New Oakland Model Is Attracting Attention

During the past week a record attendance was noted at the display of the new "All American Six" models at the salesrooms of the Hartwick Motor Co., according to Mr. Hartwick, manager of the local Oakland-Pontiac dealers, who predicts record sales activity on all the Oakland "All American Six" models during the coming months.

No new model yet displayed among the 1928 offerings reveals changes more complete than does the latest Oakland. The new car has a longer wheel-base, now 117 inches, a new and more powerful motor, a new chassis, seven new bodies by Fisher, new Duco colors, and a host of advanced engineering features, making it one of the most interesting and talked-about cars of the current season. Feminine motorists will find the improvements in body designs in the "All American Six" just as fascinating as the mechanically-minded motorists will the many chassis advancements.

Neighborhood Drug Store

Did it ever occur to you what your drug store means to you? What would you do without it? It would undoubtedly mean a loss to you. Your druggist is at your service twenty-four hours a day. Although the drug store is only open from twelve to sixteen hours, you can easily call your druggist by telephone at any hour of the night.

A drug store is not only a place to buy drugs, but a place where you can buy stamps, use the telephone, ask road directions, leave your packages while doing the rest of your shopping—in fact, your drug store does a thriving business in everything, as well as take the necessary money to enable it to continue in business.

You can get your wants delivered at once without extra cost. You have a chance to use your credit, which is no small item.

It is worth more to you to patronize your neighborhood drug store, with all these privileges, than to buy in Portland. Think it over, neighbor, and you will without question come to the conclusion that it will pay you to trade at home and patronize your home town drug store.
