Reiter Praised By Council for City Condition

Cleaning Up Old Liens Is the Manager's Urge

NAME TEWS FIRE CHIEF

Charter Amendment for Light- ing Ironed Out; Officers Make Reports

The business condition of the city was outlined in a detailed report to the council Tuesday night by City Manager C. G. Reiter. Members of the council commended Mr. Reiter on the comprehensive report and the condition of city affairs.

Meets Approval
"Hillsboro has completed its third year under the council-manager form of government," said Mr. Reiter in his report. "I believe that in the main, the conduct of the city's business meets the approval of the majority of our citizens. There is still room for advancement and improvement. Higher standards make greater demands and greater demands increase costs of the administration of any business."

The city manager pointed out that the total county tax levy for Hillsboro for 1928 is an increase over 1927 by 5.7 mills, of which only 0.3 of a mill is for city administration. Mr. Reiter recommended the cleaning up of old liens through specific instructions from the council and, if necessary, go to the courts when other methods fail. Outstanding interest on liens amounts to $3,270.

Cut Interest Charges
Two general obligation bond issues have been sold. This is not an increased debt, but warrants and bonds have been refunded at a lower rate of interest. The $30,000 issue has permitted the city management to get accounts in proper shape, with credits and debits where they belong.

The report shows that the park fund ended with a deficit of $562.33 for 1927, which includes the payment of fire insurance premiums to 1930.

Mr. Reiter reported that steps had been taken to have fire hydrants installed in the Garden Tracts and in the vicinity of the park. He pointed out the need for a portable pump for fires in the country.

Help on the concrete highway through the city should be forthcoming from the state highway commission.

Street Widening Need
"I believe a charter amendment to permit of lighting, will be a step in the right direction," said Mr. Reiter in his report. "Widening of Main street between Second and Third would work in with this improvement. While we are on that, there is no reason why the Southern Pacific should not make a single track down the center of the block and repave with bitulithic, eliminating the black alleys through the business blocks are more important to the future than is realized."

"It is almost impossible for Hillsboro to plan far into the future along some lines. We could, however, look to the macadamizing of outlying streets where the property would not stand hard surface paving; the improvement of Shute park and the eye-sore we have in the old ball park; the improvement to a certain extent of vacant lots; the laying out and construction of a playground; the future sewer system; set back lines and zoning; planting the proper variety of trees along our streets in the residence districts; possible taking over of the water system or the construction of a new one, and the remodeling of our present city hall or the construction of a new one. These and

Bond Issue Is Victor In The Vote Tuesday

Building Program Approved By 452 to 71

MUST BALLOT ON SITE

Number of Hillsboro Locations Are Offered to Union High Board

The $175,000 bond issue for the building program of union district three was carried by the overwhelming vote of 452 to 71 in the special election at the high school building Tuesday from 2 to 7 p. m. Three votes were thrown out.

Meet Monday
The union high school board will meet Monday with the architect, F. Marion Stokes, to discuss the sums to be used for building and equipment.

Decision on a site will be made soon by the board, so that construction may be started in time to have the structure ready for occupancy by the time school opens this fall. A number of locations have been offered, but it is necessary for the board to make a recommendation and the choice of the board then comes up to a vote of the district. This means another election within a few weeks.

School Problem Luncheon Topic

Board of Directors Will Re- port on Program for Year Next Monday

Experiences of the union high school district at Milwaukie were outlined in a talk at the forum luncheon of the Hillsboro chamber of commerce Monday noon by Fred W. Roblin, director of the district. The talk was educational in preparation for the bond election for the building program of the local union district, on Tuesday.

Mr. Roblin said that after their experiences at Milwaukie that he would advise as large a bond issue as possible to provide a building that would take care of the future. He says a lot of expense and problems occur that are not counted on. Mrs. C. E. Wells of the district seven board urged a large vote at the election.

Rex Parsons of Orenco, member of the union board, acted as chairman of the luncheon.

Charles Walker on the piano and "Whoopie" Bill Walker on the violin entertained with old-time music.

A members' forum will be held next Monday noon and the board will report on its program for the year.

Lecture Interests Hillsboro People

Constant replacement of the human factor by machinery in many of the time-honored spheres of work should cause gratification, it was pointed out Tuesday night by C. M. Ripley of the General Electric company, Schneckdett, New York, who spoke at the high school. He gave an illustrated lecture, "The Romance of Power."

Mr. Ripley told what electricity and gas had done for the country, how comforts had been increased and millions of jobs had been created. A higher standard of living is being brought about by this increase and a higher standard of dignity is being obtained by labor.

His discussion of power and its direct result on life and living conditions was prefaced by an account of his airplane travels in Europe.

The visit of Mr. Ripley was made possible through the co-operation of the Portland Gas & Coke company and the Portland Electric Power company with the chamber of commerce sponsoring.

Hen Might Go In For Tight Rope Walking! Mebbe!

"Ur-ur-ur!"
This wouldn't get to first base as an imitation for a chicken, but nevertheless it was uttered by two youths when they saw a most unusual sight on Main street Sunday afternoon. The outburst frightened a Rhode Island Red hen, which had borrowed a ride from Beedville on the fender of the A. M. Janssen car, and some difficulty was experienced in catching this aristocrat of poultry land. The hen had stuck to its wintry perch in spite of the fact that the car was going near the speed limit the most of the time.

Cady, in discussing the needs of 1928, said that Hillsboro not only needed an improved street lighting system in the business section, but that additional lighting should be provided for the residential section. The mayor is of the opinion that the proposed charter amendment change to allow sidewalk improvement districts and bonding would result in a general improvement throughout the city. He also stressed the necessity for additional fire hydrants in the residential section.

Jake Weil of Weil's department store believes that the biggest thing Hillsboro can do the coming year is to co-operate more with the farmer, and do more for him.

J. W. Kelley of the Washington hotel thinks a public rest room in the downtown district is the greatest need.

Conference Tilt Is Won by Hilhi

Newberg Quintets Beaten in Doubleheaders; Play Mac Hi Here Tuesday

Hillsboro union high school made it four straight victories Friday night at the local gymnasium, when they outplayed Newberg high and won both games of a doubleheader. The boys won, 37 to 19, and the girls 37 to 25.

The boys won their first conference game after a hard fought struggle in which they showed a burst of speed in the final quarter to make the victory decisive. Newberg held the lead but once and lost it a minute later after the blue and white boys shot baskets. Coach Goodman's boys displayed a fast game of ball, scoring baskets from almost impossible angles and looked like a championship contender. Wayne Emmott was again the leading scorer, garnering 17 points, followed by John Hare with 12.

Hilhi will play McMinnville high school here Tuesday.

The girls had an equally hard game and it was only after a spirited rally in the second half, when they made 21 points, that they were able to come out on the long end of the score. Evelyn Sewell and Clara Ruff played like a veteran combination. Considering the fact that Miss Homedew had but one veteran player, Margaret Rood, back from last year, she has developed a fast team, which is one of the best in the league.

Hilhi—Emmott (17), f; Rae, f; C. Blazer, f; Reynolds, f; Hare (12), c; Thwaite (4), c; McLean (2), g; Johnson, g; D. Blazer, g; L. Brown (2), g.
