Some Livestock on Every Farm

Specialized grain and hay farming without livestock to consume the surplus is like raising livestock without growing any of the feeds which will reduce the cost of producing the animals. Either way puts the scale of profits out of balance and leaves the farmer to face the possibilities of loss on maybe his one and only class of production.

BENNETT THOMPSON MAY GET PAROLE

Convicted Slayer of Two People Looking for Relief

JUDGE IS OPPOSED TO THIS

District Attorney E. B. Tongue Says Chain of Evidence Complete

That a move is on foot to parole or pardon Bennett Thompson, convicted of murder of Mrs. Helen Jennings, below Tualatin, a few years ago, is evidenced by the fact that a parole officer was in town a few days ago and conferred with District Attorney Tongue on the subject. The district attorney told the official that he was opposed to either pardon or parole, and has written the parole board a lengthy letter setting forth the testimony. This letter was mailed yesterday.

Judge Bagley was not seen by the parole officer, as the court was out of town at the time of his visit. When seen yesterday morning Judge Bagley stated that as a rule he never advised for or against leniency, but in this case he would voice his protest. Both the court and district attorney say that they have never heard a case wherein the chain of evidence was so convincing. Each says that not a link was missing, and each says that Thompson violated a parole when he killed Fred Reist, the chauffeur who took him to the Jennings' place, and the woman, Mrs. Jennings.

It appears that some time ago, when there was a fire at the penitentiary, Thompson did good work in playing a fire hose, and this seems to have excited some sympathy for him.

The case will be watched with interest by all Washington county people, and by many in Portland, who knew Thompson and his record.

ABOUT ADVERTISING

E. L. Pranger & Co., of the Willard Battery service, tell the following about the man who did not believe in advertising—and this is the story. The man on the train said:

"I don't read advertisements. They have no effect on me at all. I'd never miss them if they stopped printing 'em."

Then he glanced at his advertised watch and sought his lower berth.

Now I want to prove to you that this man did believe in advertising, but didn't know it.

In the morning this ad-skeptic contorted himself out of his advertised pajamas into his advertised underwear, drew on his advertised socks, adjusted them with his advertised garters, got into his advertised suit, laced his advertised shoes and added himself to the congestion in the wash-room.

There he shaved with an advertised razor, using advertised shaving soap; brushed his teeth with an advertised toothbrush and advertised dental cream, washed with advertised soap, and brushed his hair with an advertised brush. Fastening his advertised collar on an advertised button, he neatly knotted his advertised tie, gave his advertised suspenders a tug or two, and finished dressing.

Let us leave him there, this man who never reads advertisements.

H. H. S. DEFEATS GRESHAM

Hillsboro high school won the second football game of the season by defeating Gresham Union high school on the local field, last Friday, by a score of 7 to 0.

Hillsboro made consistent yardage, but lost several good gains from penalties for offside and holding. Gresham threatened Hillsboro's goal in the fourth quarter, but the local boys had the fight to hold them for four downs with goal to make. For Hillsboro, Jack and Lester Glascock starred on defense, and Bowman, Frost and Batchelor played good offensive ball.

The fine fighting spirit the boys have shown in the last two games by holding for downs in the shadow of their own goal posts, gives promise of another successful season.

The Rooters' club, a new organization in the school, introduced a novelty into the assembly last Monday, called sensible clothes day. For the boys white shirts and collars were taboo, and they were advised to dress as plainly as possible. Among the fair co-eds, silk stockings, powder, rouge, or any frivolous manner of dress was strictly barred. The day was a success, overalls and gingham dresses being the fashion of the hour.

O. N. Mullikin of Forest Grove was in the city Saturday in the interests of the new Washington county band, of which he is the leader. Musicians from every part of the county are expected to become members and it is hoped that a band that will be a credit to the community will result. CHAMBER CELEBRATES CLEARANCE OF DEBT

Ed. L. Moore Hired as Secretary-Manager for Year

URGE HANDLING OF JUICE

Support National Educational Week and Create Interest

"The most representative group of men to ever attend a chamber of commerce meeting here," declared one of the members at the celebration Thursday night for making the final payment on the old indebtedness of the Hillsboro club. This leaves the chamber free from debt and in good financial condition, with the largest membership it has ever had.

The hiring of Ed. L. Moore as secretary-manager of the chamber for another year by the trustees, was endorsed by the chamber.

That a considerable amount of money has been raised to carry on the publicity work of the chamber for next year was announced by the committee in charge of raising the funds. Since the report of L. T. McPheters and O. Phelps last Thursday, the ante is said to have been raised to nearly $2500 for the hire of the secretary-manager and creating a fund to carry on the work.

A complete outline of the activities and accomplishments of the chamber in the last nine months was given in a report by the secretary. Highlights of the report will appear elsewhere.

That efforts to secure capital for relieving the housing condition in Hillsboro should be made, was the opinion of Dr. L. W. Hyde, who gave a short talk on chamber of commerce work.

Senator W. G. Hare traced the early history of the club and compared it with the value of the present organization with a paid secretary-manager. That a plan to handle loganberry juice that cannot be handled by the chamber should be provided to relieve the berry situation, according to the senator.

John Gottlieb was elected to a non-resident membership of the chamber. The program consisted of music by Bert Shipley, Dr. Rossman and Kenneth Linklater, and character reading by Len B. Fishback.

Rev. J. C. Austin, of Linfield college at McMinnville, spoke in behalf of the campaign for the Baptist church. M. B. Signs, superintendent of schools, spoke on national education week and urged the co-operation of all in creating more interest in education for this week—Oct. 15-20.

Nearly all of the local industries will have exhibits at the corn and potato show, October 26-27. The Oreoc nursery has promised to have an exhibit, as well as many of the other big concerns.

The Pacific International livestock exposition has furnished the local chamber with a booklet on livestock and the name of the Hillsboro chamber was placed on the cover by the livestock people. The booklets are being distributed to farmers interested in that line of work.

COUNTY COURT

The county commissioners' court reports that in all likelihood the Dairy Creek viaduct on the highway will be ready for travel by October 25. If at that time the weather is not too bad the detour will be used for a few days, but if rains continue then travel will be diverted to the bridge and fill.

Clerk Kurath had a banner month for September, the fines and fees totalling $2194.36. Recorder Davis received $366.60 as fees in his office.

P. E. Lewis was appointed justice of the peace for Tigard vice J. R. Rankin, resigned.
