THE GRADUATES

Tomorrow night seventy-four splendid young men and women will receive their diplomas from the Hillsboro union high school. It is the largest graduating class in the history of the local school. They have done well so far in the course of their lives by advancing thus far on the educational ladder. The completion of the high school course is but a step, the next of which is college for the determined and the fortunate. Any young man or woman in the United States today with will, energy and courage may have a college education if they but set themselves to it. They may work their way through by obtaining positions in the college town, or they may take their education in degrees by working a little and then going to school for awhile.

The colleges and universities of the State of Oregon are well equipped to train the future leaders of various communities. Education is the preparation for life's battle, the better the preparation the greater our achievements. Education does not stop with the college sheepskin. A college education enables one to keep on educating themselves to cope with the ever increasing problems of the day. The man or woman who would keep abreast of the times in the business and social world must keep on seeking education, for "one is never too old to learn."

Captain Charles Lindbergh, American, is the hero of the hour on account of his successful non-stop flight from New York to Paris. The world is happy because of his victory and the spirit of this young man is such as to win the fancy of everyone and his victory is one of youth. The daring shown by this young man in making the trip alone is almost beyond belief. With little to eat and no sleep possible in the 33 1/2 hours of the flight, much of it over the great Atlantic and sure death if he should drop, he fought steadily on with determination and won out. Only those who have been in Paris at such a time as the Armistice in 1918 can realize what a tremendous welcome the youth received when he landed in the French capital.

The Argus received a copy of the Freshman edition of the Pacific University Index last week. The edition is an attractive eight-page paper, well made up and the news material is handled nicely.

New Dodge Six is to be Shown Soon

Dodge Brothers, Inc., has started production of its new six-cylinder line and output is now running at about 100 per day. This number will be increased rapidly and by the end of July daily output will approximate 300.

The first shipments to dealers were made May 11 and by the end of this month all of Dodge Brothers dealers will have been sampled. The company now has orders for the "sixes" sufficient to keep the immense new plant operating at 300 per day for several months.

The new line will be produced in three models, a four-door sedan, a four-passenger coupe and a new type of cabriolet roadster. Other models will be made later. It is expected that the new line will be introduced about June 1.

John Ireland Estate is Probated

The estate of John Ireland, former county commissioner who died last month at his home at Forest Grove, has been admitted to probate. It is valued at approximately $25,000, and Lester C. Ireland of Hillsboro has been appointed executor.

Mr. Ireland's heirs are Lester Ireland of Hillsboro, John V. of Long Beach, Calif., Arthur P. of Forest Grove and Beulah Belle Linnehan of Portland. The daughter of Mrs. Linnehan was also a beneficiary in the will. The property is divided among the heirs in the will.

while drunk and of causing the death of J. F. Duffy.

Felix Rosch, Journal representative at Sherwood, was an eyewitness of the accident. Willis was taken to Sherwood and fined $35 by Justice of the Peace Haines for being drunk on the highway.

The accident occurred within a few feet of where a Salvation Army worker was killed in an automobile wreck a few weeks ago.

The Girl in the Mirror

Laurie regarded the slipper with approval. It was a beautiful slipper, on a charming foot. It so diverted his mind from the main issue of the conversation that he was in the elevator and half way down to the ground floor before he recalled that issue. He was not disturbed. Doris had enough to go on with; and certainly he himself had sufficient scope for thought in the revelations she had just made.

As he walked down the outer steps of the studio building and emerged on the sidewalk, a figure detached itself from the shadow of a low fence and stealthily followed him. It was a short figure, overcoated out of recognition. It carried its hands in its pockets, and its head was thrust forward in a peculiar way. It kept a dozen feet behind him, until he reached the pretentious entrance of the apartment building where he dwelt.

As He Walked Down the Outer Steps of the Studio Building and Emerged on the Sidewalk a Figure Detached Itself From the Shadows.

Here, in the glaring light of two huge electric globes, conveniently held aloft for him by a pair of bronze warriors, Laurie turned suddenly, warned by the inner sense that tells us we are watched. The figure behind ducked modestly into the background, but not until he had recognized the round face and projecting eyes of Herbert Ransome Shaw.

Laurie checked a passionate impulse to hurl himself upon the lurking and unpleasant shape. Slowly but surely he was learning self-control. Martin, the elevator operator, and Griggs, the night hall man, were already bidding him good evening and regarding him with friendly and interested eyes. To see him suddenly fall upon and beat a shabby stranger would surprise and pain them, besides unpleasantly strutting up the neighborhood. A better opportunity would present itself, or could be made.

In the meantime, however, he must convey to Herbert Ransome Shaw some idea of the utter contempt in which he held him. Talking Griggs confidentially by the arm, Laurie pointed out the skulking shadow.

"See that?" he asked in ringing tones.

Griggs was a Goliath in proportions and deliberate in his movements. He took his time to discover the object young Devon indicated. In the shadow the object stirred restlessly.

"Tessie," Griggs then said, uncertainly. "It's—it's a man, sir."

"Is it?" asked Laurie with interest, and still in loud, clear tones. "I'm afraid you're mistaken. But whatever it is, step on it!"

He entered the elevator after this crisp instruction, and was wafted up to his rooms. The hall man moved hesitatingly down the building's three steps to the sidewalk. One never knew exactly what young Devon was getting at. Still, if he really wanted Griggs to step on anything—

Griggs stopped. A slight sensation of disappointment swept over him. He was a conscientious man who desired to do his duty. But there was absolutely nothing for him to step on, except the snow-covered and otherwise inoffensive pavement.

Don't Forget to Buy a Poppy This Week

Don't forget to buy and wear a poppy on Memorial and Decoration day in honor of those who died in the service.

The Auxiliary to the American Legion will conduct a poppy sale this week, and poppies will be on sale Friday, Saturday and perhaps Sunday. These poppies are made by disabled war veterans and every cent collected on the sale goes to the boys to make them more comfortable and happy. The poppies sell for 10 cents each, and the Auxiliary is asking everyone to wear one in reverence for our soldier dead.

The poppies will be sold at the Venetian theatre several evenings the last of the week, and a short program will be given for the occasion. Miss Eunice Grimsgard will recite "In Flanders Field," and Mrs. V. W. Gardner will sing an appropriate selection on Saturday night.

Mrs. Elmer Wohler, Mrs. Charles Jones and Mrs. H. E. Sushauer are the committee in charge of the sale, and will probably arrange to have poppies left in some of the stores and the Argus office.

The message of the American Legion Auxiliary poppy is as follows:

Buy Me—I stand for service. I enable one cent to be earned by a disheartened service man in the hospital who needed it, and all you pay for me goes for service for those for whom the war is not yet over. Buy Me.

Wear Me—I represent the sacrificial blood of the men who fell in Flanders Field. I am a Memorial to all who died in service. In reverence and understanding, Wear Me.

ROBERT JOHNSON

Robert Johnson, 79, died at his home north of Beaverton Saturday. He is survived by the widow and the following children: Mrs. Christina Hofvander of Portland, John N. P., and Henry at home. Funeral services were held in Portland. Interment was in the Riverview cemetery.

food commissioner; Mr. Woodward of Albany, president of the State Jersey association.

William Schultz released pigeons bearing messages from the American Jersey Club to the Oregon Jersey club.

The grand prize, a silver loving cup, given by Aaron Frank, went to Mrs. Hazel Lilly-Brady. This was given for the best mature cow. Professor Brandt gave the palm to a rugged little cow of Island type.

After the judging Mr. Dodson of the Portland chamber of commerce spoke. Mr. Dodson paid compliments to the natural resources of the Willamette valley, but added with vigor that people were yet asleep to their possibilities. Oregon does not go ahead as the other Pacific Coast states—Oregon lags—but if the people of Oregon, the merchants, farmers, bankers, and manufacturers get together and work for a common end, Oregon will take her right place as a producing unit, in the opinion of Mr. Dodson. The problems of farming, if solved at all, must be solved by the farmer. It has been solved elsewhere, in California for example in the handling of the citrus fruits, the answer to the question "what is wrong with the farm situation" is lack of co-operation.

D. G. Lilly, president of the Washington County Jersey Breeders association stated that it is the plan of the club to have a spring show every year, holding it in the various sections of the county.

Premiums were given by Miller Frank & Co., Albers Bros. Milling Co., Archer-Brewer-Gordon Co., Inc., Monroe & Crisell, Clark Commission Co., Kovinek Laboratories, Jersey Milk Co., of Portland; Farmers Feed and Supply Co., E. F. Burlingham, F. & D. Hardware, Loomis-Moline Co., Forest Grove National Bank, First National Bank of Forest Grove.

The following exhibited: Charles Bamford, James Bamford, Clyde Robertson, Thomas Williams, Leon Sills, Mrs. Hazel Lilly-Brady, Warner Crop, Harold Waldron and D. G. Lilly. Professor Brandt placed the ribbons as follows: Bull, 3 years old and over—1st Leon Sills, 2nd Thomas Williams, 3rd D. G. Lilly; bull year old and under 2—1st Thomas Williams, 2nd Charles Bamford; bull under 1 year—1st D. G. Lilly, 2nd Leon Sills; bull under 6 months—1st and 2nd Thomas Williams, 3rd Harold Waldron; cow, mature—1st Mrs. Hazel Lilly-Brady, 2nd Thomas Williams, 3rd Clyde Robertson; cow 2 years old but under 3—1st Warner Crop, 2nd and 3rd Harold Waldron; cow or heifer 18 months and under 2 years—1st and 3rd Thomas Williams, 2nd Clyde Robertson; heifer 12 months and under 18 months—1st Thomas Williams, 2nd Clyde Robertson, 3rd Charles Bamford; heifer under 1 year—1st Thomas Williams, 2nd Warner Crop, 3rd Clyde Robertson; heifer under 6 months—1st and 2nd, Thomas Williams, 3rd Harold Waldron; get of sire—1st and 3rd Thomas Williams, 2nd Harold Waldron; get of dam—1st and 3rd Clyde Robertson; grand champion cow, all classes—Mrs. Lilly-Brady; grand champion sire—Leon T.
