LORNE KNIGHT DEAD IN ARCTIC REGION

Young Explorer Perishes From Attack of Scurvy, June 20, 1923
WAS BORN IN HILLSBORO

First Saw Light of Day in 1895, at Sixth and Washington Streets

Lorne Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Knight, now of McMinnville, died on Wrangell Island, Siberia, in the Arctic, June 20, 1923. Knight was a member of the Allan Crawford expedition which went to the Polar region in 1921, their objective being Wrangell Island. Knight had been on the island a few years prior to 1921, and the party with whom he went consisted of Allan Crawford, of Toronto, Canada; Frederick Masner, of New Philadelphia, O.; Milton Gall, of Branflet, Texas, and Ada Black-jack, an Eskimo woman, who was with the explorers as cook and nurse.

When Harold Noyce, head of the relief expedition, reached Wrangell Island, he found only the woman left of the party which had dared the rigors of the north. She said that Crawford, Masner and Gall had gone away from the island last winter in an attempt to reach the mainland, and had not been seen since their departure. As they have not reached Nome, or the Siberian mainland, the supposition is the men perished. The Eskimo woman said that young Knight died June 20, of this year, and he was left in his "sleeping bag." The woman built herself a cabin some distance from the body of Knight, and when found by Noyce, had started on her last package of expedition bread.

Lorne Knight was born in Hillsboro, at Sixth and Washington streets, in 1895, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Knight. The house in which he was born is now owned by Calvin Jack, cashier of the Shute Savings Bank, and occupied by Roadmaster Henderson, of the Southern Pacific R. R. He moved to Seattle with his parents when a small boy, and they later took up their residence in Hillsboro.

When he arrived at manhood he was much taken with the stories of exploration of the Arctic, and the lure of travel made him a member of the first Stefansson party. Returning from the north he visited some months with the family and then started south, arriving on the island in the summer of 1921, the Silver Lake, the boat on which they sailed, arriving back at Nome in September of that year. The father of Knight had for months felt that the party had perished.

Wrangell Island is 500 miles west of the northernmost tip of Alaska. Noyce, who brought the body of Knight to Nome, left that point on August 3, 1923, and made the round trip in 27 days, returning to his port of embarkation August 30.

Lorne Knight was an exemplary young man. He was a grandson of Rev. Joseph Hoberg, pioneer Methodist Episcopal minister, and in charge of the Hillsboro church away back in pioneer days.

The body will be brought to Oregon for interment.

BANKS STOCK SHOW SEPTEMBER 18-19-20

President S. C. Inkley States Exhibit of Stock Will be Large

TO ECLIPSE FORMER SHOW

Registered Royalty of Cattle and Hogs in Show Ring

S. C. Inkley, president of the Banks Hog and Dairy Show, was in town Tuesday and announces that the dates of the big affair are September 18, 19 and 20. The promoters of the fair report that the entries of registered cattle and hogs exceed that of any previous season, and the show in many respects will be as classy as the livestock exhibit at the state fair.

The majority exhibits at the show come from within a radius of six miles around Banks, and it is doubtful if any community of like sizes in the state could turn out a better array of registered and pedigreed livestock.

The management has arranged to take care of a big crowd and a big barbecue will be a feature on the opening day—Sept. 18.

Arrangements have been made to have entertainment and amusements every evening, and visitors can inspect the stock evenings as well as by daylight.

There will be no livestock sales this season, and the time of the directors will be given to entertainment of those who patronize the institution. Mr. Inkley gives a special invitation to Hillsboro and Forest Grove people, as well as to all sections of the county, to come to Banks and see what breeders can show them in the way of animal husbandry.

The Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Washington county will contribute their showings to the fair—and some fine exhibits are expected from that quarter.

ALEXANDEROFF — KONIGIN

The home of Ivan Konigin, southeast of Hillsboro, was the scene of a happy home wedding, when the daughter, Grunia, was united in marriage to Mr. Alexander Alexanderoff, of Portland. The double ring ceremony was conducted by Rev. M. A. Marcy and witnessed by Tunia Konigin as bridesmaid and M. Sehen as best man. Only the immediate family and Mr. and Mrs. Sehen were present.

Mrs. Alexanderoff is well known in and about Hillsboro, where she received some of her schooling and where she has been working as dressmaker.

Mr. Alexanderoff has been employed as chef in one of the large hotels in Portland, for several years. Their future residence will be in the Rose City.

"MERRY-GO-ROUND"

Geo. Seigmann's "Merry-go-Round" will be at the Liberty Sunday, Monday and Tuesday—and in this screen the famous producer has given the world a fine perspective of the result of the world war on Austrian people and the result of the reduction to the ranks of old world nobility. Today in Austria the peasant is worth as much to society of the prince—and the prince no longer exists in fact.

The photoplay foils the aristocrat of olden days against the peasant and the result in a way clearly establishes the worth of the lower levels as compared with the "higher-ups."

Mary Philbin and Norman Kerry take the stellar roles—and they make a famous picture the more famous.

FAMILY REUNION

A family reunion was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Lucinda Mead, of north of Banks, Sunday, Sept. 2. Her four children and their families were present and the occasion was the more interesting because it was her birth anniversary. The outstanding feature was the fine dinner and the immense birthday cake, carrying the appropriate number of candles.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Mead and daughter, Maxine; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gregerson, of Battle Ground, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kelly and family; Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead and family, of the Banks country, and J. Peter Knudson, of Medford, and the hostess.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in our bereavement, the death and obsequies of our beloved son and brother, Fred Ritter, and we appreciate the beautiful floral offerings from the Swiss Association and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ritter and Family.

DATE PRUNE PICNIC AT ORENCO SATURDAY

Famous Coates 1418 Product Going Strong in Northwest

VISITORS DINE IN PARK

Inspect Nursery Holdings and Hear Some Fine Addresses

The Oregon Nursery Company held its second annual Date Prune picnic, in the park at Orenco, last Saturday, and a large crowd was in attendance. Four years ago the Nursery Company took over the rights of this celebrated fruit and today the company has an interest in 400 acres of orchard in Oregon, and have sold enough stock to plant several thousand acres. By February 1, 1923, they had exhausted their nursery stock for the year and were forced to wait until summer for orders for fall planting.

Mr. McDonald, president of the Nursery Co., saw the possibilities of the Date prune because of its wonderful percentage of sugar as compared to the tart prune. The east today is changing its demand from the tart prune to the sweet prune and this augurs well for the future of the fruit—for it is 50 per cent sweet. The fruit goes in two grades—being extra large—and screens 20-30 and 30-40.

There are 90 acres at the home place, and, besides the Oregon commercial orchards the nursery people are interested in a number at Payette, Idaho, and in the state of Washington.

Fruit growers and authorities were present from all parts of the state. Mayor Compe welcomed the visitors and President McDonald responded. Talks were made by J. M. Kidd, of Illinois; J. O. Holt, of Eugene; M. H. Harlow, president of the Eugene Fruit Growers; Albert Bromwell, of the Portland Nursery, and E. L. Moore, of the Hillsboro Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Orpha M. Gardner, for many years a resident of above Mountaineer, died Sept. 2, 1923, at her family home. She was the daughter of pioneer Samuel Markee and wife, and was born in Illinois, April 25, 1859. Her husband, Henry Gardner, died in 1906. She is survived by two sons, Oral Gardner and Page Gardner, both of whom live near Mountaineer.

The funeral was held at the Union church above Mountaineer, Sept. 4. Rev. Hornbrook officiating, and interment was in the North Tualatin Plains Presbyterian cemetery, Glenn F. Bell directing.

Mrs. Gardner had a host of friends in northern Washington who extend their sympathy to the bereaved sons. She was a woman of fine character, and excelled as a devoted mother and splendid neighbor.

EDWARD COXE

Edward Cox, the eighteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. B. Cox, of Orenco, Oregon, died at the Good Samaritan Hospital, August 31, 1923, after an operation for a ruptured appendix. He was born at Payette, Idaho, July 4, 1905, and a few years ago moved to Hillsboro with his parents for residence. Later they moved to Orenco, where the father has been conducting a hotel.

The young man had been operating a small printing plant at Orenco, and was preparing to study for the Baptist ministry. The young man graduated from the Hillsboro high school with the 1923 class, and was a general favorite with his classmates.

The funeral took place Sunday from the Baptist church, Rev. R. G. Kay officiating, and interment was in the Odd Fellows' cemetery, Glenn F. Bell directing.

WIPRUD—HARPER On Friday, August 31, Dr. Clarence Wiprud, of Portland, was united in marriage to Miss Alma Harper, at the Methodist parsonage. Two auto-loads were present to witness the ceremony and congratulate the newlyweds.

Mrs. Wiprud has lived in Oregon for several years, and was employed at the Swift & Co. plant in Portland at the time of her marriage. Mr. Wiprud is a graduate of the Northwest School of Dentistry and has been serving on the faculty of the school for some time. The future home of the couple will be in Independence, where Dr. Wiprud will practice dentistry.
