

DIVERSIFIED FARMING IS NECESSITY

Says J. C. Buchanan, Who Has Tried Hops and Fruits for Years WAS PIONEER HOP RAISER

Prohibition Put Hops on Blink—Then Tried Loganberry Culture

John Buchanan, of Forest Grove, certainly practices what he preaches—diversified farming. J. C. was one of the pioneer hop growers of the county and his forty-acre yard was a great producer. His industry prospered for a number of years and then came the set to between prohibition and J. B. Corn, and Mr. Buchanan went out of the hop business. He then pioneered loganberries, and put out a 40-acre yard. This industry hummed along a few years on high gear, and then came the after-war era of low prices, and Mr. Buchanan concluded it was wise to think of something else. So he added dairying to his ranch, and this held up the loganberry deficit while that product was in the dumps. He still retains his logan berry and says it isn't so bad—but could be better. The fact that logan berries, when opened, start to ferment, got some buyers into trouble, and the canning of juices has had a backset, so that the berry's chief asset is canning. He admits, however, that the small loganberry grower has the better of it on cultivation, for a day or so will tend a small yard, while a big yard must have teams the year around, and they must be fed during the winter. J. C. has put out ten acres of raspberries and next season will pick his first harvest. He has nursery stock enough to put out 20 acres more and will extend his planting from year to year.

G. R. NOTES

A very enjoyable week-end was spent by the Girl Reserves recently at Meacham. The chaperones for the 20 girls were Miss Ellinghouson, Miss Weathered and Mrs. Ellinghouson. The girls certainly appreciate the kindness of Helen Connell, who made it possible for the trip. The Hilbi G. Rs. sang at the Beaverton service May 20. Mildred Smith and Helen Satter were initiated at the meeting held at the school May 22. Besides the two delegates the club is sending to Conference this summer, two other girls will go who will pay their own expenses. A very delightful tea was held Friday afternoon, May 25, at the home of Dolores Hare, the senior and the eighth grade G. Rs. being guests. Gifts were presented to the four graduates—Theresa Corriero, Tonia Konigin, Elva Horneck and Esther Northrup. Miss Ellinghouson was also presented with a gift by the girls, to express their intense appreciation of the great interest and faithful work she has given to the club. A number of songs were sung by the Polly Anna quartette.—Cor.

ROAD LEVY CAUSE OF INJUNCTION SUIT

Road District No. 16, Gales Creek, Has Case in Circuit Court

DISPUTE AS TO THE ROCK

C. M. Harthorn Says Voted One Place—Putting in Another

An injunction suit involving the expenditure of $1200 of a special road tax fund in District No. 16, Gales Creek, has been filed in circuit court by plaintiff, C. M. Harthorn. Harthorn alleges he has 320 acres of land above Gales Creek and that the voters at the special road meeting last November voted to place $1200 of the money voted on the Clearwater road, from the Forest Grove water works intake to the Gales Creek road. He also alleges that the road foreman J. V. Heider, should be directed by the court to place the work on that particular section of the road as above designated. Harthorn alleges that the report to the county court is not in consonance with the action of the road meeting.

The district levied ten mills and the $1200 is only a fraction of the assessment. Harthorn alleges that the money should be spent where designated—and it begins to look as though it will be a question of evidence as to whether the report sets forth the action of the meeting correctly. As it is a matter of importance that work be done soon it is quite likely that the matter will be at issue in short order.

Gales Creek has pioneered in rock roads ahead of all other sections in the county.

MRS. J. B. DINSMORE

Mrs. Dorothea Dinsmore, wife of Dr. J. B. Dinsmore, died in this city Saturday, June 2, 1923, after an illness of nearly four months. She was born at Detroit, Michigan, October 30, 1858; the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stoppelman, now residents of Seattle.

She is survived by her husband, practicing physician of this city, and veteran of the world war, returning from France with the rank of captain. Her children are two sons, James Frederick and John Robert, and a daughter by adoption, Dorothea Jane. Besides her parents she leaves her immediate family four brothers and a sister—Edw. J. and Carl A. Stoppelman, Seattle, Wash.; Ernest A. Stoppelman, Portland; Frederick H. Stoppelman, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Mrs. Pauline Kalbach, Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Dinsmore prior to marriage was a professional nurse. She was a member of the Eastern Star, under whose auspices the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, from the Bell chapel. She was also a member of the Congregational church, and Rev. H. A. Deck, pastor of that church, preached the last rites.

Mrs. Dinsmore was universally esteemed, and a host of friends regret her untimely demise. The stricken family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends here and at Orengo, where they have resided for a number of years.

CHILD KILLED BY AUTO

The other day in New York, a child was killed, being run over by an auto. The driver declared he did not see the child. The judge ordered an examination of the driver's eyes and it was found he could not see ten feet in front of him. Then the eyes of the twelve jurymen were examined, and only three of them could see clearly twenty feet in front of them.

More than eleven thousand people were killed by autos in the U. S. last year—half of them because the drivers did not see them in time. Before you kill someone, better have your eyes carefully examined. For better vision see Dr. Luzader, at Anderson's Jewelry Store, Hillsboro, on Saturdays. 14-15

COUNTY LEAGUE

Last Sunday's county league baseball results: At Reedville, 5, Forest Grove, 0; at Beaverton, 3, Gaston 16; at Tualatin, 5, Tigard, 6. Reedville's pitcher, Tyler, pitched a no-hit game, and Reedville's infield pulled a triple play. Tigard and Tualatin played a 12-inning game. Next Sunday's games—Tigard at Reedville; Beaverton at Forest Grove; Tualatin at Gaston.

Two divorce cases—Aleta Garza sues John Garza for divorce, alleging their marriage at Wallace, Idaho, in 1915. She swears that the husband will go days at a time without speaking to her, and refuses to let her visit her parents. Once when she asked to go home, or expressed a desire to do so, he told her to go and stay. She says he ridiculed her family to her and accuses her unjustly of extravagance. She wants the custody of the two minor children and $35 monthly alimony for their support, and asks that the husband pay $25 court costs and $100 for attorney fees. Mina Alloway sues C. F. Alloway for separation papers. They were married in 1895. She says that she has a confectionery at Forest Grove and that the husband comes in and makes it unpleasant for all concerned, herself and children. She wants her freedom, saying he is "cross and crabbed, sore and sour, peevish and pugnacious," all without cause. She asks for the custody of a minor child.

When in need of a monument marker, or posts, or cemetery work of any nature, whether purchased by yourself or through the Woodmen or any lodge, it will be to your interest to consult Lewis & Co., as they will give you a better value for your money than anywhere else—in fact they can save you considerable on any purchase. 21-tf

The Civil Service Commission invites special attention to the fact that in an examination held recently in Portland, Oregon, and other cities throughout the United States, for apprentice fish culturist, Bureau of Fisheries, Department of Commerce, applicants were not secured in the number desired, and that this examination will be held again on June 20. Persons interested in this or other examinations should apply to the Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board at the Hillsboro post office for detailed information and application blanks.

The yearly examination of eyes that are apparently functioning perfectly is simply sense. Eyes that are being built up should be examined more frequently than that. Have Dr. Thompson give your eyes a thorough examination next visit, Wednesday, June 13, Washington Hotel, until 4 p. m.

L. G. Freeman made a trip to Tillamook last week and on his return home had an auto accident. His machine skidded on the hill this side of Sheridan, and left the highway before he could right his wheel, crashed into a telephone, cut it off at the ground, turned a somersault and rendered the driver unconscious. The top and fenders of the car were demolished, but no wheels were broken. Mr. Freeman came out of his trance in about five minutes and inside of an hour had a McMinnville tow bringing him toward Hillsboro.

For Sale—Strawberries in the field. Pick them yourself and furnish container, take them for wholesale price minus cost of picking and container.—J. A. Hobbs, Cornelius, R. 1. Place is mile east of Cornelius on highway. 13-15

D. E. Hughes, of Yamhill county, asks the circuit court to make an order whereby there shall be a reversion of deeds passed by Hughes and wife to A. E. Westcott, of a farm in Yamhill, and of some city property at Eugene. The transfers were made through a trade and Hughes claims that a realty agent misrepresented the Eugene property, saying it was worth $7500 when as a matter of fact, according to Hughes' allegation, it is worth only around $3000. He wants the entire thing cancelled and a decree for his court costs.

Just Arrived—Big assortment of enamel ware, pure white; also gray. Just what you need for canning season. Come in and look them over. All reasonably priced.—Handy Variety Store, Main St., near Third. 13-15

WARM WAVE HITS COUNTRY—ELECTRIC STORM

Thunder and Lightning for an Hour Wednesday Morning

MERCURY HITS 87 MARK

Air Cooled Off Yesterday When Counter Currents Met

The warm wave so much wanted by Oregonians hit the valley, beginning Sunday afternoon, and there was rejoicing in "Israel." Old Boreas fled to his northern citadel and stayed there. By Monday afternoon mercury hit the 83 mark, and on Tuesday it registered 87. Growers of small fruits—particularly strawberries and cherries—welcomed the turn of weather, but feared that too much of it would ripen the berries too rapidly, and they sent in a hurry-up call to the weather man to moderate. The bureau responded late Tuesday evening, when a slight electric storm hit the Willamette Valley. This barely cooled the atmosphere, however, and with the advent of Wednesday morning it commenced to look like another "cooker." Before 10 o'clock, however, Old Doc Cook's dominion sent down a high upper current of wind and this met an east wind in flank movement with the result that an hour of electric display was filmed on the curtain of heaven.

Oregonians by birth didn't like it. There was too much noise, although but little rainfall. The natives were nervous as a rule, but oldtime Nebraskans and Mississippi Valley people who were in old days lulled to sleep by the thunder-god just smiled and looked cheerful. There was no considerable rainfall, but the cooling of the temperature retarded the ripening process. When this article went to the form no damage had been reported by the electrical disturbance.
