The Reason for a New Car

The success of the Star Car in its first year—the production and sale of 125,000 cars—phenomenal as it appears to the outsider, surpassing as it does the record for first year sales of any other car ever produced, yet did not satisfy its builder.

Mechanically, even Durant could find no flaw, could suggest no improvement on his first design. But, in planning the second year's output, he determined to add to the beauty and refinement of the Star Car, and to produce perfect harmony between chassis and body excellence.

This is the reason behind the New 1924 Star Car.

This insatiable desire for perfection of all that is given to the world in Durant's name has led to changes in Star Car body design, taking the form of long and curving stream lines, new and vastly more beautiful radiator and hood, better springs and heavier padding in the upholstery, overlapping doors with curtains opening as one with doors, spark and gas control at wheel, dashlight and nickel trim to instruments mounted on curved dashboard.
