close work. Eyestrain will cause many reflex symptoms which you would not think were caused by it. If you have the least doubt of it, consult a specialist on these troubles.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR MR. CHERRY MAGGOT

State Entomologist Lovett Writes of Valley Pest

SMALL EXPENSE CAN AVERT Timely Spraying Will Mean Much to Growers

To the Argus—There has been an unusually large number of inquiries as regards the cherry fruit maggot.

I am enclosing a short circular by the State Entomologist on this question. If you have room in the columns of your paper, I believe your readers would appreciate it. Yours very truly,
O. T. McWhorter, Co. Agt.

The Cherry Fruit Maggot
(A. L. Lovett, Entomologist)

Description—Small white maggot, cylindrical, blunt behind and tapering to a point at the head end, found feeding inside the cherries.

Adult insect is a small yellowish gray to black bodied fly, the wings crossed by smoky bands.

Life History—Winters as small brown capsules like puparia (pupae) 1/2 to 2 inches below surface of soil about trees. Adult flies appear in orchards about time medium late varieties of cherry begin to show color. Date of emergence will vary with the season, but will approximate June 5 to 20. They are present about trees for three weeks. About first ten days after emergence they fly about on leaves, tapping up particles of dew, before eggs are laid. Eggs placed under skin of developing fruit of cherry, usually about time it begins to show color. Eggs hatch in 3-7 days; maggots feed on flesh of cherry; mature in 2-3 weeks, leave fruit and enter soil where they transform to puparia and so remain till following spring.

The injury inflicted cherries generally escape detection until fruit is mature. Soon after picking, or where ripe fruit remains on tree for a short time, the side of the affected cherry turns brown and shrivels and small holes appear in the skin. Late Duke and Lambert cherries are most seriously infested. Where seedling trees occur in or adjacent to the orchard they usually afford a breeding place for the flies. Earlier white meated varieties are probably more generally infested than is commonly supposed. All maggots are yet small at picking time and in the white pulp escape detection.

Control—The use of a sweetened poison spray as a bait for the adult flies is the standard control practice. It will require about two hours to treat ten acres. The formula for the poison bait spray is:
Lead Arsenate, 1/2 pound; brown sugar, 2 1/2 pounds. (or syrup 2 quarts;) water, 8 gallons.

Three applications should be given. "The first spray should be applied when the first adult flies appear. (One should endeavor to learn to recognize this fly.) This date will be about June 5-15. A second application should be given ten days after the first and a third one week later.

Important—In applying the spray use no more material on the tree than is necessary to afford a bait. About one pint to one quart of solution is enough per tree. Heavy applications do no more good in worm control and may burn the foliage. Apply the spray as fine droplets to the upper surface of the outer leaves. The foliage of adjacent trees and shrubs should also be sprayed.

Growers of cherries should preserve this for future use.

SERMON BY H. S. BOYS

CORNELIUS LOSES AN ESTIMABLE WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Montgomery Passed Away Last of the Week

HAD POST OFFICE 20 YEARS

Came to Oregon in 1877; Resident of County Ever Since

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Montgomery, well known at Cornelius, died Friday, April 6, 1923, after an extended illness. Her maiden name was Sarah Blackwood, and she was born in Kentucky, December 9, 1847. When an infant her parents moved to Missouri, and she proudly claimed the old state by adoption. She grew to womanhood in Missouri, and on March 26, 1868, was united in marriage to Francis Montgomery, who passed away Nov. 23, 1880.

They moved to Oregon in 1877 and first settled at Mountindale, later going to Cornelius, where for over twenty years Mrs. Montgomery officiated as postmistress.

The funeral was held in the Cornelius M. E. church Sunday, Rev. J. W. Warrell officiating. Interment was in the Cornelius cemetery. The many floral tributes were testimonials to the high esteem in which she was held in the community.

She is survived by the following children:

Mrs. Drusilla Crance, Cornelius; Mark Montgomery, agent for the Southern Pacific Co., at Medford, Ore.; Mrs. Muesetta Cornett, of White Salmon, Wash.; and Mrs. Myrtle Barrett, of Cornelius. Eight grandchildren are living and of her immediate family, she is survived by four sisters and one brother, residing in the East.

At the age of twelve year she was united with the Christian church and has always retained her membership in that faith. For many years she has been a great reader of the bible and during her last illness passages from the scriptures and prayer were frequent.

In her death Cornelius suffers a distinct loss, and so well and favorably was she known that the entire community looks upon her passing as a personal bereavement.
