

OREGON NURSERY IS COMMUNITY BENEFIT

Receiver Haid Wants Aid in Keeping Industry Here

WAS LUNCHEON SPEAKER

What Oreno Concern Means to Washington County - Shown by Speaker

"It would be a pity to have such an industry as the Oregon Nursery company destroyed," declared Herbert Haid, receiver of the company, in an address before the forum luncheon of the chamber of commerce. He outlined what the company had meant to the surrounding community and the business of the county and urged the best minds of the county to find some means of keeping such a big concern going.

R. R. Easter, president of the chamber, was luncheon chairman and Senator William G. Hare introduced Mr. Haid. In introducing Mr. Haid, Senator Hare said that the chamber of commerce put forth efforts to bring industries here and he believed they should do something to keep what we have here.

Anything that effects the county or any of its industries directly effects every business man, stated Mr. Haid. "Unless moral support is given by the community, liquidation will be necessary. Out of respect for the community and realizing what such a great concern means to a community I volunteered to talk to you business men who are vitally interested."

Mr. Haid said that when he first knew of the Oregon Nursery company

Kruse Is Winner in Tuesday's Smoker

Piling of Pendleton to Meet Kruse in Legion Smoker Friday, April 9th

"Bob" Kruse of Tigard showed superiority Tuesday night in the American Legion wrestling smoker by taking two falls from Fred Mortenson of Hood River in a return go. He pinned Mortenson to the mat both times with a step-over toe hold that made the Hood River bonecrusher come to tife.

A good crowd was in attendance and Legionnaire A. W. Hoffman, who is in charge of the cards, announced some good events for April that should swell the attendance materially. The Vagabond orchestra donated their music for the evening and the members of the post appreciated their services.

Harry Kuehne of Newberg mastered his opponent, Sailor Pete, of Spokane within fifteen minutes time in the preliminary. Kuehne is among the topnotchers at his weight and gives the fans some real entertainment.

Mortenson's two children, Leo, aged 10, and Clara Marie, aged 8, pronounced by Farmer Burns to be the two most famous wrestling kids at their age in the world, put on another preliminary feature.

Mortenson asked for attention after he had lost the second fall and had the following to say concerning Kruse, "Watch that boy a year from now. He will be the light heavyweight champion of the world."

Piling of Pendleton, one of the best light heavyweight bonecrushers in the state, will meet Kruse here Friday, April 9, in the next American Legion mat event, according to an announcement made this morning by Manager Hoffman. There will also be a half-hour preliminary.

SEEK FUNDS TO HELP UNFORTUNATE GIRLS

Washington County Is Asked to Do its Share

GIRLS FROM HERE HELPED

Need for Help in the Fight Against Social Evil Is Stressed by Worker

A campaign is being conducted in Washington county as part of a state-wide movement launched last week by the Pacific Protective society for $60,000 to complete its new Juvenile hospital for girls being erected on the Louise Home property near Troutdale. It is meeting with success in every corner of the state, according to the campaign manager.

All interested

Every county is vitally interested because some of their own girls are inmates. The cost of maintenance for each girl is $32 a month and the state pays $16 a month for each girl. Washington county sent 16 girls and three babies to the institution in two years and have paid in $450. This makes their obligation about $2300. Multnomah county has been bearing the brunt of expense and paying part of Washington county's share.

A group of women representing various women's organizations in the county went to the home yesterday to see the kind of work that is

Cooking School to Open Next Tuesday

Afternoon at 2:30

All is set for the opening on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, in the Donelson building, for the Argus Cooking School. This will be the first of four demonstrations to be given by Rose Bartlett, expert of the Portland Gas & Coke company, on economic. Mrs. Bartlett will discuss the following at the first class: Swedish tea rings, pastry for pie crust, cry baby rolls, butterscotch filling, meringue and apricot soufflé.

Mrs. Bartlett says, "If you cannot make good pie crusts, now is the time to learn. There is a reason for soggy pie crust and it will be easily demonstrated how to overcome it. I will also dwell on how to use the left-over pastry." Pies are now recognized as the great American desert and according to first class restaurants, patrons will complain about poor pies quicker than anything that is served on the menu.

An attractive recipe booklet will be given to all in attendance. Also two cakes will be given daily as door prizes.

A modern Smoothtop gas range equipped with an overhead control and high speed burner, will be provided for the instructor's use. An elevated platform will also be installed so that all in attendance may view the demonstration. However, those who come first will be given the choice seat.

Mrs. Bartlett has just completed very successful schools in Vancouver, Gresham, Oregon City and St. Johns, Portland, where the attendance has been as high as two hundred and seventy-five persons for a single class.

The Argus is very glad to cooperate with the housewives of Hillsboro in functioning a school of this nature and we feel fortunate in being able to again secure Mrs. Bartlett, who made so many friends when she was here last year. Now don't forget the time and place—Donelson building, 1225 Third street, at 2:30, Tuesday.

PLAN SPECIAL SERVICES FOR EASTER

All Churches of City Plan an Appropriate Program

SPECIAL MUSIC FEATURE

"Resurrection" Is Sermon Subject in Morning Services at Local Churches

Congregational Church [Fifth and Main Sts.] (Lowell Allison Young, minister)

The Easter service next Sunday will begin promptly at 10:25 a. m. To make as beautiful a service as is possible, we ask that all attending will make it a point to be in the pews before the hour.

The most vital period in the Christian church followed the first Easter, and in an effort to come nearer to His church, the next six weeks should find everyone most earnest in seeking inspiration and service in His name.

Sunday evening at 7:30 the young people meet to develop their new work, and Wednesday afternoon at four the choir of youth rehearses.

First Baptist Church (S. McMinis, pastor)

Bible school, 9:45, special Easter exercises by the children; morning worship, 11 a. m., sermon theme—"The Easter Christ," baptism at the close of sermon; basket dinner at 1 o'clock; afternoon service, 2:30, sermon topic—"How Are Dead Raised Up?"

Frank Parent, circulation manager of the Baptist Spokesman, will give a short address. It is our wish that our people will be present, and bring well filled baskets, so as to remain for the afternoon service. Special Easter music at all services. We extend a cordial invitation to these meetings Easter Sunday.

Christian Science Society

Sunday school at 10 a. m.; morning service at 11:00, subject—"Unity;" Wednesday evening service at 8:00.

Free Methodist Church (George G. Edwards, pastor)

Prayer meeting Wednesday, 7:30; Sunday school 10 a. m.; preaching, 11 a. m.; class meeting, 7 p. m.; preaching, 7:45 p. m.

Rev. A. Youngman will preach morning and evening. He is a returned missionary from Japan and has charge of Japanese work of the coast in the Free Methodist church. Can you not hear him? The Sunday school will give their Easter program at Sunday school hour. Mrs. Sigler, the superintendent, has

Large Crowd Sees Miller Style Show

Latest Creations for Every Occasion Shown on Local Girls Last Night

The Miller Mercantile company style show last night was well received by the largest crowd that ever attended one of Miller's style shows in Hillsboro. The big store was packed to capacity and standing way out in the entrance.

The models, local girls, were charming in the latest creations in coats, frocks, hats, shoes and hosiery for every occasion. The models were the Misses Marguerite Davis, Phyllis Phelps, Aletha Gabie and Valina Goodin. The style show was supervised by Manager Ed Jones and Miss Barbara Riessen of the women's department. Company officials were here from Portland and were well pleased with the way the style event went over.

The high school girls' orchestra played during the show.

April 20 Is Last Day to Register

Republicans Outnumber Democrats More Than Three to One in County

Tuesday, April 20, is the last day to register and those who have not already done so should register by that time if they want to vote in the spring primaries without going through a lot of red tape.

Crook county is boasting of having more democrats than republicans but such is surely not the case in Washington county, where the ratio is more than three republicans to every democrat, according to a report from the secretary of state. Republicans registered up to January 1 were 6,658, while the democrats numbered 2,193, the progressives, 17, prohibitionists, 122, socialists, 79, and miscellaneous, 471.

G. W. Boynton of Timber was in the county seat on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Bryant Is Honored

Made Life Member in National Educational Association

Mrs. Emma Bryant, county school superintendent, has been made a life member of the National Educational association. Professor H. S. Tuttle of Pacific university is the only other one in this county to receive this honor because of an essay on peace, printed in Colliers recently.

A letter from J. W. Crabtree at Washington, D. C., reads: "You are honored by an invitation from the executive committee and board of trustees to become a life member of the association. You are invited because competent authority in the state picked you as one whose work is outstanding. The fine gold life membership pin will be presented to you immediately upon your acceptance."

TAXPAYERS' LEAGUE NAMES CANDIDATES

Committee of Eleven in Session Here in the Grange Hall on Last Saturday

Legislative candidates were selected by the committee of 11 from the taxpayers' league in session in the Grange hall here Saturday. The selection of candidates was made after the committee had surveyed the situation in the various sections they represented.

Name Three

Charles LaFollette of Cornelius, who had already announced his candidacy for the lower house, was one of the men favored by the league. Arthur Knox of Gaston was also named and William Schulmerich, chairman of the Pomona Grange legislative committee, was the other candidate named. Schulmerich is a student of political affairs and has always taken an active part in politics.

The league is for the income tax bill filed by the Grange and the Farmers' Union and is seeking equal distribution of assessments. They also favor putting the county prisoners to work.

Washington county's representatives in the lower house at the last session were L. M. Graham of Forest Grove, L. M. Hesse of Scholls and George S. Hail of Sherwood.

Want Own Candidates

This is the first time the Grange has taken an active part in political affairs and it is their intention to select their own candidates in order to be sure that the agricultural mind is well represented in office.

Trout Season Will Open in Two Weeks

Deputy Game Warden Calls Attention to Closing of Streams Close By

Attention to sections of the Oregon fishing laws as effects sportsmen in Washington county is called in a letter to the Argus from V. F. McFarland, deputy game warden.

The open season for trout over six inches opens two weeks from tomorrow, April 15, and last until October 31. Woman Is Arrested on Polygamy Charge

Refuses to Reveal Her Maiden Name Through Fear of Disgracing Family

Mrs. Linna Madsen, who was arrested on a polygamy charge in Portland Saturday, steadfastly refuses to reveal her maiden name because she does not want to bring disgrace on her family. She is also known as Mrs. Linna Galbreath and Mrs. Nina Harthorn.

Mrs. Madsen was placed in the county hospital because of lack of accommodations for a woman at the county jail. She occupies a padded cell.

According to her story, she has but one husband, to whom she was married under the name of Knute Mattson here in February. She asserts that Galbreath, her first husband, died, and that she has the death certificate. The name of Nina Harthorn, she said, she assumed while she was corresponding with Madsen, whom she met through a matrimonial agency.

She claims that Madsen married her under an assumed name and she discovered the fact when she found his true name on sales slips and on receipts issued by a Vancouver lodge.

Mrs. Madsen said she and Madsen had never lived in Washington county, though married here. They made their home in Vancouver.

The prisoner declared her intention today of bringing charges of violating the Mann act against Madsen. She left him in Vancouver when he brought another woman to their home and threatened his wife with a revolver.

She said that Vancouver officials refused to prosecute him on her complaint of threatening to kill.

Charles Hickethier Tells of Days as Prisoner of Confederate Army

(Edward C. Robbins)

Although military records of the Civil war show that I was 18 at the date of enlistment, in reality I was only 15," said Charles Hickethier of Cedar Mills in an interview there recently. Despite his four years of continuous service during the Civil war he was never struck by an enemy bullet. Among his interesting experiences was a period spent as a prisoner of war with the Confederate armies. For more than a half century he has farmed at Cedar Mills.

Hickethier was born December 2, 1845, in Saxony, Germany. In March, 1865, he landed at New York City. His father's family moved to Dubuque, Iowa, where the father worked in harvest fields for a number of years. "Before I reached the age of 12 I was driving four yoke of oxen on the breaking plow," he said.

October, 1861, was the date of his enlistment. On the following month he was sworn into Company K of the 12th Iowa infantry of volunteers at Benton Barracks, St. Louis. "Shortly after the oath was taken the 7th Iowa infantry of volunteers came into the barracks," he continued. "My, how jealous we were of them because they had been in battle and our regiment hadn't. We were certainly in for action."

"Finally orders came. We embarked on river boats. Down the Mississippi and up the Ohio river we steamed. We finally reached Smiths-Kentucky. Then they sent us to Tennessee to Fort Henry. The boats were in action there."

Then came a 12-mile forced march to Fort Donaldson, where a picket duty the first night. My, but it was cold. Both rain and snow were experienced in the course of the night. Every single blanket was soaked. Here is where I encountered my first series of hardships. During those three days we saw attack after attack, snow and rain after snow and rain.

"Finally we reached Pittsburgh Landing, where we took part in the battle of Shiloh. Our regiment surrendered. After seven different attacks had been made on us the Confederates successfully got into our rear and surrounded our regiment. Colonel Woods, our commander, was wounded. In an attempt to outflank them we ran into their left wing. Firing certainly was heavy. Several of the boys tried to stand up during the heavy firing, but they were immediately shot to the ground. Being taken prisoners we chose the latter."

"Our first night of imprisonment was spent in a corn field. Not a single one of our group had any blankets. And so far as I know none of us had anything except our clothing. Everything else had been taken away from us. My, but how it did rain that night. We tried to make shelter by covering ourselves with cornstalks, but next morning we were all buried in mud and water."

"The Confederates then began to move us from one end of their territory to the next. At Corinth we stayed in box cars. While encamped in a warehouse at Memphis, Tenn., I managed to pick up an old gunny sack. I carried it with me until we were exchanged, later using it for a blanket, etc. Some of the boys blocked the road to Portland. Mud

Annual Meeting of Sportsmen Tomorrow

The annual meeting of the Washington County Rod and Gun club will be held in the Hillsboro chamber of commerce rooms tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. R. B. Denney, secretary, urges the attendance of every member.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers, have the reports of committees and other important business.

City Council Will Meet Tuesday Night

The time for hearing remonstrances on paving of Oak, Third and Ninth streets is at the city council session next Tuesday night. Petitions are out for the macadamizing of Maple from First to Third and Third from Maple to the railroad.

Anything that is delinquent at the time of the council meeting will also be advertised for sale. The city authorities are anxious to have these matters straightened up.

The city books are being audited by Max Crandall.

Hillsboro to Have a Community Band

A band will be organized in Hillsboro and O. N. Mullikin will be the director. The chamber of commerce will support the band, according to a unanimous vote at the Monday luncheon to back the board of directors in their decision.

Everyone who is interested is urged to attend a meeting at the chamber of commerce rooms Monday at 8 o'clock p. m. The plan is to have concerts on the court house lawn during the spring and summer.

County Federation, April 8

The County Federation of Women's clubs will meet at Cornelius on Thursday, April 8, instead of April 9 as announced on another page, the date being changed because of the regular Coffee club meeting to be held on that date.

James Brandaw, War Veteran, Dies Monday

James Brandaw, veteran of the World war, died of tuberculosis in a government hospital at Prescott, Arizona, Monday night, according to word received here by relatives.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brandaw, who went to Arizona last week when their son's condition became dangerous.

The funeral will be held from the Christian church Sunday at 2 p. m. and his comrades of the American Legion will give him military honors. The Odd Fellows will also have a part in the service. Both the American Legion and Odd Fellows are expected to turn out in a body.

Dan Cupid is laying down on the job for there have been no marriage licenses issued by Clerk Ed Luce since March 18.

Eastern Star Sponsors Benefit Tea

The Social club of the Eastern Star will sponsor a silver tea at the Masonic temple Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, the proceeds to go toward building a children's unit at the Masonic home. There are now 18 children at the home and more coming.

The Past Matrons' club will serve, and Mrs. E. O. Crandall, the oldest past matron, and Mrs. R. L. Tucker, present matron, will preside at the tables.

A musical program will be the feature of the afternoon and will include numbers by Miss Dorothy Tongue on the violin, Miss Florence Taylor on the piano and Mrs. W. V. Small of Portland, vocal. There will also be several other numbers and the public is invited.

The Masonic hall, which was recently damaged by fire, will be completed this week.

Fight With Bumble Bee Causes Car to Turn Upside Down

It is sometimes more dangerous to fight a bumble bee that is in your car than to sit calmly by and let him do his worst. At least this is probably what Mrs. Verna Kavetski of Seattle, who sustained a severely wrenched neck in an automobile accident at Patton station late yesterday afternoon, thinks.

She was riding with D. C. Upp, with whom she was visiting in Portland, and Mr. Bumble Bee stepped in for a motor ride. In trying to get rid of the bee the driver lost control of the car and it turned upside down across a ditch.

Mrs. Kavetski was taken to the Via hospital at Forest Grove where the injuries were pronounced serious but not dangerous.

Moral—Better sit still, there are many things worse than a bee sting.
