Portland club was a much appreciated part of the program. The "Gold Dust Twins" from the Vancouver club entertained with comedy and song to the delight of all. A delightful solo number was the McMinville club's contribution.

The Hillsboro club defeated the Forest Grove athletes in a rough push ball contest that had many Hillsboro and Forest Grove business men sprawled over the floor a large part of the time. Many sore muscles and bruises was the result.

The auditorium was beautifully decorated with green fir trees encircling the hall, together with the regular pavilion decorations and other innovations. The decorations will be left up for the graduation exercises tomorrow night.

Committees responsible for the successful inter-city meeting are as follows:

Advertising—Mason Cady, chairman, Harry Hill, Frank Peters, Verne McKinney and M. H. Stevenson; feed—B. M. Goodman, chairman, Ed L. Moore, Roy Schulmerich, Lester Ireland and Len Fishback; program—Dr. J. H. Rossman, chairman, Glen Payne and Charles E. Wells; decoration and lighting—Ralph Easter, chairman, Glen Stapleton and Wes Boscow, and reception and accommodations—J. H. Garrett, chairman, Orange Phelps, George Chambers and Dr. Wiley. President Rex Parsons and Vice-President Harry Hill and the committee chairman make up the executive committee. Before dinner was served, boys and girls from the second grade of the public school gave a "Wooden Soldier" drill, under the direction of Mrs. Susanne Paine, teacher. Dorothy Steinke, and Keith Busch, as drummer boy, were the leaders.

MANY WOMEN TAKE IN ARGUS SCHOOL

lett picks up a spoon the music begins. Especially when she makes a noodle ring.

The second lesson, to be held today, is an absorbing one, dealing with delicacies that all husbands like to eat and most housewives hesitate to make for fear of failure.

Many of the husbands "unselfishly" are urging their wives to attend these demonstrations.

In speaking of the class for next Tuesday Mrs. Bartlett said: "If the housewife hesitates to fry oysters or croquettes in deep fat because of the care of the fat after frying, if she hesitates to brown them in a small quantity of fat in a frying pan or skillet because it is difficult to turn them or to fry them evenly, Tuesday's demonstration will show how to overcome all these troubles."

"No cooking class would be complete without an angel cake so we will have a Marble Angel Cake. Its mixing will cover the mixing of all types of sponge cake. Then we will have a real old fashioned German Potato Salad.

"A Lima Bean Loaf to break the monotony of meat dishes. A Gingerbread—one of my many prized recipes."

The final class of the cooking school will be held next Thursday afternoon. The program is to include such interesting things as: Poor Man's Turkey with stuffing, Baked Brown Bread, Baked Potatoes on the half shell, Cherry Salad with toasted cheese wafers, Indian Pudding, oven canning, using beets as a sample, rhubarb canning without processing.

This sounds like a big day and so it is. But Mrs. Bartlett let us in on the secret. Everything on the program—and more too—is going into the oven at 10:00 and Mrs. Bartlett isn't going to look at it until it is taken out to serve to you.

Valuable packages of food products are given away at each class and several baskets of choice food products as well as a 49-lb. sack of flour will be given away at the last class, so that it is suggested that the ladies come early to obtain a seat near the front as the largest class of the cooking school is expected. Classes begin promptly at 2:30 p. m.
