Mrs. Mock of Portland will explain an "Old Age Pension Bill," to be introduced at the next legislative assembly. A speaker from the state federation will talk on the "Honor Score Card System." These addresses will be interspersed with readings and musical numbers by several local people. The members of the chamber of commerce and Rotary club are especially invited to attend the afternoon meeting.

The Johnson school now boasts a new piano. This was accomplished through the efforts of the South Tualatin Civic club, who raised the purchase price by giving various entertainments. Behrman and Mrs. Roberg, teacher of the school, will entertain the club February 3 at the home of Mrs. Behrman.

National Officer to Speak Here Soon

It is announced by the Washington County Christian Endeavor Union that Rev. Ira Landrith, D. D., LLD, of Chicago, the international extension secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, will speak in this union during February.

The meeting will be held on February 6 at the Forest Grove Congregational church.

Dr. Landrith is one of the foremost orators in the country and a known master of the American platform. He was former president of Ward-Belmont college, and toured the United States in 1916, with the late Governor J. Frank Hanly as the prohibition candidate for vice-president.

The local Christian Endeavor leaders are making active preparations to make this one of the largest meetings ever held in the City of Forest Grove. Every society is urged to have its church people and friends turn out en masse.

DYE OR BE KILLED!

That was the slogan of the Paramount company, while on location near Huston, Texas, filming the western sequence for Richard Dix's starring vehicle, "Womanhandled." In the production more than five thousand long-horn cattle are used in a tremendous stampede scene with Richard Dix, Esther Ralston and Margaret Morris. Texas long-horns, it seems, have an intense hatred for anything white and it is risking one's life to appear on location dressed in that color.

Because many members of the company came to the location with nothing but white wearing apparel and were required to dye their clothes another color the unit adopted the above slogan.

"Womanhandled," which is from Arthur Stringer's Saturday Evening Post story of the same name, was directed for Paramount by Gregory L. Cava, the man responsible for the thrilling racing scenes in "The Lucky Devil."

"Womanhandled" plays at the Venetian Friday and Saturday, this week.

The captain for next year has not yet been elected.

ART SAYS

The Oak Street Horseshoe club has been wondering why there was no report of the last series of games played a week ago last Sunday at Albert Spiering's court. The only legitimate reason I can see is that the reporter, being a member of the South Hillsboro club, could see nothing of great importance about the game to warrant a report, unless the Oaks wanted the world to know that they were able, after three months of hard struggling, to win a series, and that by only 18 points, off the South Hillsboro boys.

Before the spring tournament opens I am going to get in communication with Judge Landis in regard to the corrupt practice that is being invariably practiced by our opponents. About two or three hours before the games someone shows up with a case of new-rightous or new-money or some other new ailment and wants to put in a sub that has been sitting up nights practicing and if that seems to be a failure to them they try and bribe the score-keeper. It is inconceivable that horseshoe pitchers should stoop this low, but I presume they form the habit from picking up their shoes.
